'SNAIL'S PACE'

Tax Cut Future Dim This Year, Sen. Long Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chances for enactment this year of President Kennedy's $11-billion tax cut appeared even slimmer Saturday in the light of the snail's pace at which the first week of Senate hearings moved.

Sen. Russell B. Long, of Louisiana, No. 2 Democrat on the Finance Committee, had this comment on the opening four days of testimony:

OUNCE OF EFFORTS

"Let's not kid ourselves. Not even an ounce of effort has been shown so far to move this bill this year."

Long told a reporter he found the questioning of the first and only witness heard last week, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, "very long and redundant."

Sen. Goerge A. Smathers of Florida, No. 3 Democrat on the committee and also a supporter of the bill, said in an interview the first week had been very slow but that he was hopeful the pace could be speeded up drastically.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., an all-out foe of the bill, found the opening sessions enlightening and said many more are needed.

"The actual contents of this bill are now being examined, contrary to the debate in the House," he said. "The more the bill is looked at in detail, the less enthusiasm there is for it even among its supporters."

The committee fell well behind its original schedule during the first week. It had planned to hear Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and Budget Director Kermit Gordon in addition to Dillon.

But the questioning of Dillon ran so long that both had to be delayed until later, although both filed testimony.

Dirksen Sees Senate Cut In Aid Budget

Administration Expects Struggle For $4 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Republican leader predicted Saturday that floor action will reduce the $4.2 billion for foreign aid approved Friday by the Foreign Relations Committee. And the Democratic leader did not contradict him.

It seems certain that the administration will be forced to struggle hard to keep the authorization close to $4 billion, in contrast to the $4.5 billion originally asked by President Kennedy.

SENATE TEMPERS

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the GOP chief from Illinois, said in an interview that "the temper of the members of the Senate" convinces him the committee total "will undergo reductions on the floor." He would not forecast the extent of the reductions.

The committee action, taken by voice vote, restored about $700 million of the billion-dollar cut made by the House.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, the majority leader from Montana, refused in a separate interview to predict the outcome of the debate starting Oct. 28 but conceded "I anticipate a fight to reduce" the authorization total.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, assistant majority leader, opened the fight for the measure in a statement in which he said it would be "foolish for Congress to cripple the foreign aid program at a time when the Soviet Union is in economic trouble."

'Chief' Slams Into Freight; 37 Are Hurt

WILLOW SPRINGS, Ill. (AP) — The Santa Fe Chief, crack passenger train, bound for California, slammed into a freight train north of Willow Springs on Saturday.

Thirty-seven passengers and crew members were injured as five diesel units and five mail and passenger cars left the track but remained upright. Five cars of the 100-car freight also were derailed.

A dozen or more ambulances from surrounding communities took the injured to hospitals where all but four were treated and released. Robert Breeze, 60, of Fort Madison, Iowa, engineer of the passenger train, and three women passengers were hospitalized for further treatment.

The crash, 25 miles west of Chicago, occurred as the long eastbound freight, using the same tracks as the Chief, was pulling onto a siding to let the passenger train pass.

Witnesses said the 17-car passenger train, moving slowly, nosed into the freight just behind the locomotive with a shattering impact that hurled passengers from their seats.

The accident occurred shortly after the train left Chicago for Los Angeles with 271 passengers aboard. Railroad officials said it appeared a mix-up of signals was responsible for the crash.

The injured were taken to hospitals in LaGrange, Evergreen Park and Oak Lawn.

A railroad spokesman said most of the injured returned to the train after receiving first aid treatment. The spokesman said the train was to resume its trip west with other diesel locomotives.

Barry Says King Makers Losing Touch

Believes GOP In East Unable To Halt 'Boom'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., is convinced Republican king makers have lost their touch and will have little influence on the choice of a 1964 presidential nominee.

This is by way of saying that Goldwater and his friends do not believe there will be any successful stop-Goldwater combination in the contest for a nomination he isn't yet on record as seeking.

In view of Goldwater's associates, the power of the Eastern financial big wigs who have been successful in putting across their choice of a nominee since 1940 has been diffused.

NEW GENERATION

They discount the effectiveness of such men as former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, former Atty. Gen. Hubert Brownell, former National Chairman Leonard W. Hall and others as brain trusters for any would-be kingmakers.

Quite simply, they say, a whole new generation of Republicans has come into power since these men wielded heavy influence within the party organization.

The Goldwater people are counting on support from young state chairmen, who were in knee pants when Dewey was running twice for president, but have had personal contacts with Goldwater in his ceaseless stumping of the country in the last few years.

Student Killed In Car Mishap At Farmerville

Young Roan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Galvin Roan of Farmerville, was driving alone after carrying home a schoolmate, A. Y. Green.

He lost control of the car on a curve on the Marion Road in the city limits and crashed into a telephone pole. The impact threw him from the auto which overturned, crushing him.

The youth was taken to Norris-Booth Clinic, but was dead on arrival.

The accident occurred at 12:30 a.m. Saturday following the Farmerville - Caldwell Parish High School football game at Columbia.

Funeral services will be held 3 p.m. today at Farmerville First Baptist Church with Dr. L. B. Hall officiating.

Burial will be in Taylor Cemetery near Farmerville under direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home. The body will lie in state at the funeral home until 2 p.m.

Education Bills Lost In Thicket

WASHINGTON (AP) — Major education bills in Congress are in danger of becoming hopelessly lost in a thicket of conflicting interests.

Four important measures now have been passed by either the House or the Senate, but all are beset with problems that make the road to final passage long and difficult.

The bills would provide substantial federal aid to expand vocational education, build college facilities, increase student loan funds, and help public school districts affected by federal activities.

Soviet Visit To Berlin Raises Fears

BERLIN (UPI) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's flying visit to Eastern Berlin stirred fears Saturday that the Russians were plotting a tougher policy aimed at ending Western Allied rights in this isolated city.

Gromyko, en route home from the United States where he conferred with President Kennedy, flew here Friday for talks with East German Communist party boss Walter Ulbricht.

JOLTS WEST

The Soviet foreign minister jolted Western observers by remarking during a stopover in Scotland that talks on lessening East-West tensions were making no progress and "could not be worse."

Diplomatic sources, uneasy and mystified, said Gromyko's remarks indicated something had gone wrong in the precarious East-West cold war thaw.

Concern that a new Communist hard line was being worked out on the Berlin issue mounted Saturday as Gromyko left East Berlin on the last leg of his trip to Moscow.

The official East German news agency ADN said that Gromyko and Ulbricht discussed "problems of disarmament, the conclusion of a German peace treaty and the regulation of the West Berlin question."

UNIQUE TRIPLE PLAY

Second Satellite Shot Into Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The second of two nuclear detection satellites was maneuvered into station high above the earth Saturday to complete a unique space triple play in one of the United States' most skillfully executed satellite launchings.

A ground station in New Hampshire beamed a radio signal to ignite a small motor aboard the sentry satellite. The firing jockeyed the craft out of an elliptical path ranging from 230 to about 60,000 miles high and placed it on a more circular course where both high and low points were around 60,000 miles.

COMPANION SATELLITE

A motor aboard a companion satellite was fired Thursday to inject it into a similar high-flying orbit reaching from about 60,000 to 72,000 miles.

A third satellite, launched on the same rocket which roared away from Cape Canaveral on Wednesday night, continued in a wide-swinging path to study the Van Allen radiation belt. This satellite is a 4½-pound midget which rode along as a hitchhiker.

Project officials had aimed to place the two sentry satellites into near-perfect 57,000-mile-high circular orbits. However, they said the higher paths would not affect the satellites' ability to scan outer space for signs of a sneak nuclear blast.

Move Would Cut Spending On Military

CHICAGO (UPI) — Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric said Saturday night the time has come to reduce American forces overseas and cut heavy U. S. military spending abroad.

In a major policy speech at the annual conference of United Press International Editors and Publishers, Gilpatric said national defense was entering a "new phase" when shifts could be made in overseas deployments without impairing military strength or support for global allies.

GRADUAL CUTS

He implied that there would be gradual reductions in Army support and Air Force tactical units abroad, emphasizing that modern jet troops transports and combat planes could rush swiftly from America to any trouble spots.

Gilpatric also told the editors and publishers at their banquet concluding the two-day conference that the upward spiral in defense spending was at an end.

During the Kennedy administration, military budget has risen 25 percent, to a current annual rate of $51 billion.

After the big expansion in strategic nuclear weapons, conventional war forces and guerrilla warfare units of the past

Armored Airlift Gets Underway With Vanguard

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The U.S. armed forces flew a housekeeping staff into Europe all the way from Texas Saturday night to set the stage for the biggest armored airlift in military history.

Four hundred and fifty officers and men flashed in seven big C135 jet planes across the Atlantic into Western Europe, the vanguard of an air bridge designed to prove that the United States can throw its Sunday punch anywhere in the world with the speed of a rapier. Six of the C135s came to Germany, the seventh went to the Toul base in France.

Beginning Tuesday, a fleet of planes will fly the 14,500-man 2nd Armored Division to Rhine-Main, Sembach and Ramstein air bases in Germany. A 1,500-man air strike task force will be dropped into French bases at Etain, Phalsbourg and Chaumont.

The mission is to link up the division to tanks, guns and other equipment on soil of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Germany and France. The aim is to deploy the force in three days, equip it completely for combat in six days and then engage the 2nd Armored against the 3rd Armored, based here, in field training exercises.

The first phase of the $20-million effort brought all smiles to U.S. forces. The lead plane, bearing the 2nd Armored's assistant commander, Brig. Gen. Keith L. Ware, roared in almost dead on schedule after a 10-hour journey from Bergstrom Air Force Base in Texas.

Forests Blaze; Hunters Urged To Use Caution

At least half a dozen small forest fires blazed Saturday in Ouachita and four surrounding parishes, as an unseasonal drought continues to make area woods a tinderbox. A District Five official of the Louisiana Forestry Commission called for extreme caution with matches and other flammables on the part of hunters.

"Our woods and forests are as dry as powder now and the potential for major damaging fires is there," said District Supervisor Lonnie B. White.

"The least little spark will start one," he noted. "We haven't had too many hunter fires since squirrel season opened, but I want to urge the most extreme caution on the part of hunters and everyone in the woods."

All hunting in East Carroll Parish was ordered halted by the parish police jury Saturday because of danger of fire caused by extreme drought conditions.

Among the larger blazes reported Saturday were losses of approximately four acres each near Bawcomville and near the Cypress community, White said.

Nearly 200 acres burned last week near the Swartz community, resulting in the loss of approximately 115 acres of forestland and a 76-acre plantation.

RESEARCH AT LSU

Peanuts May Help Control Hemophilia

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The versatile peanut is again under scrunity, this time in hopes that certain ingredients may prove helpful in controlling hemophilia, a blood disorder popularly known as free bleeding.

A key figure in research with peanuts is Dr. H. Bruce Boudreaux, a professor of zoology at LSU, and himself afflicted with hemophilia. Six years ago Dr. Boudreaux discovered that eating peanuts alleviated his own condition and launched an intensive research program towards a better understanding of the ingredient that curtails bleeding.

Dr. Boudreaux conducts experiments on hamsters in his campus laboratory. He is assisted by Dr. Vernon L. Frampton of the Southern Research Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in New Orleans.

Dr. Frampton extracts the key ingredient from peanuts, a tedious process that takes 50 pounds of peanuts to yield only one ounce of extract.

Worldwide interest was aroused in the LSU professor's research three years ago when he published his preliminary results in a scientific journal. This prompted similar investigation in seven other countries and resulted in his findings being confirmed by Dr. S. van Creveld, an Amsterdam medical doctor.

Since including more peanuts and peanut flour in his diet, Dr. Boudreaux has found that he does not require nearly as many blood transfusions. Yet he still considers the possibility that the decrease could be due to some other unknown factor.

Dr. Boudreaux said he is not sure that the extract, or a drug similar to it, would be completely safe for human consumption, adding that a laboratory in Montreal, Canada, will be ready early next year for experimentation on hemophilliac dogs. If the peanut ingredient is found safe and effective with the dogs, clinical tests could follow with humans.

ITALIAN COCKNEY?

Italy Sets Date For 'My Fair Lady'

MILAN, Italy (AP) — "My Fair Lady," that happy blend of George Bernard Shaw and American musical comedy, is coming to Italy—in Italian.

When Delia Scali, in the Julie Andrews' role of Eliza Doolittle, sings about the rains in Spain, it will come out:

"In Spagna, s'e Bagnata la Campagna," that is, "In Spain, the countryside became wet."

The Italian production will be complete right down to the last Eliza Doolittle whine and to the lyrics and music that made the show the longest-running, most successful musical in New York theater history.

All parts will be done by Italians in Italian. Television idol Giancarlo Tedeschi will have the Prof. Higgins role that Rex Harrison made famous.

Lars Schmidt, Ingrid Bergman's husband, is producing the venture here and he's counting on success. But the production, scheduled to make its Italian debut in Milan Nov. 18, had some giant headaches with the language problem.

The big worry was how to convey the flavor of Cockney dialect in Italian.

They first tried Romanesco, the dialect of Rome, which is sharp and pungent to Italian ears. But somehow it didn't come off. So many people speak Romanesco it doesn't convey the unique ring of Cockney in the English language. So the show's planners settled for having Eliza afflicted with difficulties in pronouncing the Italian "gn" pronounced "nyuh", as in the word for the pasta dish "lasagne."

It may not be Cockney but it solved problems.

FBI Searching For Gang Head

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An arrest warrant charging interstate extortion was issued Saturday night for Angelo Bruno, 53, named by Justice Department authorities as head of the Philadelphia Cosa Nostra.

The FBI in Washington said the arrests were not directly connected with Senate hearings in which informer Joseph Valachi described Cosa Nostra's crime syndicate operations.

The FBI was searching for Bruno.

Five other men, including two from Bayonne, N.J., charged in complaints were taken into custody.

Two other men were taken into custody as material witnesses, including Philip Testa, identified as one of Bruno's top lieutenants.

Second Satellite Shot Into Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The second of two nuclear detection satellites was maneuvered into station high above the earth Saturday to complete a unique space triple play in one of the United States' most skillfully executed satellite launchings.

A ground station in New Hampshire beamed a radio signal to ignite a small motor aboard the sentry satellite. The firing jockeyed the craft out of an elliptical path ranging from 230 to about 60,000 miles high and placed it on a more circular course where both high and low points were around 60,000 miles.

COMPANION SATELLITE

A motor aboard a companion satellite was fired Thursday to inject it into a similar high-flying orbit reaching from about 60,000 to 72,000 miles.

A third satellite, launched on the same rocket which roared away from Cape Canaveral on Wednesday night, continued in a wide-swinging path to study the Van Allen radiation belt. This satellite is a 4½-pound midget which rode along as a hitchhiker.

Project officials had aimed to place the two sentry satellites into near - perfect 57,000 - mile-high circular orbits. However they said the higher paths would not affect the satellites' ability to scan outer space for signs of a sneak nuclear blast.

RESEARCH AT LSU

Peanuts May Help Control Hemophilia

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The versatile peanut is again under scrunity, this time in hopes that certain ingredients may prove helpful in controlling hemophilia, a blood disorder popularly known as free bleeding.

A key figure in research with peanuts is Dr. H. Bruce Boudreaux, a professor of zoology at LSU, and himself afflicted with hemophilia. Six years ago Dr. Boudreaux discovered that eating peanuts alleviated his own condition and launched an intensive research program towards a better understanding of the ingredient that curtails bleeding.

Dr. Boudreaux conducts experiments on hamsters in his campus laboratory. He is assisted by Dr. Vernon L. Frampton of the Southern Research Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in New Orleans.

Dr. Frampton extracts the key ingredient from peanuts, a tedious process that takes 50 pounds of peanuts to yield only one ounce of extract.

Worldwide interest was aroused in the LSU professor's research three years ago when he published his preliminary results in a scientific journal. This prompted similar investigation in seven other countries and resulted in his findings being confirmed by Dr. S. van Creveld, an Amsterdam medical doctor.

Since including more peanuts and peanut flour in his diet, Dr. Boudreaux has found that he does not require nearly as many blood transfusions. Yet he still considers the possibility that the decrease could be due to some other unknown factor.

Dr. Boudreaux said he is not sure that the extract, or a drug similar to it, would be completely safe for human consumption, adding that a laboratory in Montreal, Canada, will be ready early next year for experimentation on hemophilliac dogs. If the peanut ingredient is found safe and effective with the dogs, clinical tests could follow with humans.

Move Would Cut Spending On Military

CHICAGO (UPI) — Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric said Saturday night the time has come to reduce American forces overseas and cut heavy U. S. military spending abroad.

In a major policy speech at the annual conference of United Press International Editors and Publishers, Gilpatric said national defense was entering a "new phase" when shifts could be made in overseas deployments without impairing military strength or support for global allies.

GRADUAL CUTS

He implied that there would be gradual reductions in Army support and Air Force tactical units abroad, emphasizing that modern jet troops transports and combat planes could rush swiftly from America to any trouble spots.

Gilpatric also told the editors and publishers at their banquet concluding the two-day conference that the upward spiral in defense spending was at an end.

During the Kennedy administration, military budget has risen 25 percent, to a current annual rate of $51 billion.

Armored Airlift Gets Underway With Vanguard

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The U.S. armed forces flew a housekeeping staff into Europe all the way from Texas Saturday night to set the stage for the biggest armored airlift in military history.

Four hundred and fifty officers and men flashed in seven big C135 jet planes across the Atlantic into Western Europe, the vanguard of an air bridge designed to prove that the United States can throw its Sunday punch anywhere in the world with the speed of a rapier. Six of the C135s came to Germany, the seventh went to the Toul base in France.

Beginning Tuesday, a fleet of planes will fly the 14,500-man 2nd Armored Division to Rhine-Main, Sembach and Ramstein air bases in Germany. A 1,500-man air strike task force will be dropped into French bases at Etain, Phalsbourg and Chaumont.

The mission is to link up the division to tanks, guns and other equipment on soil of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Germany and France. The aim is to deploy the force in three days, equip it completely for combat in six days and then engage the 2nd Armored against the 3rd Armored, based here, in field training exercises.

The first phase of the $20-million effort brought all smiles to U.S. forces. The lead plane bearing the 2nd Armored's assistant commander, Brig. Gen. Keith L. Ware, roared in almost dead on schedule after a 10-hour journey from Bergstrom Air Force Base in Texas.

ONLY 11 DAYS TO GO

UFG Campaign Tops Half Mark

With only 11 days to go, the Ouachita Parish United Givers Fund has topped the 50 per cent mark. It was reported Saturday that receipts in UGF campaign headquarters now total $131,028, or 50.3 per cent toward the goal of $260,573.

United Givers leaders hope that 75 per cent of the goal will have been attained by noon Tuesday, when the third report meeting is held at the Penn Hotel. It will be a "Dutch-Treat" luncheon. The drive is scheduled to close on October 31.

In announcing the latest amount raised, Campaign Jack S. Campbell stated, "This is an encouraging report. It is evidence that the parish citizens are responding to the appeal by all 13 health, welfare and character building agencies which have joined in this single drive. It is evidence too of lots of hard work put in by our many volunteers for several weeks."

Campbell cited the many outstanding reports that have headquarters. All the employees of some 22 firms have given their Fair Share of one hour's pay per month, and five more employee groups have earned the silver award plaque when 70 per cent or more of the employees pledged their Fair Share.

"With these fine reports as a springboard," Campbell said, "I am confident that our campaign volunteers will take the time necessary in the next 11 days to complete their assignments and put the campaign over the top."

In advance of the regular campaign kick - off, eight "Pilot" companies allowed drive leaders to test out the UGF film, speakers, the "UGF Message for 1963-64" and campaign solicitation procedures. The results in these companies were nothing less than "amazing", according to Fletcher W. Ashcraft, campaign co-chairman.

"The number of contributors in the Pilot companies," Ashcraft said, "increased 300 per cent, and the amount of money contributed more than doubled. We believe that this is simply a case of talking with the employees and showing them exactly where their money goes and the good that it does in our community and throughout the parish. Once they see and understand the needs of the 13 UGF agencies, citizens are willing to give generously to support the agencies and the people that they help."

The pilot firms were Bancroft Bag and Bancroft Paper, West Monroe; Commercial Solvents, La. Power and Light and Thermatomic Carbon, Sterlington; and E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital, Missouri Pacific and Steele Motors, Monroe.

Following the pilot campaigns, the general campaign kicked off on October 3 in conjunction with John Pennel Day activities. Pennel helped launch the 1964 drive by touring the UGF agencies and encouraging everyone to give the United way.

At the drive's first report meeting on October 10, workers reported that $52,906 had been raised, or 20.3 per cent. Campaign officials noted that this was far behind the first report made in other cities such as Little Rock, New Orleans and Baton Rouge, which showed better than half their goal reached by the first report day.

Last Wednesday at the second report session, UFG workers brought the total raised up to $110,774, or 42.5 per cent. At the second report meeting last year, the Ouachita Parish UGF had reported 39 per cent of the total goal.

Receipts since Wednesday's meeting increased the amount to the half-way mark, or 50.3 per cent.

Several UGF workers have been awarded the campaign "Oscars" as "Quota Busters". They include team captains T. F. Simpson Jr., 303 per cent of quota; E. D. Davidson, 117 per cent, and Jim Dana, 182 per cent, and section chairman Stanton Huey Jr., 103 per cent. Jerry Ryan, automotive team captain, is within 10 per cent of his quota, having hit 90 per cent mark Saturday.

A score of other UGF workers have reached the 80 per cent plateau and are expected to be "over the top" by Tuesday's report meeting.

FIRST "OSCARS" of the United Givers Fund campaign are awarded to workers who have topped their quota in the current drive. West Monroe small business chairman Hugh Balfour, left, presents his team captains E. G. Davidson, an "Oscar", while Campaign Chairman Jack S. Campbell, right, presents one to engineers section chairman Stanton Huey, Jr. These mementoes are presented to all team captains and section chairmen who reach 100 per cent of their quota. Drought Brings On Restrictions For Woodlands

CHICAGO (AP)—New emergency fire prevention measures were invoked in the tinder-dry East and South on Saturday as fire and pasture damage mounted from the nation's worst drought in years.

Smog, fog and smoke filled the stagnant air along the eastern seaboard.

The New York Health Department said a temperature inversion condition is producing widespread smog, especially in the Hudson Valley, that is likely to trouble persons suffering from respiratory or heart ailments.

Except for temporary and spotty relief in parts of the Midwest, no real break is in sight for the drought that has affected a broad area from Texas to New England.

Thousands of acres of forests and woodlands have been blackened by fire, pastures have been destroyed, wells have gone dry and water is being rationed in some communities.

However, the nation's major winter vegetable- and citrus-growing regions—Florida, California which have not had extremely dry weather.

Gov. Bert Combs closed all Kentucky forests to the public Saturday. More than 500,000 acres of woodland are tinder dry and the danger was called the worst in a decade. The state has had little or no rainfall since early September and farmers have had to fall back on this year's bumper hay crop to feed their cattle.

Tito Appears After Flu Bout

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia, looking chipper and making wisecracks, made his first public appearance Saturday afternoon since being laid up by the flu Thursday night.

The 71-year-old Communist leader told newsmen that, "I in no way have intention to die. It would be too early for me."

TALK PESSISSISM

Gromyko Claims View Distorted

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass on Saturday quoted Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko as saying it was a distortion to write that he had spoken in pessimistic terms of talks among the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union on all international subjects.

His gloomy remarks made during a stopover at Prestwick Airport, Scotland, on Friday, Tass said, referred only to an assessment of disarmament negotiations.

The British Press Association, rechecking its report, distributed to The Associated Press and other news agencies, said Saturday night it had been distorted in transmission from Prestwick to London. It said Gromyko used the phrase "could not be worse" in reference only to Big Three talks on disarmament.

Tass quoted the East German news agency ADN as saying the airport reporter asked Gromyko for his assessment of the disarmament talks.

"The minister replied that the state of affairs in the discussions was bad," Tass said.

Before leaving the United States, Gromyko had appeared relatively cheerful, and that was the reason there was a certain amount of shock at what he had been quoted as saying at the Scottish airport.

One Western diplomat in Moscow remarked, however, "The Soviets do not announce changes in policy through remarks made by Gromyko on a misty airport in Scotland. It just isn't done that way."

According to the British Press Association on Saturday night Gromyko said: "To be frank, the state of affairs in our discussions is bad. We are making no progress whatsoever.

"We have been carrying the whole burden of disarmament on our shoulders and we have been doing our best to reach agreement.

"But whether we shall be able to convince our partners in negotiation or not is another matter. We have proposed certain steps toward the lessening of tension, steps similar to the Moscow (limited test-ban) treaty. But I would like to stress the importance of a German peace treaty—one of the most crucial problems of European security.

"The status of West Berlin should be abolished and a free state established. We shall continue to stress the importance of this despite the fact that some Western statesmen underestimate the importance of this issue."

Gromyko also stressed his belief in the need for a German peace treaty in a joint statement with East German Communist Chief Walter Ulbricht during a stopover in East Berlin.

The Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda maintained an optimistic tone Saturday with an editorial saying, "The Soviet people are convinced that now it is possible to achieve a series of practical measures for the farther relaxation of international tensions."

It listed as practical measures for diplomatic attention an East-West nonaggression pact, reduction of military budgets, measures to prevent surprise attacks and, finally, the conclusion of a German peace treaty.

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana State University said Saturday work will start immediately on a $692,000 face-lifting for three sections of LSU's stadium dormitories for men.

Tito Appears After Flu Bout

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia, looking chipper and making wisecracks, made his first public appearance Saturday afternoon since being laid up by the flu Thursday night.

The 71-year-old Communist leader told newsmen that, "I in no way have intention to die. It would be too early for me."

TALK PESSISSISM

Gromyko Claims View Distorted

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass on Saturday quoted Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko as saying it was a distortion to write that he had spoken in pessimistic terms of talks among the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union on all international subjects.

His gloomy remarks made during a stopover at Prestwick Airport, Scotland, on Friday, Tass said, referred only to an assessment of disarmament negotiations.

The British Press Association, rechecking its report, distributed to The Associated Press and other news agencies, said Saturday night it had been distorted in transmission from Prestwick to London. It said Gromyko used the phrase "could not be worse" in reference only to Big Three talks on disarmament.

Tass quoted the East German news agency ADN as saying the airport reporter asked Gromyko for his assessment of the disarmament talks.

"The minister replied that the state of affairs in the discussions was bad," Tass said.

Before leaving the United States, Gromyko had appeared relatively cheerful, and that was the reason there was a certain amount of shock at what he had been quoted as saying at the Scottish airport.

One Western diplomat in Moscow remarked, however, "The Soviets do not announce changes in policy through remarks made by Gromyko on a misty airport in Scotland. It just isn't done that way."

According to the British Press Association on Saturday night Gromyko said: "To be frank, the state of affairs in our discussions is bad. We are making no progress whatsoever.

"We have been carrying the whole burden of disarmament on our shoulders and we have been doing our best to reach agreement.

"But whether we shall be able to convince our partners in negotiation or not is another matter. We have proposed certain steps toward the lessening of tension, steps similar to the Moscow (limited test-ban) treaty. But I would like to stress the importance of a German peace treaty—one of the most crucial problems of European security.

"The status of West Berlin should be abolished and a free state established. We shall continue to stress the importance of this despite the fact that some Western statesmen underestimate the importance of this issue."

Gromyko also stressed his belief in the need for a German peace treaty in a joint statement with East German Communist Chief Walter Ulbricht during a stopover in East Berlin.

The Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda maintained an optimistic tone Saturday with an editorial saying, "The Soviet people are convinced that now it is possible to achieve a series of practical measures for the farther relaxation of international tensions."

It listed as practical measures for diplomatic attention an East-West nonaggression pact, reduction of military budgets, measures to prevent surprise attacks and, finally, the conclusion of a German peace treaty.

Museum Displays Famed Documents

Framed replicas of five major American historical documents are on display today at the Ouachita Valley Museum. Lt. Joseph Bowmar Society, Children of the American Revolution, presented the documents Saturday.

The presentation climaxed Patriotic Education Week sponsored by the CAR in the Twin Cities.

The documents include the Constitution, Bill of Rights, Delcaration of Independence, Monroe Doctrine and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

Members of Fort Miro Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and Chief Tusquahoma Chapter, DAR, assisted with the weeklong patriotic education program.

Highlights included a Memorial Service on Columbus Day, as a tribute "to all American soldiers who fought and died to secure the American heritage that we enjoy today."

A wreath was placed on the grave of Grammont Filhiol, son of Don Juan Filhiol who founded Monroe. His descendants, who participated in the service, were Laura Griffith, Sally Breard and Ginny Nichols.

The CAR also presented United States flags which had flown over the Capitol at Washington, D.C., to four elementary schools: Clara Hall, Lakeshore, Georgia Tucker and Sherrouse.

A framed copy of the Bill of Rights was presented to Neville High school, at an assembly where attorney Pascal Norris spoke on "One Nation Under God."

SHARPENED HIS RAZOR

HARPER, Tex. (AP) — This West Texas city's only barber shop is usually closed on Mondays, but Roy Roberts, the owner, found he had a very brisk business the day after prizes were awarded in a beard growing contest.

Nearly 100 men participated in the contest and some had been letting their beards grow for eight or nine months.

Roberts had planned to shave himself and no one else when he opened his shop at 5:30 a.m., but he worked all day. It took about 45 minutes to shave one man whose beard had been growing a year.

At the end of the day Roberts had accumulated a bushel basket of hair. He said he got good tips; one man had given him $5 extra for his shave.

Syrian Patrol Charged With Killing Three

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A government spokesman charged a 30-man patrol of Syria's army slew three Lebanese soldiers from ambush Saturday in the latest of a series of frontier incidents between the two Arab neighbors.

He accused Syria of aggression.

There was no comment from Syria, whose Ba'ath Socialist government recently claimed the Lebanese shut their eyes to the passage across Lebanon of followers of U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser intent on subversion in Syria.

THE ASSOCIATED Press averages of 60 stocks had its best weekly advance since mid-August, closing Friday at 280.9, up from 277.8 a week ago, as indicated in the above chart. The commodity index was slightly higher than the preceding week, closing at 159.7, up from 159.6. (AP Wirephoto)

Industrials Hit New High During Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Industrial issues went to new highs this week as the stock market broke out of a three-week consolidation pattern in heavy trading.

Stock prices were pushed ahead by sharply increased profits reported for the third quarter and the nine months by many blue chip companies.

Wall Street also had the benefit of a broad assortment of bullish economic news, including price increases, rising production, record car sales and rising rail carloadings.

The rise in popular averages attracted increased buying, with the result that the weekly volume of 27,079, 140 shares was the highest since the week ended Sept. 14, when 27,797,550 shares changed hands. The week before last had total volume of 23,798,299 shares.

The closely watched Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues advanced 8.84 to 750.60-slightly below its latest historic peak of 750.77 made at the close of trading on Thursday.

Considerable profit taking occurred on Friday, with the result that the Dow industrials, after rising early in the day, closed with a net loss. On the same day, however, Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose .06 to 73.32, just making a new historic high by topping its previous record of 73.30 made on Sept. 24.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks this week rose 3.1 to 280.9, its biggest weekly gain since it advanced 4.1 in the week ended Aug. 16. The AP average, however, remained below its historic high of 281.5 reached Sept. 24.

One of the sensational gains of the week was a rise of 21¼ to 114¼ made by Johnson & Johnson on news that it soon would produce a cheaper oral contraceptive pill. Other companies in this field also were bought heavily. On the American Stock Exchange Syntex rose 32⅛ to 200.

WEEK IN FINANCE

Business 'Pep' Signs Are Noted

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

A rising flood of reports on July-September business earnings pointed to a new peak level for the third quarter, comfortably above the $26.8-billion annual rate chalked up in the April-June period.

Automakers plunged ahead with plans to assemble over 800,000 cars in October, a record. Twenty-three assembly plants worked on Saturday last week. Sales in the first third of the month kept pace. The 262,756 units marketed were the highest in history for the period.

The twin influences were reflected in any yardsticks of the economy's behavior. The gross national product, the dollar sum of all goods and services produced, jumped in the third quarter to an annual rate of $587 billion, a new high.

The Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial production for September resumed a climb interrupted in August after seven months. Personal income, at an annual rate of $466.4 billion, rose for a seventh straight month.

Nonfarm employment gained beyond expectations. The factory work week lengthened. Overtime work in factories equaled a seven-year record. Steel production posted its eighth consecutive weekly increase, partly out of strengthening demand from automakers.

A key stock market indicator, the Dow-Jones industrial average, bobbed to new peaks as investors responded to the lure of lustrous profit statements.

Although their earnings figurges aren't out yet, Chrysler and General Motors shares pushed to all-time record levels on the strength of glowing car sales reports.

International Business Machines, American Airlines and American Electric Power were among a bevy of companies reporting third-quarter or nine-month earnings marks.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., the first major steel producer to disclose results, said it had the most profitable first nine months since 1957.

A note of discord was struck in the predominantely rosy picture by suggestions from Secretary of the Treasury Douglas H. Dillon and others of trouble ahead for business—possibly in 1964 — unless Congress cuts taxes.

Dillon said he wasn't predicting a recession but that a letdown might develop without the stimulus of a tax cut.

The nation's airlines figures in other important developments.

Trans World Airlines and Pan American World Airways called off a proposal to merge into the country's biggest air transport system. Legal difficulties were cited, along with delay in a start of hearings by government regulators.

In another move, the Civil Aeronautics Board stepped into a domestic rate-cutting squabble involving nearly all major lines, in effect decreeing a cooling-off period.

Dillon sprung a surprise in his tax-cut testimony by registering administration opposition to a provision in the House bill lowering rates on certain capital gains transactions.

The Treasury secretary said the provision unduly favored a small group of very wealthy taxpayers.

Here and there around the business scene: General Foods and two other major roasters raised wholesale coffee prices, marking up ground coffee 2 cents a pound and the instant product 1 cents a pound.. .Warner & Swasey Co., Cleveland machinery and controls system manufacturers, proposed a 2 for 1 stock split.

Futures Lean To Liquidation

CHICAGO (AP)—The pattern of trade in the grain futures market last week was generally toward liquidation, although old crop wheat contracts and rye posted broad advances on the Board of Trade.

Corn and soybeans were under fairly steady pressure most of the time and closed with net losses for the period. Setbacks in soybeans ranged to more than seven cents a bushel, the second successive decline since a strong bull market began more than a month ago.

Markets, Business and Oil

THE ASSOCIATED Press averages of 60 stocks had its best weekly advance since mid-August, closing Friday at 280.9, up from 277.8 a week ago, as indicated in the above chart. The commodity index was slightly higher than the preceding week, closing at 159.7, up from 159.6. (AP Wirephoto)

Industrials Hit New High During Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Industrial issues went to new highs this week as the stock market broke out of a three-week consolidation pattern in heavy trading.

Stock prices were pushed ahead by sharply increased profits reported for the third quarter and the nine months by many blue chip companies.

Wall Street also had the benefit of a broad assortment of bullish economic news, including price increases, rising production, record car sales and rising rail carloadings.

The rise in popular averages attracted increased buying, with the result that the weekly volume of 27,079, 140 shares was the highest since the week ended Sept. 14, when 27,797,550 shares changed hands. The week before last had total volume of 23,798,299 shares.

The closely watched Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues advanced 8.84 to 750.60-slightly below its latest historic peak of 750.77 made at the close of trading on Thursday.

Considerable profit taking occurred on Friday, with the result that the Dow industrials, after rising early in the day, closed with a net loss. On the same day, however, Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose .06 to 73.32, just making a new historic high by topping its previous record of 73.30 made on Sept. 24.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks this week rose 3.1 to 280.9, its biggest weekly gain since it advanced 4.1 in the week ended Aug. 16. The AP average, however, remained below its historic high of 281.5 reached Sept. 24.

One of the sensational gains of the week was a rise of 21¼ to 114¼ made by Johnson & Johnson on news that it soon would produce a cheaper oral contraceptive pill. Other companies in this field also were bought heavily. On the American Stock Exchange Syntex rose 32⅛ to 200.

WEEK IN FINANCE

Business 'Pep' Signs Are Noted

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

A rising flood of reports on July-September business earnings pointed to a new peak level for the third quarter, comfortably above the $26.8-billion annual rate chalked up in the April-June period.

Automakers plunged ahead with plans to assemble over 800,000 cars in October, a record. Twenty-three assembly plants worked on Saturday last week. Sales in the first third of the month kept pace. The 262,756 units marketed were the highest in history for the period.

The twin influences were reflected in any yardsticks of the economy's behavior. The gross national product, the dollar sum of all goods and services produced, jumped in the third quarter to an annual rate of $587 billion, a new high.

The Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial production for September resumed a climb interrupted in August after seven months. Personal income, at an annual rate of $466.4 billion, rose for a seventh straight month.

Nonfarm employment gained beyond expectations. The factory work week lengthened. Overtime work in factories equaled a seven-year record. Steel production posted its eighth consecutive weekly increase, partly out of strengthening demand from automakers.

A key stock market indicator, the Dow-Jones industrial average, bobbed to new peaks as investors responded to the lure of lustrous profit statements.

Although their earnings figurges aren't out yet, Chrysler and General Motors shares pushed to all-time record levels on the strength of glowing car sales reports.

International Business Machines, American Airlines and American Electric Power were among a bevy of companies reporting third-quarter or nine-month earnings marks.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., the first major steel producer to disclose results, said it had the most profitable first nine months since 1957.

A note of discord was struck in the predominantely rosy picture by suggestions from Secretary of the Treasury Douglas H. Dillon and others of trouble ahead for business—possibly in 1964 — unless Congress cuts taxes.

Dillon said he wasn't predicting a recession but that a letdown might develop without the stimulus of a tax cut.

The nation's airlines figures in other important developments.

Trans World Airlines and Pan American World Airways called off a proposal to merge into the country's biggest air transport system. Legal difficulties were cited, along with delay in a start of hearings by government regulators.

In another move, the Civil Aeronautics Board stepped into a domestic rate-cutting squabble involving nearly all major lines, in effect decreeing a cooling-off period.

Dillon sprung a surprise in his tax-cut testimony by registering administration opposition to a provision in the House bill lowering rates on certain capital gains transactions.

The Treasury secretary said the provision unduly favored a small group of very wealthy taxpayers.

Here and there around the business scene: General Foods and two other major roasters raised wholesale coffee prices, marking up ground coffee 2 cents a pound and the instant product 1 cents a pound...Warner & Swasey Co., Cleveland machinery and controls system manufacturers, proposed a 2 for 1 stock split.

Futures Lean To Liquidation

CHICAGO (AP)—The pattern of trade in the grain futures market last week was generally toward liquidation, although old crop wheat contracts and rye posted broad advances on the Board of Trade.

Corn and soybeans were under fairly steady pressure most of the time and closed with net losses for the period. Setbacks in soybeans ranged to more than seven cents a bushel, the second successive decline since a strong bull market began more than a month ago.

MONROE DISTRICT

Area Oil, Gas Activity On Rise

Drilling activity was on rise last week in the Monroe Oil & Gas District, when 15 new wells were completed — nine of them in Union Parish's Monroe Gas Field.

The rest of the completions were scattered in five parishes — one in Ouachita's Cheniere Field, two in Rapides Parish, and one each in Tensas, LaSalle and Concordia.

The total on active rigs was rising, to 36, found in 12 of the district's 15 parishes, most of them — a dozen — in LaSalle Parish.

Concordia Boy Scout Finance Drive Is Slated

VIDALIA (Special) — Concordia Parish Boy Scouts got a boost here as Vidalia civic clubs played host to a planning session for a parish-wide finance drive to benefit the organization.

The program was held in the Vidalia Community Center, with the local Kiwanians, Lions and Jaycees meeting to work with Scout officials.

According to L. C. Bruce, Vidalia finance chairman, the Lions will work on "advance gifts," mainly in the business district, while Kiwanians and Jaycees will handle a "general solicitations drive" and a house to house campaign.

The advance drive is scheduled to begin Nov. 4, the general drive one week later.

A similar program is being worked out in Ferriday and all clubs, organizations and individuals interested in the Boy Scout movement were invited to attend the Vidalia meeting.

The entire effort is expected to last two weeks, with a goal for the parish set at $4,000.

Clubs, organizations and individuals unable to actively participate in the drive, but interested in making a contribution may do so by contacting Bruce or George Perry, Ferriday chairman.

Molony said it would be helpful if inquirers would bring with them at the time of the interview a recent balance sheet and profit and loss statements for the past three years.

"It is planned that a representative of SBA will visit Monroe monthly," Molony added.

Move Would Cut Spending On Military

three years, Gilpatric said, "we face another new period in which we can hope for a level-off of defense spending for the next several years.

"There may be — indeed, — some decline in overall defense costs," he said, because the size forces now built should be able to handle Communist threats that lie ahead. But he made clear that levelling off at the present plateau of strength did not mean a "stand pat" attitude toward advancing technology or changes in the world power equation.

"No foliy could be greater," he said.

In his diplomatically phrased comments on reducing overseas forces, approved by the White House and State Department, Gilpatric spoke of a coming "series of evolutionary changes in the composition and disposition of . . . military units stationed overseas."

America has kept a large proportion of its forces overseas for years, Gilpatric said, pointing out that there now are more than one million servicemen and family members on duty abroad. Large deployments will continue over seas "for the foreseeable future."

"However," he said, "some shifts in the form our military presence has taken in recent decades are beginning to be practicable."

He emphasized specifically that America now can deliver large quantities of logistical support abroad quickly by air and can send combat planes over oceans "in no more time than it took previously to deploy planes stationed on rear bases overseas."

He called attention to Operation Big Lift in which the Defense Department will fly 14,500 men of the 2nd Armored Division and 1,500 other airmen and soldiers to Germany from U.S. bases in three days.

"This Big Lift exercise will demonstrate our ability to project our military power far more quickly over far larger distances than has evern been the case in the past," Gilpatric said.

As a result of such newly built capability, he said, "the U.S. should be able to make useful reductions in its heavy overseas military expenditures without diminishing its effective military strength or its capacity to apply that strength swiftly in support of its worldwide policy commitments."

the loss of about 40 acres in 30 and 10-acre blazes since the opening of squirrel season.

"The woods are really dry," said White. "So far we've had enough crews working to handle the fires that have started. If the weather doesn't change and more of them get going than we have crews, that's when we'll really have trouble."

He re-emphasized the need for care and urged anyone spotting apparently unsupervised fires to report them.

The Louisiana Forestry Commission maintains 13 fire towers in Ouachita, Lincoln, Jackson, Morehouse and Union Parishes, as well as a light airplane for closer spotting in poor visibility.

Fifteen fire - fighting crews are ready to move around the clock, with almost an equal number in reserve.

Discussing damage to timberlands, Ham sounded an appeal to political candidates in the coming and future elections to avoid the indiscriminate use of trees as sites for campaign signs.

"On our lands, as well as others, signs have been nailed up all over the woods," he noted. "When they're taken down, the nails, driven through the bark and into natural wood, remain, damaging the trees, as well as saw mill equipment when the trees are cut into lumber."

He urged the use of "light staple guns, if trees are going to be used in this way. "Staples go only into the bark and cause no harm to the tree."

There's going to be a lot of planning going on Nov. 2 among Boy Scout Order of the Arrow members, our man in Camp Kiroli tells us.

The Ouachita Valley Council's Comanche Lodge of the organization has an all-day executive officers' training conference set on that date. All officers, committee chairmen and advisors have been invited.

Lodge Chief Larry Wade will preside and Advisor Bob Trent will lead the discussions. A Boy Scout-type outdoor dinner will be served.

Actress Plans Fifth Wedding

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marie (The Body) McDonald announced plans Saturday to marry a fifth husband — "the first real man I've ever met."

The shapely blonde actress said she and Donald F. Taylor, 52, an independent film producer, plan to be married after she returns from a night-club engagement in Mexico City.

for better government in Louisiana, vote for

Ralph Caldwell for Representative

"Louisiana is one of the richest of the states in natural resources, yet it ranks 45th in per capita income. It is 3rd in national ranking in the amount of taxes levied per $1,000 of personal income and 4th in expenditures.

"Its payments for public welfare on a per capita basis are the third highest in the nation. In the fiscal year ending in 1964 it is estimated that it will have operated at a deficit of more than 19½ millions of dollars.

"How can a record such as this be justified and what greater reason could there be for electing public officials who are dedicated to better government in Louisiana."

There's going to be a lot of planning going on Nov. 2 among Boy Scout Order of the Arrow members, our man in Camp Kiroli tells us.

The Ouachita Valley Council's Comanche Lodge of the organization has an all-day executive officers' training conference set on that date. All officers, committee chairmen and advisors have been invited.

Lodge Chief Larry Wade will preside and Advisor Bob Trent will lead the discussions. A Boy Scout-type outdoor dinner will be served.

for better government in Louisiana, vote for

Ralph Caldwell for Representative

"Louisiana is one of the richest of the states in natural resources, yet it ranks 45th in per capita income. It is 3rd in national ranking in the amount of taxes levied per $1,000 of personal income and 4th in expenditures.

"Its payments for public welfare on a per capita basis are the third highest in the nation. In the fiscal year ending in 1964 it is estimated that it will have operated at a deficit of more than 19½ millions of dollars.

"How can a record such as this be justified and what greater reason could there be for electing public officials who are dedicated to better government in Louisiana."

Ike Urges End Of 1-Party Rule

WASHINGTON (AP — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower called Saturday for an end to the Democratic party's denomination in the South.

In a letter to Republican party organizers in Mooresville, N.C., Eisenhower said the one-party system "ties North Carolina and her sister states to the tail of a left-wing kite."

The letter, released by the Republican National Committee, urged southern voters to help build a Republican party in the South "to keep the federal system in bounds."

West Monroe Chief Urges Safe Driving

West Monroe Police Chief Johnny Mitchell urged local motorists to exert extreme driving care during the upcoming hazardous winter months, and help make West Monroe a "safe city" for residents.

Chief Mitchell pointed out that driving conditions will grow steadily worse with the advent of cold and rainy winter weather. He said that if drivers will exercise their knowledge of safe driving habits, the number of traffic accidents can be cut down considerably and fatalities completely eliminated for the rest of this year. He noted that one traffic fatality has already been recorded in West Monroe this year.

"We are asking for the full cooperation of the people of West Monroe, especially the motorists in prevening conditions which may lead to accidents and consequent injuries and fatalities," Mitchell said.

"The West Monroe police department is here to protect and help the people, not to cause any inconvenience, but we must constantly be on the lookout for violations. In most instances where there is an accident or mishap, there is a violation of the traffic regulations," the chief explained.

"By working together, we can prevent accidents and consequent injuries and even death," Mitchell said while calling on the cooperation of the motoring public. "To make our streets safe, the motoring public should observe all traffic regulations," Mitchell stressed.

RATE DIFFERENCE

U.S. Shipping Snag Snafus Wheat Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials sought Saturday to remove a shipping snag which might prevent sales of U.S. wheat to the Soviet Union and other Communist countries of Europe.

The obstacle is that freight rates on U.S. ships are higher than those charged by other vessels in international trade.

U.S. officials left the impression that no insurmountable obstable has arisen and that some of the sales might go through as planned if the Communist countries still are interested in grain purchases.

One informed source said a proposed sale of about 200,000 tons of wheat to Hungary by U.S. grain traders is hung up on the freight rate snag. But officials here indicated that extraordinary efforts were being made to work out a solution.

Government experts who have followed the negotiations said they have been informed that traders have submitted new proposals on the Hungarian deal and that it might still be consummated.

There is a difference of about $10 a ton between international rates and those charged on U.S. shipments to Black Sea ports. President Kennedy in clearing the way for such sales specified cargoes should move in U.S. ships where they are available.

Norway, a country with extensive shipping interests, already has expressed concern to the State Department about the possibility its ships might be blocked from transporting any U.S. wheat sold to the Soviet Union and Communist countries of Eastern Europe.

The expression of concern, in diplomatic procedure, sometimes is just one step short of a formal protest.

Norway contends that the restriction on movement of wheat giving preference to U.S. ships actually is contrary to U.S. shipping practices since the wheat sales are commercial transactions and not in the category of cargoes of U.S. foreign aid goods.

Rocky Hits Goldwater Positions

HANOVER, N.H. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Saturday that Sen. Barry Goldwater had adopted positions "not in the best interests of the American people" on such issues as foreign aid, the World Bank and U.S. membership in the United Nations.

Rockefeller said he favored and Goldwater opposed all three.

The New York governor thus added to his growing list of major issues on which he sees conflict between himself and the Arizona senator.

Goldwater and Rockefeller are considered the leading prospects at the moment for the Republican nomination for president next year, although neither has made a formal declaration.

Rockefeller, while professing agreement with Goldwater on fundamental Republican principles, chose New Hampshire audiences to hear him detail his differences on specific issues.

The governor, his wife accompanying him, made a two-day tour of New Hampshire as he opened a bid to win support for this state's primary next March 10.

At almost every stop, Rockefeller repeated his challenge to Goldwater to join with him in a series of debates on major issues.

Goldwater has refused on the ground that Republicans should unite and fight Democrats, not fight among themselves.

Rockefeller is keeping up a barrage of criticism that he hopes will crumble the senator's opposition to the debate idea.

The final item on Saturday's schedule, which included attendance at the Dartmouth-Holy Cross football game was a meeting of leaders of the Rockefeller-for-President movement in New Hampshire.

The governor will confer with GOP leaders in Vermont this morning before returning to New York City.

At Hanover, a football-weekend crowd of 2,000 jammed Main Street to see Rockefeller presented the key to the community.

FOREIGN POLICY SPEECH

JFK Forsees No Easing Of Crisis

ORONO, Maine (AP)—President Kennedy said flatly Saturday that basic American-Soviet differences "will give rise to further crises, large and small." But he said the quest for peace must continue.

Kennedy, in a major foreign policy address at the University of Maine hailed recent East-West agreements as offering "new opportunities which we cannot afford to miss."

But he said that "No one of these small advances, nor all of them taken together, can be interpreted as meaning that the Soviets are abandoning their basic aims and ambitions."

The President used these words to summarize his attitude toward dealings with the Communist bloc:

"While maintaining our readiness for war, let us exhaust every avenue of peace. Let us always make clear both our willingness to talk, if talk will help, and our readiness to fight, if fight we must."

Kennedy's immediate audience was a crowd of some 15,000 in the university stadium, where he received an honorary doctor of laws degree at a special convocation.

In a larger sense, however he was talking both to the leaders of the Soviet bloc and to the voters of America who have heard sharp criticism of East-West accords from Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Though Kennedy did not mention the Arizona Republican who may be his opponent in the 1964 election, he ticked off three agreements opposed by Goldwater:

"It is in our national self-interest to ban nuclear testing in the atmosphere so that all our citizens can breathe easier. It is in our national self-interest to sell surplus wheat in storage to feed Russians and Eastern Europeans who are willing to divert large portions of their limited foreign exchange reserves away from the implements of war. It is in our national self-interest to keep weapons of mass destruction out of outer space."

Kennedy said even a Soviet violation of the limited test ban treaty, or a sudden refusal to buy American wheat, would give "no reason to regret the fact that this nation had made every reasonable effort to improve relations."

Without such an effort, he said, "we could not maintain the leadership and respect of the free world."

Kennedy noted that he spoke a few days before the first anniversary of the Soviet-missiles-in-Cuba crisis. And he predicted new crises after declaring the United States and the Soviet Union wholly differ "on so called wars of liberation and the use of subversion.

"So long as these basic differences continue, they cannot and should not be concealed; they set limits to the possibilities of agreement; and they will give rise to further crises, large and small, in the months and years ahead," he added.

What do ELECTRIC CO-OPS do for people like me?

THEY HELP BUILD jobs in town, create new business, provide lower cost food and fibre. Farm dollars, now more abundant because farms have electricity, create a big demand for products and services of all kinds.

Business Grows Where Rural Power Goes

Most everyone knows what rural electrification means to the farmer. But, we wonder how many city and urban people realize how much they share in the blessings of low-cost rural power?

For example: Today, one American farmer feeds 27 people, compared to five in Russia. Our food costs are much lower, taking only 19.1% of the national income, compared to 50% for the rest of the world.

Our farmers are our No. 1 success story—our "secret weapon" against poverty, hunger and ultimate slavery. They are utterly dependent upon efficient, low-cost electricity. That makes rural electrification EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS.

Still, the farmer is just one of the many beneficiaries of Rural Electric Cooperatives and the REA lending program. Everywhere in Louisiana a rural power line goes, progress grows. The idealistic "total area coverage program" of the member-owned Cooperatives has reaped immeasurable benefits for main street business all over the State—not to mention rural development, new jobs, new techniques, better health, etc.

No farm, community, town or city is an island apart. Each is dependent upon the other for prosperity. We know from years of experience that locally-owned nonprofit Electric Cooperatives are the ONLY way ALL rural citizens can have electricity at rates ALL can afford.

Just think what that means to town and country progress. Yes, Mr. Businessman, Doctor, Lawyer, Teacher, Worker, you do have a stake in rural electrifications. Everybody benefits.

Government experts who have followed the negotiations said they have been informed that traders have submitted new proposals on the Hungarian deal and that it might still be consummated.

There is a difference of about $10 a ton between international rates and those charged on U.S. shipments to Black Sea ports. President Kennedy in clearing the way for such sales specified cargoes should move in U.S. ships where they are available.

Norway, a country with extensive shipping interests, already has expressed concern to the State Department about the possibility its ships might be blocked from transporting any U.S. wheat sold to the Soviet Union and Communist countries of Eastern Europe.

The expression of concern, in diplomatic procedure, sometimes is just one step short of a formal protest.

Norway contends that the restriction on movement of wheat giving preference to U.S. ships actually is contrary to U.S. shipping practices since the wheat sales are commercial transactions and not in the category of cargoes of U.S. foreign aid goods.

Rocky Hits Goldwater Positions

HANOVER, N.H. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Saturday that Sen. Barry Goldwater had adopted positions "not in the best interests of the American people" on such issues as foreign aid, the World Bank and U.S. membership in the United Nations.

Rockefeller said he favored and Goldwater opposed all three.

The New York governor thus added to his growing list of major issues on which he sees conflict between himself and the Arizona senator.

Goldwater and Rockefeller are considered the leading prospects at the moment for the Republican nomination for president next year, although neither has made a formal declaration.

Rockefeller, while professing agreement with Goldwater on fundamental Republican principles, chose New Hampshire audiences to hear him detail his differences on specific issues.

The governor, his wife accompanying him, made a two-day tour of New Hampshire as he opened a bid to win support for this state's primary next March 10.

At almost every stop, Rockefeller repeated his challenge to Goldwater to join with him in a series of debates on major issues.

Goldwater has refused on the ground that Republicans should unite and fight Democrats, not fight among themselves.

Rockefeller is keeping up a barrage of criticism that he hopes will crumble the senator's opposition to the debate idea.

The final item on Saturday's schedule, which included attendance at the Dartmouth-Holy Cross football game was a meeting of leaders of the Rockefeller-for-President movement in New Hampshire.

The governor will confer with GOP leaders in Vermont this morning before returning to New York City.

At Hanover, a football-weekend crowd of 2,000 jammed Main Street to see Rockefeller presented the key to the community.

JFK Forsees No Easing Of Crisis

ORONO, Maine (AP)—President Kennedy said flatly Saturday that basic American-Soviet differences "will give rise to further crises, large and small." But he said the quest for peace must continue.

Kennedy, in a major foreign policy address at the University of Maine hailed recent East-West agreements as offering "new opportunities which we cannot afford to miss."

But he said that "No one of these small advances, nor all of them taken together, can be interpreted as meaning that the Soviets are abandoning their basic aims and ambitions."

The President used these words to summarize his attitude toward dealings with the Communist bloc:

"While maintaining our readiness for war, let us exhaust every avenue of peace. Let us always make clear both our willingness to talk, if talk will help, and our readiness to fight, if fight we must."

Kennedy's immediate audience was a crowd of some 15,000 in the university stadium, where he received an honorary doctor of laws degree at a special convocation.

In a larger sense, however he was talking both to the leaders of the Soviet bloc and to the voters of America who have heard sharp criticism of East-West accords from Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Though Kennedy did not mention the Arizona Republican who may be his opponent in the 1964 election, he ticked off three agreements opposed by Goldwater:

"It is in our national self-interest to ban nuclear testing in the atmosphere so that all our citizens can breathe easier. It is in our national self-interest to sell surplus wheat in storage to feed Russians and Eastern Europeans who are willing to divert large portions of their limited foreign exchange reserves away from the implements of war. It is in our national self-interest to keep weapons of mass destruction out of outer space."

Kennedy said even a Soviet violation of the limited test ban treaty, or a sudden refusal to buy American wheat, would give "no reason to regret the fact that this nation had made every reasonable effort to improve relations."

Without such an effort, he said, "we could not maintain the leadership and respect of the free world."

Kennedy noted that he spoke a few days before the first anniversary of the Soviet-missiles-in-Cuba crisis. And he predicted new crises after declaring the United States and the Soviet Union wholly differ "on so called wars of liberation and the use of subversion.

"So long as these basic differences continue, they cannot and should not be concealed; they set limits to the possibilities of agreement; and they will give rise to further crises, large and small, in the months and years ahead," he added.

What do ELECTRIC CO-OPS do for people like me?

THEY HELP BUILD jobs in town, create new business, provide lower cost food and fibre. Farm dollars, now more abundant because farms have electricity, create a big demand for products and services of all kinds.

Business Grows Where Rural Power Goes

Most everyone knows what rural electrification means to the farmer. But, we wonder how many city and urban people realize how much they share in the blessings of low-cost rural power?

For example: Today, one American farmer feeds 27 people, compared to five in Russia. Our food costs are much lower, taking only 19.1% of the national income, compared to 50% for the rest of the world.

Our farmers are our No. 1 success story—our "secret weapon" against poverty, hunger and ultimate slavery. They are utterly dependent upon efficient, low-cost electricity. That makes rural electrification EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS.

Still, the farmer is just one of the many beneficiaries of Rural Electric Cooperatives and the REA lending program. Everywhere in Louisiana a rural power line goes, progress grows. The idealistic "total area coverage program" of the member-owned Cooperatives has reaped immeasurable benefits for main street business all over the State—not to mention rural development, new jobs, new techniques, better health, etc.

No farm, community, town or city is an island apart. Each is dependent upon the other for prosperity. We know from years of experience that locally-owned nonprofit Electric Cooperatives are the ONLY way ALL rural citizens can have electricity at rates ALL can afford.

Just think what that means to town and country progress. Yes, Mr. Businessman, Doctor, Lawyer, Teacher, Worker, you do have a stake in rural electrifications. Everybody benefits.

Even Devil Gets Into Trouble

This is part of the New Sophistication?

If so, Ludwig seems to be an accomplished practitioner. He uses hep, hep talk, a jargon compounded of bawdy, dirtyword references to esoteric gibberish and beatnik psychology.

He also uses characters and situations right out of the Manual of the Absurd, current edition, revised and annotated.

Catch this, Mac. The Harvard Ph. D. named Joseph Gillis is a son of Simon Galsky, a Yiddish baker in Roxbury, Mass. He marries a red - haired, Unitarian wench of Puritan inheritance, who has been a lute player at Radcliffe.

So they set forth for a slob school in California, where giddy Gillis is supposed to teach moronic sons of the rich in an English department populated by creeps of remarkable variety.

There are scenes, offbeat type, of a party attended by off-center manifestations of wavering humanity, and of grotesque faculty, parental nonesense.

And catch this, too, Mac. Right in the midst of all this hep, confused Gillis keeps talking to a very old fashioned character named Lucifer, the Devil. There is hep sophistication in the Devil too?

Smart boy, this Ludwig. He gives dialogue like nobody talks. He gives with the narrative switch, which in the old days they called Smart-Aleck. He jabs the Ivy League and the foolish campus. Toward the end, he goes with the surrealist yakyak.

Hey, absurd Ludwig! You mean this is us?

Man Who Tries To Leave Self

SECONDS. By David Ely. Pantheon $3.95.

A chilling shudder can be a vivid commentary on the psychology and sociology of modern life. Ely has created such a shudder in words.

The situation is this: A fiftyish New York banker discovers there is a secret organization offering an unique service to wealthy, frustrated men who have come to a dead end so far as their business and family connections are concerned. It gives them a new personality, a second chance in life. For a steep price, of course.

So this banker, given a new outward appearance by plastic surgery and an entirely different identity through expertly forged credentials, becomes a painter named Tony Wilson, and takes up his new life of freedom in California.

Despite the careful preparations, Wilson finds there are some difficult, basic adjustments to be made. The new outer man and the old inner man are at odds. Wilson is tempted to look back. He also discovers that other men nearby, who also have been reconstructed by the mysterious organizations, are watching him nervously.

Wilson learns that he can't go back and he can't go forward. Having cut himself off from the old life, he finds himself at the mercy of the strange, anonymous organization that converted him. There is a rather macabre ending in which Wilson's fate is typical of the ghastly dilemma in which the organization and its clients find themselves.

Adventures Of Animals And People

THE ROCKS REMAIN. By Gavin Maxwell. Dutton. $4.95.

Thousands of readers will remember Maxwell's "Ring of Bright Water," in which the star performers were a couple of otters named Mijbil and Edal.

The present book is a sequel, chronologically speaking, for it relates what happened to the author after the earlier book had been completed in the autumn of 1959. It's nice if you have read "Ring of Bright Water" before picking up this narrative, but it isn't obligatory.

The two works have a common, salient feature—the author is an accomplished artist in reporting vividly on people and nature as well as animals; some readers of the first book may have been so charmed by the otters that they scarcely noted Maxwell's talents as a chronicler.

There are otters in this book too, and additional scenes in the West Highlands of Scotland; some disasters with a boat and a fire; some unrevealing references to the author's marriage, and a passage on amusing Scottish folk tales.

But in stark contrast there are some scenes in far away Morocco — including a graphic account of a real earthquake as well as a tense, political earthquake, and a highly impressionistic account of Maxwell's reactions to his North African surroundings. And later there is an account of his recovery of his stolen Mercedes in Majorca. Except as a chronology, the book has little unity, but to most readers that will be no drawback.

As in the case of virtually all sequels, it would be too much to expect that the fresh impact of the original has been maintained. Yet on its own merits "The Rocks Remain" is a bright adventure among animals, people and places, engagingly written.

Altrusa Club Nursery First To Be Licensed

The Altrusa Day Care Center, owned and operated by the Altrusa Club of Monroe and West Monroe, the past week became the first nursery in the area to be approved and licensed by the State Department of Public Welfare.

Mrs. B. L. Meek, chairman of the committee handling the nursery, and Mrs. Sara Nowell, director, have received the license from Mrs. Mary Evelyn Parker, comissioner, State Department of Public Welfare.

In an accompanying letter, Mrs. Parker told Mrs. Meek the center "is a very fine project which is providing a much needed service to the community."

The club chose the nursery as its community project in 1959 under the presidency of Mrs. Thomas Luckett. Working continuously to raise funds and find a location, the club, under the presidency of Mrs. Manning Durham, on July 10, 1961, opened the doors for the first session at 405 North Sixth street, West Monroe. The day care center is for pre-school children of working mothers. Presently, it has children from Calhoun, Ruston, Sterlington, Bastrop and Farmerville, as well as the Twin Cities.

Mrs. Nowell has been with the center since September of 1961. Other members of the staff include Mrs. C. C. Boseley, who has been with the center for three years; and Lucille Davenport and Maxine Cook, maids.

3 Judges Rule Texas Districts Unconstitutional

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A three-judge federal court, by a 2-1 vote, ruled Saturday that Texas statutes setting up the state's current congressional districts are unconstitutional.

State and county officials were enjoined from holding party primaries or general elections under the present districting laws.

Some court observers said the ruling, if it stands, possibly means all 23 Texas congressmen must run at large in 1964 unless Gov. John B. Connally calls a special session of the Legislature to redistrict the state.

URGES IMPEACHMENT

Mississippi GOP Hits RFK, Johnson

The Republican candidate said Kennedy and Johnson were "guilty of a conspiracy which resulted in the death of two men, the injury of scores of others, and near destruction of our state university."

The charge came in an address to a group of persons here as Phillips stumped the state in preparation for the Nov. 5 general election.

"When all the people of Mississippi know the full story," Phillips said, "they will rise up in righteous indignation and demand Johnson's defeat.

"When the people of this nation realize Kennedy's part in it, they should call for his impeachment," Phillips said.

Newsweek Magazine recently printed what it said was portions of a transcript of a conversation between Gov. Ross Barnett, Johnson and Kennedy about the admission of Negro James H. Meredith into the University of Mississippi.

Two persons were killed in rioting that followed Meredith's admission into the university from which he has graduated.

The magazine article, the second publication charging telephone conversations between the three top officials, said an agreement was made for the admission of Meredith.

Phillips said "Johnson perpetrated a fraud on the people of Mississippi by pretending to defend them against their enemies. He did the people of this state the greatest disservice he could have done them and capitalized on it politically."

Johnson and Barnett have denied any such deal was made. Johnson won the Democratic nomination for governor by campaigning heavily on his stand at Oxford where he physically blocked the entrance of Meredith on one of his attempts to enter the university.

Thousands of readers will remember Maxwell's "Ring of Bright Water," in which the star performers were a couple of otters named Mijbil and Edal.

The present book is a sequel, chronologically speaking, for it relates what happened to the author after the earlier book had been completed in the autumn of 1959. It's nice if you have read "Ring of Bright Water" before picking up this narrative, but it isn't obligatory.

The two works have a common, salient feature—the author is an accomplished artist in reporting vividly on people and nature as well as animals; some readers of the first book may have been so charmed by the otters that they scarcely noted Maxwell's talents as a chronicler.

There are otters in this book too, and additional scenes in the West Highlands of Scotland; some disasters with a boat and a fire; some unrevealing references to the author's marriage, and a passage on amusing Scottish folk tales.

But in stark contrast there are some scenes in far away Morocco — including a graphic account of a real earthquake as well as a tense, political earthquake, and a highly impressionistic account of Maxwell's reactions to his North African surroundings. And later there is an account of his recovery of his stolen Mercedes in Majorca. Except as a chronology, the book has little unity, but to most readers that will be no drawback.

As in the case of virtually all sequels, it would be too much to expect that the fresh impact of the original has been maintained. Yet on its own merits "The Rocks Remain" is a bright adventure among animals, people and places, engagingly written.

Man Who Tries To Leave Self

SECONDS. By David Ely. Pantheon $3.95.

A chilling shudder can be a vivid commentary on the psychology and sociology of modern life. Ely has created such a shudder in words.

The situation is this: A fiftyish New York banker discovers there is a secret organization offering an unique service to wealthy, frustrated men who have come to a dead end so far as their business and family connections are concerned. It gives them a new personality, a second chance in life. For a steep price, of course.

So this banker, given a new outward appearance by plastic surgery and an entirely different identity through expertly forged credentials, becomes a painter named Tony Wilson, and takes up his new life of freedom in California.

Despite the careful preparations, Wilson finds there are some difficult, basic adjustments to be made. The new outer man and the old inner man are at odds. Wilson is tempted to look back. He also discovers that other men nearby, who also have been reconstructed by the mysterious organizations, are watching him nervously.

Wilson learns that he can't go back and he can't go forward. Having cut himself off from the old life, he finds himself at the mercy of the strange, anonymous organization that converted him. There is a rather macabre ending in which Wilson's fate is typical of the ghastly dilemma in which the organization and its clients find themselves.

Altrusa Club Nursery First To Be Licensed

The Altrusa Day Care Center, owned and operated by the Altrusa Club of Monroe and West Monroe, the past week became the first nursery in the area to be approved and licensed by the State Department of Public Welfare.

Mrs. B. L. Meek, chairman of the committee handling the nursery, and Mrs. Sara Nowell, director, have received the license from Mrs. Mary Evelyn Parker, comissioner, State Department of Public Welfare.

In an accompanying letter, Mrs. Parker told Mrs. Meek the center "is a very fine project which is providing a much needed service to the community."

The club chose the nursery as its community project in 1959 under the presidency of Mrs. Thomas Luckett. Working continuously to raise funds and find a location, the club, under the presidency of Mrs. Manning Durham, on July 10, 1961, opened the doors for the first session at 405 North Sixth street, West Monroe. The day care center is for pre-school children of working mothers. Presently, it has children from Calhoun, Ruston, Sterlington, Bastrop and Farmerville, as well as the Twin Cities.

Mrs. Nowell has been with the center since September of 1961. Other members of the staff include Mrs. C. C. Boseley, who has been with the center for three years; and Lucille Davenport and Maxine Cook, maids.

3 Judges Rule Texas Districts Unconstitutional

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A three-judge federal court, by a 2-1 vote, ruled Saturday that Texas statutes setting up the state's current congressional districts are unconstitutional.

State and county officials were enjoined from holding party primaries or general elections under the present districting laws.

Some court observers said the ruling, if it stands, possibly means all 23 Texas congressmen must run at large in 1964 unless Gov. John B. Connally calls a special session of the Legislature to redistrict the state.

URGES IMPEACHMENT

Mississippi GOP Hits RFK, Johnson

The Republican candidate said Kennedy and Johnson were "guilty of a conspiracy which resulted in the death of two men, the injury of scores of others, and near destruction of our state university."

The charge came in an address to a group of persons here as Phillips stumped the state in preparation for the Nov. 5 general election.

"When all the people of Mississippi know the full story," Phillips said, "they will rise up in righteous indignation and demand Johnson's defeat.

"When the people of this nation realize Kennedy's part in it, they should call for his impeachment," Phillips said.

Newsweek Magazine recently printed what it said was portions of a transcript of a conversation between Gov. Ross Barnett, Johnson and Kennedy about the admission of Negro James H. Meredith into the University of Mississippi.

Two persons were killed in rioting that followed Meredith's admission into the university from which he has graduated.

The magazine article, the second publication charging telephone conversations between the three top officials, said an agreement was made for the admission of Meredith.

Phillips said "Johnson perpetrated a fraud on the people of Mississippi by pretending to defend them against their enemies. He did the people of this state the greatest disservice he could have done them and capitalized on it politically."

Johnson and Barnett have denied any such deal was made. Johnson won the Democratic nomination for governor by campaigning heavily on his stand at Oxford where he physically blocked the entrance of Meredith on one of his attempts to enter the university.

Americans Risk Lives Frequently

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Young Americans risk their lives hundreds of times a year in South Viet Nam's endless, ugly civil war.

They are being fired upon and they are shooting. They are piloting bombers and they are operating and riding the swarms of helicopters which support the Vietnamese army and which are highly vulnerable to ground attack.

They don't grumble. But they see things and they comment on them. Mingling with them, you hear such things as these:

—Outside a fortified village in a province northwest of Saigon, the Vietnamese captain of an outpost—a political appointee of the palace in Saigon—was getting himself drunk while — outside one of the villages he was supposed to be protecting — Viet Cong Communists were holding a propaganda rally to get recruits. Americans, so goes this report, moved in and shot seven of the Communists.

—U.S. helicopters were alerted for a big operation against the Viet Cong VCs, they call them here—and arrived on the scheduled morning. Once there they found out that the district captain, without telling the Americans, had called the whole thing off.

Running the Scales

There used to be a saying back in the days when themes from Tchaikowsky's better known symphonies and piano concerts were revamped as pop tunes:

"Everybody's making money except Tchaikowsky."

Well, they've got the melancholy Russian in a play now. At least, the character's name is "Tchaik." He is featured in a twin bill by Peter Shaffer, "The Private Ear," and "The Public Eye."

Unlike the "cast of almost thousands" which is now featured in Little Theatre of Monroe's "Auntie Mame" for the organization's 150th production, this Broadway twin bill uses only three characters per play.

Naturally, the musician-type fellow stars in the "Private Ear." He is nicknamed "Tchaik" because of his interest in the Russian composer. But he also becomes interested in a girl. Being a timid sort, he asks his friend to entertain her until he can muster up his full charm with the aid of his namesake's music for background.

The modern-day romantic should have dug deeper into musical history. It seems P. I. Tchaikowsky himself had no luck with the ladies, except for one who used to mail him checks. He never saw her, and to keep his batting average at a low figure, she also stopped sending the money.

Needless to say, when the girl arrives at "Tchaik's" apartment for dinner, she isn't much interested in his music or his attempts to be friendly. And just to end this part of today's discussion on a gloomy note, we might add that such a heavy-hearted soul would be happier at home with Tchaiokowsky's fourth or sixth symphonies than he ever would be with the shallower object of his yearnings. Or do we take our play characters too seriously?

IN PROSPECT

Many questions as to "what's booked for sure" on the local Northeast State series sent us looking at the records this week. The season will open on Sunday afternoon, November 10, Puccini's opera, "Tosca," sung in English by the Boris Goldovsky company. The next attraction listed thus far brackets the Thanksgiving - Christmas rush by a wide margin. Duo-pianists Whittemore and Lowe will resume the season with a concert slated for February 11. Also featured in February will be the Chicago Opera Ballet, scheduled for the 27th.

A major symphony orchestra will probably get a March booking, and the Broadway musical "Camelot" seems fairly certain for mid-April. These last two numbers are the ones which may be described as "still in the works."

IN MOTION

Shreveport's Little Theatre opened a six-day run of "Take Her, She's Mine," Thursday at the Margaret Place Theatre. The first three nights were reported sellouts. Activity will resume Tuesday through Thursday.

The Louisiana Tech Concert Association will open November 4, with a concert by the United States Air Force Band. The Norman Luboff Choir is slated for December 5. Following the Christmas season, an unusually colorful Mexican folklore and dancing group will continue the season. We'll have more on the Tech season in subsequent columns.

Meanwhile, if you've wondering whatever became of retired Metropolitan Opera diva Lily Pons, who charmed an audience here in the mid-1950's, she's now in Texas and was a guest speaker at the Tyler Rose Festival this past Friday.

Police Activity In Twin Cities Remains Quiet

Police activity in the Twin Cities remained generally quiet Saturday, but for a spate of traffic violations.

Charged in Monroe with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless drving was 34-year-old Negro Kenneth Gray, 902 Washington. Free under bond of $475, Gray was apprehended at 1 a.m. near Sixth and Wood Streets.

Another Monroe Negro, 20-year-old Perry A. McKinley, 3033 Polk St., was free on $110 bond after being charged with theft by check of $5 worth of merchandise.

Apprehended early Saturday on a fugitive warrant was Negro Jean Maxine Derry, 33, of 1102 Ouachita Ave.

In an afternoon auto-pedestrian accident, Monroe police were investigating what was described as "very minor" injury to three-year-old Carl Ashing, 1008 S. 2nd St. Negro Hardie W. Beasley, 65, of Grayson, told officers the child ran into the side of his truck.

In West Monroe Saturday afternoon, these names appeared on the police blotter:

John Wesley Morris, 35, College Point, Ga., and Negroes Gallo L. Matthews, 46, Montgomery, Ala., Louis Jefferson, 14, 216 Railroad Ave., and Hubert Jenkins, 36, 1316 Olive St., Monroe, all charged with speeding; and Barney R. Tidwell, 24, 416 S. Riverfront, West Monroe, charged with simple battery.

John L. Weaver, 27, 105 Lazarre, West Monroe, was booked for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving, and Ronnie Gibson, 30-year-old Negro, of Dubach, was charged with DWI, carrying a concealed weapon and no driver's license.

Also in West Monroe, 31-year-old Albert Bonk of New York City was charged with reckless driving and causing a wreck in an unusual two-car chain of crashes.

Officers said Bonk, driving on Cypress near its intersection with Register, struck the rear of a car driven by Mrs. Violet May, 103 Parkwood, West Monroe.

Driving away from the scene a moment later, he is alleged to have forced a second car into the curb, causing further damage. The second vehicle was driven by Wardell Ballentine, 31, Negro, of Alexandria.

Bonk was stopped approximately a half hour after the incidents by Rayville authorities, just outside that city, and returned to West Monroe. His bond was set at $1,000.

Actors Foil 'Revenooers' In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The Living Theater, padlocked by tax agents Thursday, came back to life Saturday night with a bootleg performance of "The Brig."

The cast sneaked past Internal Revenue Service agents and three of the patrons climbed a ladder lowered from the second-floor theater.

Julian Beck, founder of the avant-guarde theater that's gained considerable renown in its 12 years, crawled through a hole from a public corridor to the theater's projection room. He let the cast in through a fire door.

The agents heard about it and found the cast crouched over jars of peanut butter and jelly and a loaf of bread in a cage on the stage, the setting for "The Brig." It has to do with life in a Navy prison and got generally good reviews at its opening May 15.

Planning Group Meets Monday

The area is bounded on the east and west by North Sixth and North Seventh Streets and on the north and south by Rochelle Avenue and an alley between Auburn and Roselawn Avenues.

WHITE HARVEST

FIELDS OF WHITE like this one have been commonplace in the area for a number of weeks, but harvesters soon will have all of them reduced to darker hues.

An abundant area cotton crop has brought on a harvest rush that has swamped gins. Automation, improved cropping practices, and favorable weather teamed to speed this operation which will provide a major tonic for area economy. Some agriculturists estimate the value of the district crop at around $64 - million. Here are some views of the white harvest from fields to market.

Machinery to a major extent has replaced the hand picking operations which were commonplace on area farms a few years ago. This is one of the changes which has contributed to speeding up of harvest. Hand picking still is done on some farms, usually in the early phases of harvest and where use of machinery is not practical.

News-Star-World Endorse Kennon For Governor

Judge Kennon's record as Governor in 1952-56 not only demonstrates his qualifications for another term in that post, but makes him the only provenly qualified candidate in the present race — a man who already has shown what he can do as Louisiana's Chief Executive.

He is a genuine conservative who has been in the trenches fighting the wars against federal and state socialism for more than a decade — not a Johnny-Come-Lately like some of his chief opponents.

The News-Star—World have neither endorsed nor specifically opposed Mr. Kennon in any of his past political ventures. But we supported virtually all of his major statewide programs as Governor. Our differences with him were chiefly on individual and localized issues; not on his broad and intelligently planned achievements of statewide benefit.

Spectacular Tax Record

Mr. Kennon's tax record as Governor was spectacular.

His first step on taking office was to abolish completely the 2 cents per gallon gasoline tax imposed by Governor Earl K. Long in 1949 as part of a series of big tax hiking bills which were written with Senator Russell B. Long — now chief political sponsor of Rep. Gillis Long for Governor — as the professionally retained legal counsel. (Gubernatorial Candidate John McKeithen co-authored these tax hike bills.)

This was the first time, to our knowledge, that any Governor of Louisiana completely abolished a major form of tax revenue.

Governor Kennon then cut state income taxes in a manner to bring an average saving of $100 per year for every family in the state.

Next, he pushed through the Legislature the constitutional amendment under which new taxes or tax increases now must receive a two-thirds majority in both the House and the Senate for passage. (This is the amendment co-authored by Caddo's Rep. Jasper Smith of Vivian, who now is seeking reelection to the House.)

This Kennon amendment has saved the taxpayers of Louisiana literally tens of millions of dollars. Specifically it prevented most of the tax hikes which Earl Long attempted in his second term — 1956 1960. It successfully blocked the efforts of Governor Jimmie Davis in his present term to increase the sales tax by $40,000,000.

Highway Reorganization

Governor Kennon's reorganization of the state's highway system gained overwhelming approval among the people of Louisiana through passage of constitutional amendments he proposed. When he became Governor, Louisiana highway bonds had a poor national credit rating and could be sold only at unusually high rates of interest. The Highway Department was a political plum orchard permeated with incompetence and waste. The taxpayers were putting out $1.50 to $1.75 — and sometimes close to $2.00 - for each one dollar of actual highway construction - due to overhead and carrying costs created through a disrupted administrative system.

Governor Kennon called in top men of Louisiana State University's Department of Commerce and employed a firm nationally noted for its analyses of highway needs in various states. These two groups, in a year's work, drew up a long - range program to completely reorganize the Highway Department and to put it on a pay-as-you-go basis. A special Joint Legislative Committee under State Senator James Sparks of Monroe drew the necessary legislative acts and constitutional amendments — all of which were passed. It was the biggest highway department upheaval and improvement in any state in years.

For the first time in its history, Louisiana had a real long-range highway program with dedicated revenue and with a national highway bond rating that still is one of the best in the country.

Unfortunately, Governor Long sabotaged parts of this program. The people of Louisiana can feel certain that it will be brought back into its full strength if Mr. Kennon again becomes Governor; all parts of the state—including North Louisiana, which has suffered in recent years — will have a fair share of highway construction and maintenance, with a dollar's worth of highways for each tax dollar spent.

Splendid Prison Reform

The revolutionary program of state prison reform enacted under Governor Kennon is magnificent testimony to his competence and character in handling humanitarian problems. When he became Governor, the Angola State Penitentiary was one of the nation's prison hellholes. Teenage boys were crowded into rows of cells also crowded with sex perverts. There was no organized plan for rehabilitation of first offenders. Dozens of prisoners had severed their Achilles (ankle) tendons to avoid slave work.

At the Governor's insistence, the Legislature appropriated several millions of dollars to make of Angola a clean and decent place for both punishment and rehabilitation. Narcotics, sex perversion and other disgraces came to an end. The Louisiana prison system was on the way to becoming one of the best in the country. Again — unfortunately — neither Governor Long nor Governor Davis carried on with this program. Re - establishment of it is part of Mr. Kennon's plans if he is elected.

The Kennon administration's attitude on taxes, on fiscal operation, on education, on state sovereignty, on highways, and on public health and welfare attracted new industry to Louisiana in a manner to create 30,000 permanent new jobs during his four years in office — a total that is greater than the number of permanent new jobs created during the Long and Davis administrations combined.

Under him came the constitutional amendment enabling municipalities to issue self-liquidating bonds to bring in new industries. Shreveport's $10,000,000 Beaird (America Machine and Foundry) is being built this way. When Governor Kennon went out of office he left the largest State Treasury surplus in Louisiana's history — $61,627,763.36.

His Opponents' Records

What Louisiana needs in the Governor's chair for the next four years is a man provenly conservative by his record and inherent philosophies—not a Johnny-Come-Lately who has traveled the paths of Trumanism, Adlai Stevensonism, or Kennedyism in the past and now asks the people to forget and forgive. We need men who saw the evils of the Democratic Party's Washington Welfare Statism as it was born and shunned it from the start; not men who swallowed sugar-coated socialism and now seek to regurgitate.

Let's take a look at the records of Mr. Kennon as compared to the three candidates concededly forming his chief opposition — Rep. Gillis Long, Chep Morrison, and Public Service Commissioner John McKeithen:

Gillis Long

Gillis Long now says he will not support President Kennedy in 1964. He opposes the President's "Negro rights" legislation.

But, throughout his term in the House of Representatives, Gillis Long has been, and is now, an Assistant Whip in the Democratic Party in the House. He is assistant to the ultra-liberal and 100 per cent pro-Kennedy Whip, Rep. Hale Boggs of New Orleans.

Gillis Long was elected to this post by the Louisiana and Mississippi delegations.

This does not mean that Gillis Long is a presidential messenger boy or a push - button administration voter. He is not.

But he is a part of the functioning structure of the Kennedy national Democratic Party in the House of Representatives at Washington. He has under his jurisdiction the House Democratic Party delegations from both Louisiana and Mississippi. It is his job to keep Mr. Boggs, the Whip, and the other Kennedy leaders informed as to the political thinking of the Louisiana and Mississippi members.

Further, we do not recall any speeches in the House by Gillis Long denouncing President Kennedy's Cuba invasion fiasco of April, 1961, or the complete Kennedy backdown from the originally strong stand against Khrushchev in Cuba last fall — a backdown which has made Cuba a powerful Russian military base 90 miles off our shores, presumably from now to eternity. Nor do we recall any criticism of the Kennedy administration by Gillis Long until after his name was tossed into the gubernatorial ring.

Gillis Long has the public endorsement of the Kennedy national Democratic Party's National Committeeman for Louisiana, who made numerous speeches for the Kennedy - Johnson ticket in 1960.

Chep Morrison

When Chep Morrison was casting his vote within the Louisiana delegation at the 1952 Democratic National Convention, first for the late Senator Estes Kefauver for the nomination, and then for Adlai Stevenson, Governor Kennon was leading the Louisiana delegation out of the convention at 2 a.m. in protest against the nomination of either man. All others in the Louisiana delegation supported a true southern conservative, Senator Dick Russell of Georgia.

When Chep Morrison campaigned in Louisiana for Adlai Stevenson for President, and thus for a continuation of Trumanism in the federal government, Governor Kennon was out on the stump campaigning for defeat of Mr. Stevenson and for an end to Trumanism.

When Chep Morrison was campaigning for the Kennedy - Johnson ticket in 1960, Mr. Kennon would have no part of that ticket.

When Chep Morrison was President Kennedy's special Ambassador to Latin America (to the Organization of American States) and was supporting the President on both the Kennedy-created Cuba invasion fiasco and the President's backdown from Khrushchev on Cuba last fall, Mr. Kennon was denouncing these weaknesses and failures of the Kennedy administration.

Mr. Morrison now says he does not approve all of the Kennedy administration. But he accepted his reward (the Ambassadorship) for his services to the Kennedy - Johnson ticket in 1960 and he remained in that post as a loyal political servant to the President until the moment of announcement of his candidacy for Governor.

John McKeithen

Gillis Long has stated repeatedly that John McKeithen, while now denouncing Kennedyism, is "smeared with Kennedy lipstick." What he means is that Mr. McKeithen had a part in the Kennedy campaign in North Louisiana in 1960. For one thing, he was the man who introduced Senator Russell Long as chief speaker at a Monroe $30-a-plate dinner to raise funds for the 1960 Kennedy- Democratic campaign. He also introduced Senator Ellender at the same dinner.

If anyone wants to know who is "the Kennedy candidate" for Governor, it has to be one of the above trio — Morrison, McKeithen, Long.

All of the four candidates named are estimable citizens. Each served with distinction overseas in World War II. Each holds or has held public office with much credit to himself.

But only one of them has a clean, clear, far-back record of always fighting for conservatism against the forces of Trumanism, Stevensonism, and Kennedyism. That man is Robert F. Kennon. The rest are Johnny-Come-Latelys.

And, when it comes to conservatism, it is worth noting that Rep. Otto Passman of the Fifth (Monroe) Congressional District, the man who as a House sub-committee chairman lopped a billion dollars off of President Kennedy's foreign aid authorization demands, is out supporting and helping raise funds for Mr. Kennon.

How Machines Will Go

Mr. Kennon never has had support of political machines or bloc voting organizations in any of his campaigns for public office. He does not have such support now.

One New Orleans political machine is supporting Gillis Long. The other is supporting Chep Morrison. But many independent lieutenants in both the machines have pulled out and are joining Mr. Kennon — as individuals.

The Negro vote in Louisiana usually is a bloc vote. More than 150,000 Negroes are registered as Democrats. Traditionally, the Longs always have controlled the Negro vote, statewide. Chep Morrison always has controlled it in New Orleans elections in which he was a candidate. He received almost unanimous Negro support for Governor in 1959 - 1960.

Several persons who are running for state office in the coming Democratic primaries but who are not on any gubernatorial ticket have told the News-Star — World that they expect the Negro vote to go about 60 per cent for Mr. Morrison and 40 per cent for Mr. Long. The Kennedys themselves could influence this vote through their strength within the national professional Negro organizations.

Organized labor has endorsed no one for the first primary. It includes Mr. Kennon among candidates it opposes. Among the candidates it does not oppose are Mr. Long and Mr. Morrison and Mr. McKeithen.

Mr. Morrison had the vote of some individual unions in South Louisiana in 1960 — notably the Jimmy Hoffa Teamsters Union. But union men listen to the reports of their political committees and vote as they judge best.

Lack of machine and bloc voting support will make Mr. Kennon's campaign row a bit tougher to hoe. But he hoed it successfuly under the same conditions in 1952 when he won a landslide second primary victory over the Earl Long forces after gaining a runoff post in a spectacular nine-man first primary.

(The News-Star — World will discuss candidates for other state posts in later editorials)

Kennedys Fear Robert Kennon Says Representative Passman

By OTTO PASSMAN
Member of Congress,
Fifth Congressional
District of Louisiana

I represent the Fifth District in the Congress of the United States.

I am supporting Judge Robert F. Kennon for the governorship.

Each voter in Louisiana must make his or her own decision as to whom he will support. My purpose is to furnish you with information which I believe you will appreciate, inasmuch as our goal is to elect public officials with records that support their claims.

You may wonder why a United States Congressman would actively support the candidacy of a person for the governorship of Louisiana. My answer is that the encroachment of the federal government has reached into almost every agency of our State. We are on the verge of losing many of our precious heritages; therefore, I consider it my duty to become active in this campaign and to direct your attention to the dangerous designs on the federal trestle board — plans that would, if put into effect, finally dissolve state sovereignty and many precious liberties of the individual.

That is one of the principal reasons I am supporting Judge Kennon. The record is abundantly clear that he is the only candidate in this race for Governor who had the foresight to recognize as early as 1952 that the National Democratic Party was changing rapidly into a socialistic party. He recognized also that something had to be done to check the socialistic trend, and his efforts in your behalf have continued ever since.

Since 1952, Judge Kennon has used his energy and talents to familiarize the people of Louisiana with the socialistic plans of the National Democratic Party.

Ladies and gentlemen, I, too, acted in the Jeffersonian Democratic tradition when I walked out of the 1960 National Democratic Convention in Los Angeles, to which I was a delegate.

There are those who would like to be elected to the governorship of Louisiana and who now say that they, too, recognize the dangers to individual freedoms and Constitutional government in the plans being pushed by the Kennedy brothers.

They say that they want to be forgiven for supporting Kennedy for President in 1960 and that in the future they will provide, or follow, the kind of leadership which has been consistently displayed by Judge Kennon. These people, lately reformed, should be forgiven, but I question the wisdom of rewarding them with the governorship of Louisiana for their lack of foresight. Remember, they, too, were in position to know the facts.

The vital matters of protecting our precious American heritage and electing those to public office who will fight for us in this endeavor are of paramount importance.

During my talks with Judge Kennon in recent years, he has inspired me and given me encouragement through some of my most trying times in Washington.

My heart was filled with joy when I listened to this great man, in the presence of Mrs. Mary Evelyn Parker and other members of the Louisiana Welfare Board, when he stood before the bureaucrats in Washington, shook his finger in their faces and said, "I defy you to carry out your nefarious designs to prostitute the Welfare Department of my State." By his acts, words and wisdom, he protected the interests of the decent people of our State and prevented the Welfare Department from degenerating into complete racial chaos.

The present administration in Washington fears Judge Kennon because his record is one of acts, not just words. They know what to expect when he is again elected Governor of Louisiana.

I question whether we would have such a proposal as now faces us in the so-called "civil rights" bill to place unprecedented powers over the people's lives in the hands of the President, had we had more leaders to act with courage and determination as did Governor Kennon.

In these trying and troubled times, we need Judge Kennon, with his foresight, wisdom, sincerity and courage, as Governor of Louisiana. He realizes well what will happen, not only to the people of Louisiana, but to Americans everywhere if this trend is not halted.

I have not found one blemish to mar Judge Kennon's character, to cast doubt on his high integrity, or to detract from his performance as Governor. Judge Kennon's record in public and private life has endured untarnished. His record as Governor stands as a landmark of integrity and ideal leadership. He greatly improved the State's institutions. He enforced the State's laws. He reduced taxes substantially. He balanced the budget. He improved the services of all departments of our State, and when he departed the Governor's office, he left tens of millions of dollars in the State's treasury.

Judge Kennon, during his tenure as Governor, recognized that the laboring people, the poorer people, were paying too much tax to the State. So, he reduced taxes in several categories for the benefit of the lower-income people. He increased the income tax exemption from $2,500 to $5,000 per couple. He reduced the gasoline tax by two cents per gallon. He removed all taxes from household furniture.

He also recognized that economic growth in Louisiana could double the State's revenues within the span of a few years. So, he successfully sponsored legislation and had it "nailed down" by Constitutional Amendment, that neither he, himself, nor his successors could increase your taxes without a two-thirds vote of the Legislature. Subsequent to his leaving office, several attempts have been made to increase taxes, but each time the proposal has failed.

Judge Kennon's tax reductions resulted in a saving for every family in the state of over $1,400. No Governor of Louisiana has done so much for the laboring people as Governor Kennon.

The aged people of Louisiana, always dear to the heart of Judge Kennon, received two pension increases during his tenure. These senior citizens will again have his sympathetic support.

Governor Kennon, who is a firm believer in home rule, again pledges his support to local law enforcement officers to help them enforce state laws. It is my sincere belief that every good citizen of Louisiana re-

News-Star-World Endorse Kennon For Governor

Judge Kennon's record as Governor in 1952-56 not only demonstrates his qualifications for another term in that post, but makes him the only provenly qualified candidate in the present race — a man who already has shown what he can do as Louisiana's Chief Executive.

He is a genuine conservative who has been in the trenches fighting the wars against federal and state socialism for more than a decade — not a Johnny-Come-Lately like some of his chief opponents.

The News-Star—World have neither endorsed nor specifically opposed Mr. Kennon in any of his past political ventures. But we supported virtually all of his major statewide programs as Governor. Our differences with him were chiefly on individual and localized issues; not on his broad and intelligently planned achievements of statewide benefit.

Spectacular Tax Record

Mr. Kennon's tax record as Governor was spectacular.

His first step on taking office was to abolish completely the 2 cents per gallon gasoline tax imposed by Governor Earl K. Long in 1949 as part of a series of big tax hiking bills which were written with Senator Russell B. Long — now chief political sponsor of Rep. Gillis Long for Governor — as the professionally retained legal counsel. (Gubernatorial Candidate John McKeithen co-authored these tax hike bills.)

This was the first time, to our knowledge, that any Governor of Louisiana completely abolished a major form of tax revenue.

Governor Kennon then cut state income taxes in a manner to bring an average saving of $100 per year for every family in the state.

Next, he pushed through the Legislature the constitutional amendment under which new taxes or tax increases now must receive a two-thirds majority in both the House and the Senate for passage. (This is the amendment co-authored by Caddo's Rep. Jasper Smith of Vivian, who now is seeking reelection to the House.)

This Kennon amendment has saved the taxpayers of Louisiana literally tens of millions of dollars. Specifically it prevented most of the tax hikes which Earl Long attempted in his second term — 1956 1960. It successfully blocked the efforts of Governor Jimmie Davis in his present term to increase the sales tax by $40,000,000.

Highway Reorganization

Governor Kennon's reorganization of the state's highway system gained overwhelming approval among the people of Louisiana through passage of constitutional amendments he proposed. When he became Governor, Louisiana highway bonds had a poor national credit rating and could be sold only at unusually high rates of interest. The Highway Department was a political plum orchard permeated with incompetence and waste. The taxpayers were putting out $1.50 to $1.75 — and sometimes close to $2.00 - for each one dollar of actual highway construction - due to overhead and carrying costs created through a disrupted administrative system.

Governor Kennon called in top men of Louisiana State University's Department of Commerce and employed a firm nationally noted for its analyses of highway needs in various states. These two groups, in a year's work, drew up a long - range program to completely reorganize the Highway Department and to put it on a pay-as-you-go basis. A special Joint Legislative Committee under State Senator James Sparks of Monroe drew the necessary legislative acts and constitutional amendments — all of which were passed. It was the biggest highway department upheaval and improvement in any state in years.

For the first time in its history, Louisiana had a real long-range highway program with dedicated revenue and with a national highway bond rating that still is one of the best in the country.

Unfortunately, Governor Long sabotaged parts of this program. The people of Louisiana can feel certain that it will be brought back into its full strength if Mr. Kennon again becomes Governor; all parts of the state—including North Louisiana, which has suffered in recent years — will have a fair share of highway construction and maintenance, with a dollar's worth of highways for each tax dollar spent.

Splendid Prison Reform

The revolutionary program of state prison reform enacted under Governor Kennon is magnificent testimony to his competence and character in handling humanitarian problems. When he became Governor, the Angola State Penitentiary was one of the nation's prison hellholes. Teenage boys were crowded into rows of cells also crowded with sex perverts. There was no organized plan for rehabilitation of first offenders. Dozens of prisoners had severed their Achilles (ankle) tendons to avoid slave work.

At the Governor's insistence, the Legislature appropriated several millions of dollars to make of Angola a clean and decent place for both punishment and rehabilitation. Narcotics, sex perversion and other disgraces came to an end. The Louisiana prison system was on the way to becoming one of the best in the country. Again — unfortunately — neither Governor Long nor Governor Davis carried on with this program. Re - establishment of it is part of Mr. Kennon's plans if he is elected.

The Kennon administration's attitude on taxes, on fiscal operation, on education, on state sovereignty, on highways, and on public health and welfare attracted new industry to Louisiana in a manner to create 30,000 permanent new jobs during his four years in office — a total that is greater than the number of permanent new jobs created during the Long and Davis administrations combined.

Under him came the constitutional amendment enabling municipalities to issue self-liquidating bonds to bring in new industries. Shreveport's $10,000,000 Beaird (America Machine and Foundry) is being built this way. When Governor Kennon went out of office he left the largest State Treasury surplus in Louisiana's history — $61,627,-763.36.

His Opponents' Records

What Louisiana needs in the Governor's chair for the next four years is a man provenly conservative by his record and inherent philosophies—not a Johnny-Come-Lately who has traveled the paths of Trumanism, Adlai Stevensonism, or Kennedyism in the past and now asks the people to forget and forgive. We need men who saw the evils of the Democratic Party's Washington Welfare Statism as it was born and shunned it from the start; not men who swallowed sugar-coated socialism and now seek to regurgitate.

Let's take a look at the records of Mr. Kennon as compared to the three candidates concededly forming his chief opposition — Rep. Gillis Long, Chep Morrison, and Public Service Commissioner John McKeithen:

Gillis Long

Gillis Long now says he will not support President Kennedy in 1964. He opposes the President's "Negro rights" legislation.

But, throughout his term in the House of Representatives, Gillis Long has been, and is now, an Assistant Whip in the Democratic Party in the House. He is assistant to the ultra-liberal and 100 per cent pro-Kennedy Whip, Rep. Hale Boggs of New Orleans.

Gillis Long was elected to this post by the Louisiana and Mississippi delegations.

This does not mean that Gillis Long is a presidential messenger boy or a push - button administration voter. He is not.

But he is a part of the functioning structure of the Kennedy national Democratic Party in the House of Representatives at Washington. He has under his jurisdiction the House Democratic Party delegations from both Louisiana and Mississippi. It is his job to keep Mr. Boggs, the Whip, and the other Kennedy leaders informed as to the political thinking of the Louisiana and Mississippi members.

Further, we do not recall any speeches in the House by Gillis Long denouncing President Kennedy's Cuba invasion fiasco of April, 1961, or the complete Kennedy backdown from the originally strong stand against Khrushchev in Cuba last fall — a backdown which has made Cuba a powerful Russian military base 90 miles off our shores, presumably from now to eternity. Nor do we recall any criticism of the Kennedy administration by Gillis Long until after his name was tossed into the gubernatorial ring.

Gillis Long has the public endorsement of the Kennedy national Democratic Party's National Committeeman for Louisiana, who made numerous speeches for the Kennedy - Johnson ticket in 1960.

Chep Morrison

When Chep Morrison was casting his vote within the Louisiana delegation at the 1952 Democratic National Convention, first for the late Senator Estes Kefauver for the nomination, and then for Adlai Stevenson, Governor Kennon was leading the Louisiana delegation out of the convention at 2 a.m. in protest against the nomination of either man. All others in the Louisiana delegation supported a true southern conservative, Senator Dick Russell of Georgia.

When Chep Morrison campaigned in Louisiana for Adlai Stevenson for President, and thus for a continuation of Trumanism in the federal government, Governor Kennon was out on the stump campaigning for defeat of Mr. Stevenson and for an end to Trumanism.

When Chep Morrison was campaigning for the Kennedy - Johnson ticket in 1960, Mr. Kennon would have no part of that ticket.

When Chep Morrison was President Kennedy's special Ambassador to Latin America (to the Organization of American States) and was supporting the President on both the Kennedy-created Cuba invasion fiasco and the President's backdown from Khrushchev on Cuba last fall, Mr. Kennon was denouncing these weaknesses and failures of the Kennedy administration.

Mr. Morrison now says he does not approve all of the Kennedy administration. But he accepted his reward (the Ambassadorship) for his services to the Kennedy - Johnson ticket in 1960 and he remained in that post as a loyal political servant to the President until the moment of announcement of his candidacy for Governor.

John McKeithen

Gillis Long has stated repeatedly that John McKeithen, while now denouncing Kennedyism, is "smeared with Kennedy lipstick." What he means is that Mr. McKeithen had a part in the Kennedy campaign in North Louisiana in 1960. For one thing, he was the man who introduced Senator Russell Long as chief speaker at a Monroe $30-a-plate dinner to raise funds for the 1960 Kennedy-Democratic campaign. He also introduced Senator Ellender at the same dinner.

If anyone wants to know who is "the Kennedy candidate" for Governor, it has to be one of the above trio — Morrison, McKeithen, Long.

All of the four candidates named are estimable citizens. Each served with distinction overseas in World War II. Each holds or has held public office with much credit to himself.

But only one of them has a clean, clear, far-back record of always fighting for conservatism against the forces of Trumanism, Stevensonism, and Kennedyism. That man is Robert F. Kennon. The rest are Johnny-Come-Latelys.

And, when it comes to conservatism, it is worth noting that Rep. Otto Passman of the Fifth (Monroe) Congressional District, the man who as a House sub-committee chairman lopped a billion dollars off of President Kennedy's foreign aid authorization demands, is out supporting and helping raise funds for Mr. Kennon.

How Machines Will Go

Mr. Kennon never has had support of political machines or bloc voting organizations in any of his campaigns for public office. He does not have such support now.

One New Orleans political machine is supporting Gillis Long. The other is supporting Chep Morrison. But many independent lieutenants in both the machines have pulled out and are joining Mr. Kennon — as individuals.

The Negro vote in Louisiana usually is a bloc vote. More than 150,000 Negroes are registered as Democrats. Traditionally, the Longs always have controlled the Negro vote, statewide. Chep Morrison always has controlled it in New Orleans elections in which he was a candidate. He received almost unanimous Negro support for Governor in 1959 - 1960.

Several persons who are running for state office in the coming Democratic primaries but who are not on any gubernatorial ticket have told the News-Star — World that they expect the Negro vote to go about 60 per cent for Mr. Morrison and 40 per cent for Mr. Long. The Kennedys themselves could influence this vote through their strength within the national professional Negro organizations.

Organized labor has endorsed no one for the first primary. It includes Mr. Kennon among candidates it opposes. Among the candidates it does not oppose are Mr. Long and Mr. Morrison and Mr. McKeithen.

Mr. Morrison had the vote of some individual unions in South Louisiana in 1960 — notably the Jimmy Hoffa Teamsters Union. But union men listen to the reports of their political committees and vote as they judge best.

Lack of machine and bloc voting support will make Mr. Kennon's campaign row a bit tougher to hoe. But he hoed it successfuly under the same conditions in 1952 when he won a landslide second primary victory over the Earl Long forces after gaining a runoff post in a spectacular nine-man first primary.

(The News-Star — World will discuss candidates for other state posts in later editorials)

Kennedys Fear Robert Kennon Says Representative Passman

By OTTO PASSMAN
Member of Congress,
Fifth Congressional
District of Louisiana

I represent the Fifth District in the Congress of the United States.

I am supporting Judge Robert F. Kennon for the governorship.

Each voter in Louisiana must make his or her own decision as to whom he will support. My purpose is to furnish you with information which I believe you will appreciate, inasmuch as our goal is to elect public officials with records that support their claims.

You may wonder why a United States Congressman would actively support the candidacy of a person for the governorship of Louisiana. My answer is that the encroachment of the federal government has reached into almost every agency of our State. We are on the verge of losing many of our precious heritages; therefore, I consider it my duty to become active in this campaign and to direct your attention to the dangerous designs on the federal trestle board — plans that would, if put into effect, finally dissolve state sovereignty and many precious liberties of the individual.

That is one of the principal reasons I am supporting Judge Kennon. The record is abundantly clear that he is the only candidate in this race for Governor who had the foresight to recognize as early as 1952 that the National Democratic Party was changing rapidly into a socialistic party. He recognized also that something had to be done to check the socialistic trend, and his efforts in your behalf have continued ever since.

Since 1952, Judge Kennon has used his energy and talents to familiarize the people of Louisiana with the socialistic plans of the National Democratic Party.

Ladies and gentlemen, I, too, acted in the Jeffersonian Democratic tradition when I walked out of the 1960 National Democratic Convention in Los Angeles, to which I was a delegate.

There are those who would like to be elected to the governorship of Louisiana and who now say that they, too, recognize the dangers to individual freedoms and Constitutional government in the plans being pushed by the Kennedy brothers.

They say that they want to be forgiven for supporting Kennedy for President in 1960 and that in the future they will provide, or follow, the kind of leadership which has been consistently displayed by Judge Kennon. These people, lately reformed, should be forgiven, but I question the wisdom of rewarding them with the governorship of Louisiana for their lack of foresight. Remember, they, too, were in position to know the facts.

The vital matters of protecting our precious American heritage and electing those to public office who will fight for us in this endeavor are of paramount importance.

During my talks with Judge Kennon in recent years, he has inspired me and given me encouragement through some of my most trying times in Washington.

My heart was filled with joy when I listened to this great man, in the presence of Mrs. Mary Evelyn Parker and other members of the Louisiana Welfare Board, when he stood before the bureaucrats in Washington, shook his finger in their faces and said, "I defy you to carry out your nefarious designs to prostitute the Welfare Department of my State." By his acts, words and wisdom, he protected the interests of the decent people of our State and prevented the Welfare Department from degenerating into complete racial chaos.

The present administration in Washington fears Judge Kennon because his record is one of acts, not just words. They know what to expect when he is again elected Governor of Louisiana.

I question whether we would have such a proposal as now faces us in the so-called "civil rights" bill to place unprecedented powers over the people's lives in the hands of the President, had we had more leaders to act with courage and determination as did Governor Kennon.

In these trying and troubled times, we need Judge Kennon, with his foresight, wisdom, sincerity and courage, as Governor of Louisiana. He realizes well what will happen, not only to the people of Louisiana, but to Americans everywhere if this trend is not halted.

I have not found one blemish to mar Judge Kennon's character, to cast doubt on his high integrity, or to detract from his performance as Governor. Judge Kennon's record in public and private life has endured untarnished. His record as Governor stands as a landmark of integrity and ideal leadership. He greatly improved the State's institutions. He enforced the State's laws. He reduced taxes substantially. He balanced the budget. He improved the services of all departments of our State, and when he departed the Governor's office, he left tens of millions of dollars in the State's treasury.

Judge Kennon, during his tenure as Governor, recognized that the laboring people, the poorer people, were paying too much tax to the State. So, he reduced taxes in several categories for the benefit of the lower-income people. He increased the income tax exemption from $2,500 to $5,000 per couple. He reduced the gasoline tax by two cents per gallon. He removed all taxes from household furniture.

So, he successfully sponsored legislation and had it "nailed down" by Constitutional Amendment, that neither he, himself, nor his successors could increase your taxes without a two-thirds vote of the Legislature. Subsequent to his leaving office, several attempts have been made to increase taxes, but each time the proposal has failed.

Judge Kennon's tax reductions resulted in a saving for every family in the state of over $1,400. No Governor of Louisiana has done so much for the laboring people as Governor Kennon.

The aged people of Louisiana, always dear to the heart of Judge Kennon, received two pension increases during his tenure. These senior citizens will again have his sympathetic support.

Governor Kennon, who is a firm believer in home rule, again pledges his support to local law enforcement officers to help them enforce state laws. It is my sincere belief that every good citizen of Louisiana re-

The Week In Focus

by Jack Gates

The Visit Of Tito

In 1957, when President Dwight D. Eisenhower planned to entertain President Tito of Communist Yugoslavia at the White House. He cancelled the plan after being barraged with protests from members of Congress and various civic groups.

One of the strongest congressional critics at that time was Rep. John W. McCormack (D. of Mass.), who is currently speaker of the House. He said then — "The people of America are tolerant in having heads of some governments visit our country, but to invite Tito to come here is asking too much of them. Whatever dealings our country has had with Tito have been purely on the basis of expediency, and his dealings with our country has been on the same basis. An official invitation to visit the U. S. would be resented by the American people, and properly so. They would consider it an insult. There are many other reasons why Tito should not be invited."

TITO

Approximately six years after that slashing attack, Tito arrived in Washington and was given a red-carpet welcome to the White House by a Democratic president, John F. Kennedy.

So far, Rep. McCormack has voiced no opinion on the visit.

However, Kennedy, in greeting the portly Yugoslav leader on Thursday, said it was "most important" that countries separated by an ocean and with difference in political philosophy try to know the policies of the nations of the world to lessen the danger of war, adding he was certain Tito would be "warmly and hospitably treated" during his 10-day tour of the nation.

Tito, playing the game like a confidence man, has walked a swinging line between east and west and has wound up obtaining tremendous amounts of money from both. Yet, he has emphasized he is with the east in case of a major dispute.

More On The Wheat Deal

The sale of wheat plan approved by President Kennedy is expected to bring on a harvest of trouble — and particularly in Latin America. In fact, the State Department is already girding itself for the problem — that is of persuading Latin Americans to keep on restricting their trade with the Soviet bloc.

As a result of the U.S. Soviet deal, domestic pressure is heavy on some Latin governments to swap overflowing stocks of coffee, cocoa, cotton and meat for East European oil products, machinery and even certain grains.

Brazil's block trade will exceed $175 million this year. In Colombia, the powerful National Coffee federation is financing purchases by municipalities of equipment from bloc suppliers in order to encourage greater communist imports of Colombian coffee. In Chile, the left is scoring points by crowing that the country has to lay out scarce dollars for non-Cuban sugar when, if it were not for U.S. pressure, it could barter with Russia for Cuban sugar.

In Argentina, whose beef shipments to Britain have recently slipped 100,000 tons, there are now hopes of making up the loss with Iron Curtain sales.

MUNDT

In Washington, Sen. Karl Mundt wrote: "Does the benefit to our country and to the free world pale to insignificance as compared to the benefit realized by the Soviet Union through receipt of a sorely needed commodity to shore up its economy at the weakest point and to allow the Communists to avoid diverting efforts from a variety of tactics, such as subversion, infiltration and guerrilla warfare, aimed at world domination?"

Little Known Facts Here And There

Mrs. John F. Kennedy has returned home after a two-week vacation in the Mediterranean area. The tour probably will have some political repercussions. For example, Rep. Oliver P. Bolton of Ohio has questioned whether it was proper for Mrs. Kennedy "to accept the lavish hospitality of a foreign individual whose shipping interests . . receive favored treatment from the U.S. government." His statement referred to Aristotle Onassis, Greek ship owner on whose yacht "Christina" Mrs. Kennedy sailed the Mediterranean.

REPORTS say that South Carolina Senator Strom Thurmond, who was Dixiecrat nominee for president in 1948, might lead a Southern Democrat bolt to the GOP if Barry Goldwater is the Republican nominee next year . . .

AUSTRALIAN police believe they have developed a simple, foolproof method of telling if a male driver is really intoxicated. They point out that a man must have complete balance to remove his pants while standing up, so they ask him to do just that. If he can't stand on one foot to remove the other pants leg, it's a safe bet he's had a few drinks too many . . .

U.S. BANKS now clear some 15 billion checks a year made from 50 million board feet of timber. . .

THE CHICAGO committee on alcoholism reports the modern woman alcoholic is high on the social ladder — refuting the lingering belief that liquor problems abound mainly in the lower economic levels. Female drinkers include civic leaders, mothers of large families, moneyed wives and girls with important jobs. The committee says one out of six alcoholics is now a woman and the proportion is growing. . .

AN INTERESTING statement by Columnist Morris Ryskind in the Los Angeles Times: "If I find myself unable to co-exist peacefully with the current Whiz Kids, it's because I am firmly convinced that, when they are indicted before the bar of history, they will be condemned. Nor will those of us who forgot our heritage and stood by without protest escape judgment. For it is one thing to let youngsters play house — even White House — but, unless they are watched by a baby-sitter who will not endure errant mischief, the damage may be irreparable.". . .

An Interesting Poll

Which one is right? A Republican survey conducted by Newsletter reports that despite the conclusions of pollster Louis Harris that President Kennedy enjoys overwhelming public approval of his handling of foreign affairs and considerable support for his domestic programs, its survey turned up opposite results.

Based on a sampling of nearly 40 Republican Congressmen, in which each was asked to rate voter reaction in his district on the same issues covered by the Harris poll, the Newsletter (GOP) survey turned up sharply differing results.

Discrepancies such as these were turned up, the survey said: Where Harris showed 76 percent of the people favoring Kennedy's handling of the Berlin problem, the GOP poll shows 72 percent do not. Where Harris claims 62 percent of the people are impressed with Kennedy's dealing with Khrushchev, the GOP poll shows that 74 percent are not. Where Harris reports only 53 percent disagreeing with JFK's handling of the Cuban problem, GOP congressmen report 82 percent were critical. Where Harris claims 63 percent of the people believe JFK is furnishing free world leadership, the Republican poll shows 65 percent do not.

Incidentally, Harris was Kennedy's personal pollster before syndicating his surveys to newspapers across the country.

The National Scene

SENATOR Barry Goldwater invaded President Kennedy's hometown of Boston the past week and called on Democratic conservatives to rally around the Republican colors. Said Goldwater — "Even the liberals have to recognize that what we have now in Washington is a would-be king and a want-to-be dynasty, not a president and a party" . . .

THE ADMINISTRATION'S $11-billion tax ran into tough going before the Senate Finance Committee. The bill has already been approved by the House and since September 25, the Senate group has been studying it. Even before Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon could start testimony, two Senators lashed out at the bill. Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee charged that a telegram sent out William Keel, director of research for the National Democratic Party, might even be an effort to purge him. He said the telegram received in a mountain county in Tennessee said that the average family of four with a $10,000 yearly income would receive a cut of $436 per year in taxes. Said Gore: "This is not true. The average cut would be only $202 per year." At the same time, Chairman Harry F. Byrd charged that "recently public statements have the characteristics of pressure propaganda and were highly unfair to his committee. Both Gore and Byrd are against the bill . . .

GORE

WHAT HAD been expected for sometime — the fact that the Kennedys didn't really want a real strong civil rights bill — emerged into the public the past week. It came when Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy appealed to the House Judiciary Committee to trim out a section of the proposal in order to win Republican support. He urged a retreat to the seven-part bill recommended by the administration last June which was greatly expanded by a subcommittee dominated by liberal Democrats. It was reported that Kennedy specifically opposed extending the voting rights section to state elections, and the addition to the public accommodations section. The subcommittee's reliance on the 14th ammendment to the Constitution had made it much too broad, he said, and said it could be construed to cover law firms, medical clinics, private schools, apartment houses and many other kinds of enterprise that were not intended to be covered by the administration. Negro leaders cried doublecross at Kennedy . . .

MEANWHILE, Senator Norris Cotton of New Hampshire charged that the Kennedy administration inserted the controversial public accommodations section in its civil rights package merely to pressure southern legislators into accepting other sections of the bill. Cotton claimed the administration does not really expect Congress to pass the measure which would outlaw discrimination in restaurants, hotels, lunch counters, motels and other public facilities. . .

FORMER DIRECTOR of the Central Intelligence Agency—Allen W. Dulles — says he thinks the Soviet Union is getting the best of spy-swapping with the United States. "We have a situation where it is easier for the Soviets to plant spies in a free society than it is for the free world to put them in a police society where travelers need papers and movement is restricted." Dulles expressed fear the Russians could arrest innocent American tourists and hold them as a "backlog" to rescue their own professional spies . . .

AT HARRISBURG, Pa., Former President Dwight Eisenhower says the wide scope of the Kennedy administration's civil rights bill has imperiled passage of any civil rights reforms this year. He urged that each reform be handled separately . . .

GOP Presidential Race

Liberal Republicans — casting about for a candidate to stop the whistling progress of Senator Barry Goldwater toward the 1964 presidential nomination-apparently have lost a prospect. Governor William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania went about as far as a politician could be expected to go the past week in saying that he not only is not a candidate for the nomination, but would buck any effort to draft him.

SCRANTON

Meanwhile, Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said that there is not a presidential possibility on the Republican horizon whom he could not support fervently. Thus he made plain that the current front-runner in the polls, who is Goldwater, most probably would get his backing if nominated.

In another area of the race, some Republican strategists say Richard M. Nixon could come up with the 1964 GOP nomination. This could occur only if a deadlock developed. However, most concede that the way things are going in their party right now the improbable is at least impossible.

At The United Nations

The U. N. Assembly debate on the annual proposal to admit Communist China took an embarrassing turn for the Soviet Union. Peking's forces are concentrating on the dispute between the Chinese Reds and Russia.

Nationalist China's Liu Chieh set the tone, saying Peking's warlike stand in the ideological dispute provided ample proof that the UN should keep the Chinese Reds out. The Soviets, who are giving only token support to the bid for admission, sat glumly as Liu quoted from various Soviet publications which he said contained Kremlin admissions that the Red Chinese regime is "aggressive and predatory."

In another development, the General Assembly outlawed the orbiting of nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction in outer space. The approved resolution was an outgrowth of talks between Soviet, U. S., and British foreign ministers in New York. The U. S. and Russia had earlier agreed on the ban and both nations hailed the UN action.

The South Viet Nam Puzzle

The United States and South Viet Nam are supposed to be allies in a bloody war against the Communists in Southeast Asia, but udging from the varied developments last week, a question develops as to just who is fighting who.

In Raleigh, N. C., Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, sister-in-law of President Ngo Dinh Diem, said that any cut in U. S. aid to her country would delay victory against the communists. She added — "I have the impression that a few people in the State Department are trying to put a muzzle on our stomachs."

Earlier in Washington, she had complained that the Kennedy administration "shows real cruelness" in ignoring her visit here. Mrs. Nhu is on a three week visit to the U. S. to tell the South Viet Nam story. So far she has been ignored by officials of the U. S. government.

Meanwhile, the U. S., from all apparent acts, is attempting to overthrow the Nhu government, or at least make changes in it. Since August 21 the U. S. has halted its commercial import program, at least partly to show presumably its indignation over the smashing of Buddhist pagodas by government police in a dispute between the Buddhists and Nhus. At the same time, there is talk of completely eliminating foreign aid to that nation, although presumably Communist Yugoslvia will continue to receive it.

In Saigon, Ngo Dinh Nhu, powerful and controversial brother of South Viet Nam's president says Buddhists under interrogation have identified U. S. Central Intelligence Agents and other Americans who constantly prodded them to attempt to overthrow the government. Nhu said CIA agents "may have received orders to do it against their will."

At the same time, the war goes on with no end in sight as more and more Americans die.

On The Foreign Scene

There were two changes in government in Europe the past week.

In West Germany, the long Konrad Adenauer era ended. In Adenauer's place, Ludwig Erhard, who directed West Germany's miraculous postwar economic recovery, was elected chancellor. Erhard has been economics minister all through the Adenauer tenture as West Germany's only chancellor since the federal republic was created in 1949. Adenauer, 87, made no secret that he thought Erhard incapable of filling his shoes and retired only under extreme pressure from other leaders of his party.

Erhard has promised to follow Adenauer's basic foreign policies of support for the Western Alliance, demand for German reunification and reconciliation with France.

ERHARD

As Adenauer stepped down, Parliament declared that he "has earned the gratitude of the fatherland."

In England, in a surprise move Lord Home was named to be Britian's new prime minister. The soft-spoken but incisive foreign secretary, age 60, was appointed by Queen Elizabeth to be her first minister at the urging of retiring Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The choice of the Scottish peer, who advocates a firm but realistic policy toward the Soviet of health reasons.

At It Again

Louisiana Rep. F. Edward Hebert is in another tangle with the defense department. The past week, just as he announced the opening of hearings on a bill that would set the term of a chief of staff at four years with no chance for reappointment, Hebert charged that the Joint Chiefs of Staff tell Congress only what their civilian bosses instruct them to say. The proposal was introduced by Rep. Carl Vinson of Georgia and clearly stems from congressional anger at President Kennedy's refusal to reappoint Adm. George Anderson as chief of naval operations and the President's decision to reappoint Gen. Curtis LeMay as Air Force chief of staff for only one year instead of the usual two. Both had bucked the views of the civilian chiefs in the defense department.

During the hearing, three retired generals — Nathan F. Twining, Thomas D. White, and George H. Decker, recommended that the length of service for all five members of that top military command be specified by Congress. All said not knowing how long they will serve hangs like a "sword of Damocles" over the nation's top military commanders.

Their views conflicted with the views expressed by Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara and Deputy Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric, who contended that passage of the bill would tie the President's hands in picking his advisers. Both claimed members were free to speak their minds.

Meanwhile, in another surprise move Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth abruptly resigned the past week. He gave as his reason — the usual one — pressing private business.

However, it has been known for sometime that the Navy believes U. S. atomic know-how is moving ahead so rapidly that before long it will be dollar-foolish to build surface warships with fuel oil engines rather than nuclear power plants.

Now it is believed that Korth's abrupt resignation is the tipoff that McNamara probably will deny the Navy permission to install nuclear engines in a new aircraft carrier for which Congress last year voted $280 million. The Navy has wanted the carrier to be a nuclear powered one.

Various committees are expected to look into the resignation as well as some other McNamara activities. The least that will result will be another major dispute between certain congressmen and the "Whiz Kid" from Detroit.

Unsung Hero Still Active In Space

By RALPH DIGHTON

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — You'd think that after 18 years in one of the world's most dangerous professions, three of them spent pushing history's hottest airplane to new speed and altitude marks, any reasonable man would be ready to take it easy for the rest of his life.

But "reasonable" doesn't fit Joseph A. Walker.

Walker, 42, chief research pilot for the U.S. Space Agency, makes a living flying the X15 rocket plane. He has gone just about as high—67 miles—and as fast—4,104 miles an hour — as current model X15s will take him.

For Walker that's not enough.

With the impatience of a kid promised a new bike for Christmas, Walker is counting the days until he can get his hands on a new X15 that will fly even higher and faster.

MAY BE PRESENT

It could be a Christmas present. The new X15—really an old one cracked up by another pilot and modified during repairs to reach 75 miles and 6,000 m.p.h. —should be ready for its first flight tests by year's end.

Asked if he really wants to be the first to take the new X15 upstairs, Walker grins and replies, "Man, who wouldn't?"

It has never occurred to this rugged six-footer, whose idea of "an outing with the family" is to take his two older sons for a climb up 14,000-foot Mt. Whitney, that a lot of people wouldn't want his job.

To Walker, flying the X15 is the climax to 18 years as a test pilot. And of the top men, Walker is regarded as the best.

One view of Walker comes from Charles Littleton, X15 crew chief who has worked with the pilot since 1955—the year of Walker's only serious accident.

On Aug. 8, 1955, Walker climbed into the cockpit of an early rocket ship, the X1A. The tiny craft, shackled inside the open bomb bay of a B29, was hauled up to 31,000 feet.

Littleton, who was standing in the bomb bay over the rocket ship, recalls, "The blast blew me forward, up between the pilot and co-pilot of the B29. I scrambled back to the bay to help pull off the canopy and get Joe out of there.

"We had to disconnect his oxygen to pull him up, but Joe stayed in the cockpit trying to unbolt his ejection seat. It was a new type at the time, modified for the X1A, and he wanted to save it.

"Joe was turning blue from lack of oxygen, but he didn't seem to be scared—his expression never changed.

"We were all waiting for another explosion in the X1A, and if it came it probably would wreck the B29 too. We finally pulled Joe out of the cockpit and jettisoned the X1A."

Littleton, who has been "knocking around airplanes since 1935," says "I have never seen anyone like that guy. I don't think you can scare him—he has no nervous system."

Maj. Robert Rushworth, Air Force pilot assigned to fly the X15, says Walker is "one of the most talented men I've ever worked with—he's quite by himself in over-all experience."

But, says Rushworth, Walker has "a peculiar trait: Despite his reputation for being easy going and jovial, people who know him know there are times when he doesn't want to fool around, when he's all business."

His boss, Paul Bikle, says this is in large measure responsible for the fact that there never has been a fatal accident, and only one hospitalizing injury, in almost 100 X15 flights flown or supervised by Walker.

Walker jokes about this trait in himself. He once told a newsman he called off a flight in an ailing X15 "because of a wide yellow streak down my back."

Walker has brought the X15 back with its windshield cracked and its steel skin, in his words, "popping like a hot stove" from the 1,200-degree heat of atmospheric re-entry.

JOKES ABOUT IT

Walker jokes about that, too. In typical fashion he described one flight as "a cliff-hanger all the way."

Then he went back up again a couple weeks later and flew the same mission. He came back with the window cracked again. But that wasn't recklessness. Walker was trying to see how much the X15 could stand—hunting weaknesses to be remedied in the design of future craft.

By way of relaxation Walker likes to bowl and a friend says he consistently scores between 180 and 200.

Walker's trim, pretty ex-school teacher wife, Grace, used to go with him on pack trips, but now finds herself tied down by Joe, 4, and Elizabeth, 2. Family representation on outings is limited to Jim, 11, who wants to be a flier "just like Dad," and Tom, 13, who wants to be a lawyer.

The Walkers live in a large redwood house in nearby Lancaster that Joe built himself.

Walker won a B. A. in physics from Washington and Jefferson College in 1942. Last year the school gave him an honorary degree of doctor of aeronautical sciences for practical research into pioneering new areas of flight.

AT WORK

After World War II, in which he earned the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with seven Oak Leaf clusters as a P38 fighter pilot, Walker went to work at the space agency's Lewis Research Center in Cleveland, Ohio.

There he was given an extremely hazardous job: Icing research.

RELAXING from his job as X15 test pilot, Joseph A. Walker plays pinochle with his wife at their home in Lancaster near Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. To keep Joey, 4, and Buff (Elizabeth), 2, the younger two of their four children, from interrupting, the parents gave them a deck to play with, too. Joe built their redwood house back in the days when government test pilots weren't as well paid as today. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

Kennedys Fear Kennon Rep. Passman Says

spects Governor Kennon for the high integrity and great moral fortitude he displayed in enforcing the laws of our state.

By his approach to our State's problems, Governor Kennon attracted industry to Louisiana and our private enterprise payrolls skyrocketed.

After he is elected Governor this time, Judge Kennon will repeat this type of performance in even greater measure and with more significant benefits, because of his experience and his contacts with industrial leaders throughout the United States and their confidence in him and the type of good government his election assures.

Governor Kennon's record is unsurpassed in the annals of Louisiana history, his integrity is unimpeachable, and his character is of the highest. Nevertheless, there have been, and doubtless will continue to be during the remainder of this campaign, insinuations fostered and spread by those who would like to create question marks in the minds of the people. But I am confident that you will stick with the facts, recognize the smokescreens for what they are, and form your opinions and cast your votes upon the basis of truth.

May I also assure you that Francis Dugas, Governor Kennon's running mate, was selected with great care. He possesses unusual qualifications and high integrity. He will walk side by side with and support Governor Kennon to the fullest in bringing to Louisiana four years of good government.

Finally, my friends, won't you please resolve, here and now, that you will support Governor Kennon. We need him more than you realize. May I remind you to be cautious of a knocker. A knocker never wins; a winner never knocks.

Judge Kennon is not a knocker; he never utters an uncomplimentary word about an opponent; his life is too full of accomplishments for that. I invite you to listen to his telecasts, they will fill your heart with joy and make you realize as I do that with Judge Kennon as our Governor, Louisiana will have a brighter day.

The Week In Focus

The Visit Of Tito

In 1957, when President Dwight D. Eisenhower planned to entertain President Tito of Communist Yugoslavia at the White House. He cancelled the plan after being barraged with protests from members of Congress and various civic groups.

One of the strongest congressional critics at that time was Rep. John W. McCormack (D. of Mass.), who is currently speaker of the House. He said then — "The people of America are tolerant in having heads of some governments visit our country, but to invite Tito to come here is asking too much of them. Whatever dealings our country has had with Tito have been purely on the basis of expediency, and his dealings with our country has been on the same basis. An official invitation to visit the U. S. would be resented by the American people, and properly so. They would consider it an insult. There are many other reasons why Tito should not be invited."

TITO

Approximately six years after that slashing attack, Tito arrived in Washington and was given a red-carpet welcome to the White House by a Democratic president, John F. Kennedy.

So far, Rep. McCormack has voiced no opinion on the visit.

However, Kennedy, in greeting the portly Yugoslav leader on Thursday, said it was "most important" that countries separated by an ocean and with difference in political philosophy try to know the policies of the nations of the world to lessen the danger of war, adding he was certain Tito would be "warmly and hospitably treated" during his 10-day tour of the nation.

Tito, playing the game like a confidence man, has walked a swinging line between east and west and has wound up obtaining tremendous amounts of money from both. Yet, he has emphasized he is with the east in case of a major dispute.

More On The Wheat Deal

The sale of wheat plan approved by President Kennedy is expected to bring on a harvest of trouble — and particularly in Latin America. In fact, the State Department is already girding itself for the problem — that is of persuading Latin Americans to keep on restricting their trade with the Soviet bloc.

As a result of the U.S. Soviet deal, domestic pressure is heavy on some Latin governments to swap overflowing stocks of coffee, cocoa, cotton and meat for East European oil products, machinery and even certain grains.

Brazil's block trade will exceed $175 million this year. In Colombia, the powerful National Coffee federation is financing purchases by municipalities of equipment from bloc suppliers in order to encourage greater communist imports of Colombian coffee. In Chile, the left is scoring points by crowing that the country has to lay out scarce dollars for non-Cuban sugar when, if it were not for U.S. pressure, it could barter with Russia for Cuban sugar.

In Argentina, whose beef shipments to Britain have recently slipped 100,000 tons, there are now hopes of making up the loss with Iron Curtain sales.

MUNDT

In Washington, Sen. Karl Mundt wrote: "Does the benefit to our country and to the free world pale to insignificance as compared to the benefit realized by the Soviet Union through receipt of a sorely needed commodity to shore up its economy at the weakest point and to allow the Communists to avoid diverting efforts from a variety of tactics, such as subversion, infiltration and guerrilla warfare, aimed at world domination?"

Little Known Facts Here And There

Mrs. John F. Kennedy has returned home after a two-week vacation in the Mediterranean area. The tour probably will have some political repercussions. For example, Rep. Oliver P. Bolton of Ohio has questioned whether it was proper for Mrs. Kennedy "to accept the lavish hospitality of a foreign individual whose shipping interests . . receive favored treatment from the U.S. government." His statement referred to Aristotle Onassis, Greek ship owner on whose yacht "Christina" Mrs. Kennedy sailed the Mediterranean.

REPORTS say that South Carolina Senator Strom Thurmond, who was Dixiecrat nominee for president in 1948, might lead a Southern Democrat bolt to the GOP if Barry Goldwater is the Republican nominee next year . . .

AUSTRALIAN police believe they have developed a simple, foolproof method of telling if a male driver is really intoxicated. They point out that a man must have complete balance to remove his pants while standing up, so they ask him to do just that. If he can't stand on one foot to remove the other pants leg, it's a safe bet he's had a few drinks too many . . .

U.S. BANKS now clear some 15 billion checks a year made from 50 million board feet of timber. . .

THE CHICAGO committee on alcoholism reports the modern woman alcoholic is high on the social ladder — refuting the lingering belief that liquor problems abound mainly in the lower economic levels. Female drinkers include civic leaders, mothers of large families, moneyed wives and girls with important jobs. The committee says one out of six alcoholics is now a woman and the proportion is growing. . .

AN INTERESTING statement by Columnist Morris Ryskind in the Los Angeles Times: "If I find myself unable to co-exist peacefully with the current Whiz Kids, it's because I am firmly convinced that, when they are indicted before the bar of history, they will be condemned. Nor will those of us who forgot our heritage and stood by without protest escape judgment. For it is one thing to let youngsters play house — even White House — but, unless they are watched by a baby-sitter who will not endure errant mischief, the damage may be irreparable.". . .

An Interesting Poll

Which one is right? A Republican survey conducted by Newsletter reports that despite the conclusions of pollster Louis Harris that President Kennedy enjoys overwhelming public approval of his handling of foreign affairs and considerable support for his domestic programs, its survey turned up opposite results.

Based on a sampling of nearly 40 Republican Congressmen, in which each was asked to rate voter reaction in his district on the same issues covered by the Harris poll, the Newsletter (GOP) survey turned up sharply differing results.

Discrepancies such as these were turned up, the survey said: Where Harris showed 76 percent of the people favoring Kennedy's handling of the Berlin problem, the GOP poll shows 72 percent do not. Where Harris claims 62 percent of the people are impressed with Kennedy's dealing with Khrushchev, the GOP poll shows that 74 percent are not. Where Harris reports only 53 percent disagreeing with JFK's handling of the Cuban problem, GOP congressmen report 82 percent were critical. Where Harris claims 63 percent of the people believe JFK is furnishing free world leadership, the Republican poll shows 65 percent do not.

Incidentally, Harris was Kennedy's personal pollster before syndicating his surveys to newspapers across the country.

The National Scene

SENATOR Barry Goldwater invaded President Kennedy's hometown of Boston the past week and called on Democratic conservatives to rally around the Republican colors. Said Goldwater — "Even the liberals have to recognize that what we have now in Washington is a would-be king and a want-to-be dynasty, not a president and a party" . . . .

THE ADMINISTRATION'S $11-billion tax ran into tough going before the Senate Finance Committee. The bill has already been approved by the House and since September 25, the Senate group has been studying it. Even before Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon could start testimony, two Senators lashed out at the bill. Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee charged that a telegram sent out William Keel, director of research for the National Democratic Party, might even be an effort to purge him. He said the telegram received in a mountain county in Tennessee said that the average family of four with a $10,000 yearly income would receive a cut of $436 per year in taxes. Said Gore: "This is not true. The average cut would be only $202 per year." At the same time, Chairman Harry F. Byrd charged that "recently public statements have the characteristics of pressure propaganda and were highly unfair to his committee. Both Gore and Byrd are against the bill . . .

GORE

WHAT HAD been expected for sometime — the fact that the Kennedys didn't really want a real strong civil rights bill — emerged into the public the past week. It came when Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy appealed to the House Judiciary Committee to trim out a section of the proposal in order to win Republican support. He urged a retreat to the seven-part bill recommended by the administration last June which was greatly expanded by a subcommittee dominated by liberal Democrats. It was reported that Kennedy specifically opposed extending the voting rights section to state elections, and the addition to the public accommodations section. The subcommittee's reliance on the 14th ammendment to the Constitution had made it much too broad, he said, and said it could be construed to cover law firms, medical clinics, private schools, apartment houses and many other kinds of enterprise that were not intended to be covered by the administration. Negro leaders cried doublecross at Kennedy . . .

MEANWHILE, Senator Norris Cotton of New Hampshire charged that the Kennedy administration inserted the controversial public accommodations section in its civil rights package merely to pressure southern legislators into accepting other sections of the bill. Cotton claimed the administration does not really expect Congress to pass the measure which would outlaw discrimination in restaurants, hotels, lunch counters, motels and other public facilities. . .

FORMER DIRECTOR of the Central Intelligence Agency—Allen W. Dulles — says he thinks the Soviet Union is getting the best of spy-swapping with the United States. "We have a situation where it is easier for the Soviets to plant spies in a free society than it is for the free world to put them in a police society where travelers need papers and movement is restricted." Dulles expressed fear the Russians could arrest innocent American tourists and hold them as a "backlog" to rescue their own professional spies . . .

TWO SENTRY satellites are racing through space on a secrecy-cloaked mission aimed at perfecting a foolproof means of policing the limited nuclear test ban treaty. Their assignments: Determine the feasibility of using satellite-born instruments to detect nuclear explosions as far as 200 million miles from earth. The recent treaty signed by Russia and the U.S. forbids such blasts in outer space . . .

AT HARRISBURG, Pa., Former President Dwight Eisenhower says the wide scope of the Kennedy administration's civil rights bill has imperiled passage of any civil rights reforms this year. He urged that each reform be handled separately . . .

GOP Presidential Race

Liberal Republicans — casting about for a candidate to stop the whistling progress of Senator Barry Goldwater toward the 1964 presidential nomination-apparently have lost a prospect. Governor William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania went about as far as a politician could be expected to go the past week in saying that he not only is not a candidate for the nomination, but would buck any effort to draft him.

SCRANTON

Meanwhile, Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said that there is not a presidential possibility on the Republican horizon whom he could not support fervently. Thus he made plain that the current front-runner in the polls, who is Goldwater, most probably would get his backing if nominated.

In another area of the race, some Republican strategists say Richard M. Nixon could come up with the 1964 GOP nomination. This could occur only if a deadlock developed. However, most concede that the way things are going in their party right now the improbable is at least impossible.

At The United Nations

The U. N. Assembly debate on the annual proposal to admit Communist China took an embarrassing turn for the Soviet Union. Peking's forces are concentrating on the dispute between the Chinese Reds and Russia.

It has never occurred to this rugged six-footer, whose idea of "an outing with the family" is to take his two older sons for a climb up 14,000-foot Mt. Whitney, that a lot of people wouldn't want his job.

To Walker, flying the X15 is the climax to 18 years as a test pilot. And of the top men, Walker is regarded as the best.

One view of Walker comes from Charles Littleton, X15 crew chief who has worked with the pilot since 1955—the year of Walker's only serious accident.

On Aug. 8, 1955, Walker climbed into the cockpit of an early rocket ship, the X1A. The tiny craft, shackled inside the open bomb bay of a B29, was hauled up to 31,000 feet.

Littleton, who was standing in the bomb bay over the rocket ship, recalls, "The blast blew me forward, up between the pilot and co-pilot of the B29. I scrambled back to the bay to help pull off the canopy and get Joe out of there.

"We had to disconnect his oxygen to pull him up, but Joe stayed in the cockpit trying to unbolt his ejection seat. It was a new type at the time, modified for the X1A, and he wanted to save it.

"Joe was turning blue from lack of oxygen, but he didn't seem to be scared—his expression never changed.

"We were all waiting for another explosion in the X1A, and if it came it probably would wreck the B29 too. We finally pulled Joe out of the cockpit and jettisoned the X1A."

Littleton, who has been "knocking around airplanes since 1935," says "I have never seen anyone like that guy. I don't think you can scare him—he has no nervous system."

Maj. Robert Rushworth, Air Force pilot assigned to fly the X15, says Walker is "one of the most talented men I've ever worked with—he's quite by himself in over-all experience."

But, says Rushworth, Walker has "a peculiar trait: Despite his reputation for being easy going and jovial, people who know him know there are times when he doesn't want to fool around, when he's all business."

His boss, Paul Bikle, says this is in large measure responsible for the fact that there never has been a fatal accident, and only one hospitalizing injury, in almost 100 X15 flights flown or supervised by Walker.

Walker jokes about this trait in himself. He once told a newsman he called off a flight in an ailing X15 "because of a wide yellow streak down my back."

Walker has brought the X15 back with its windshield cracked and its steel skin, in his words, "popping like a hot stove" from the 1,200-degree heat of atmospheric re-entry.

JOKES ABOUT IT

Walker jokes about that, too. In typical fashion he described one fight as "a cliff-hanger all the way."

Then he went back up again a couple weeks later and flew the same mission. He came back with the window cracked again. But that wasn't recklessness. Walker was trying to see how much the X15 could stand—hunting weaknesses to be remedied in the design of future craft.

By way of relaxation Walker likes to bowl and a friend says he consistently scores between 180 and 200.

Walker's trim, pretty ex-school teacher wife, Grace, used to go with him on pack trips, but now finds herself tied down by Joe, 4, and Elizabeth, 2. Family representation on outings is limited to Jim, 11, who wants to be a flier "just like Dad," and Tom, 13, who wants to be a lawyer.

The Walkers live in a large redwood house in nearby Lancaster that Joe built himself.

Walker won a B. A. in physics from Washington and Jefferson College in 1942. Last year the school gave him an honorary degree of doctor of aeronautical sciences for practical research into pioneering new areas of flight.

AT WORK

After World War II, in which he earned the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with seven Oak Leaf clusters as a P38 fighter pilot, Walker went to work at the space agency's Lewis Research Center in Cleveland, Ohio.

There he was given an extremely hazardous job: Icing research.

RELAXING from his job as X15 test pilot, Joseph A. Walker plays pinochle with his wife at their home in Lancaster near Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. To keep Joey, 4, and Buff (Elizabeth), 2, the younger two of their four children, from interrupting, the parents gave them a deck to play with, too. Joe built their redwood house back in the days when government test pilots weren't as well paid as today. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

Kennedys Fear Kennon Rep. Passman Says

spects Governor Kennon for the high integrity and great moral fortitude he displayed in enforcing the laws of our state.

By his approach to our State's problems, Governor Kennon attracted industry to Louisiana and our private enterprise payrolls skyrocketed.

After he is elected Governor this time, Judge Kennon will repeat this type of performance in even greater measure and with more significant benefits, because of his experience and his contacts with industrial leaders throughout the United States and their confidence in him and the type of good government his election assures.

Governor Kennon's record is unsurpassed in the annals of Louisiana history, his integrity is unimpeachable, and his character is of the highest. Nevertheless, there have been, and doubtless will continue to be during the remainder of this campaign, insinuations fostered and spread by those who would like to create question marks in the minds of the people. But I am confident that you will stick with the facts, recognize the smokescreens for what they are, and form your opinions and cast your votes upon the basis of truth.

May I also assure you that Francis Dugas, Governor Kennon's running mate, was selected with great care. He possesses unusual qualifications and high integrity. He will walk side by side with and support Governor Kennon to the fullest in bringing to Louisiana four years of good government.

Finally, my friends, won't you please resolve, here and now, that you will support Governor Kennon. We need him more than you realize. May I remind you to be cautious of a knocker. A knocker never wins; a winner never knocks.

Judge Kennon is not a knocker; he never utters an uncomplimentary word about an opponent; his life is too full of accomplishments for that. I invite you to listen to his telecasts, they will fill your heart with joy and make you realize as I do that with Judge Kennon as our Governor, Louisiana will have a brighter day.

Story Of U.S. Military Might And The Cuban Crisis

EDITOR'S NOTE — How the United States gathered its military might when Soviet missiles were detected in Cuba can now, one year later, be pulled together and told in better perspective. Confusion, compounded by secrecy, marked the crisis, but there were bright spots, too. Here is an anniversary story of that grave moment in the nation's history.

By BEN PRICE

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — What happened to the 1st Armored Division was typical.

Officially, the 1st Armored has yet to be informed that there was a crisis over Cuba in October 1962.

Yet, it was in attendance on the crisis as part of a campaign of carefully calculated military pressures to force the removal of Soviet missiles from Cuba.

These pressures, so a high-level White House source disclosed, began with the naval quarantine against the introduction of additional bombers or missiles into Cuba.

Failure to obtain the desired result at this level was to be met, so the source said, by a gradual step-up in the level of applied force as needed — total blockade, air assault, and, finally, invasion.

Each Stage

At each stage ample time was to be allowed for the Russians to react to what seemed to be a clear United States determination to rid itself of the Cuban threat.

The graduated force plan was designed to avoid backing the Soviet Union into a corner from which there was no escape without irreparable damage to national pride and prestige.

Clearly, however, Soviet intransigence in the face of the United States' determination could have led to an undeclared naval war, at least, with the possibility of a quick escalation into a nuclear exchange.

The exact story of what the United States was doing and how well it was prepared to do it was surrounded at the time of the crisis by technical evasions, obfuscations and secrecy. It still is to a large extent.

What follows is a first anniversary reconstruction and assessment of the Cuban crisis pieced together from non-classified material available at the Pentagon and elsewhere, chiefly elsewhere.

In a move which caught the United States totally by surprise, the Soviet Union planted 42 medium-range nuclear missiles in Cuba, thereby advancing its military frontiers by 5,000 miles.

But nobody ever mentioned Cuba or crisis officially to the 1st Armored.

The division — "Old Ironsides" — was playing at war across 35 miles of dusty Texas plain when the orders came to move from Ft. Hood to Ft. Stewart, near Savannah, Ga. It was the largest single unit moved during the crisis.

So 15,500 men with 59,641 tons of equipment and supplies moved to Ft. Stewart. The move was called a "mobility exercise" and it cost around $10 million. The troops could only assume the move was connected with Cuba.

But was it? Some of it, at least, appears to have been pure luck.

Early in August both the Air Force and the Navy reported an upsurge in Soviet shipping in Cuba.

No Evidence

At his Aug. 30 news conference, however, President Kennedy said there was no evidence of Soviet troops in Cuba.

On or about Sept. 8 an agent in Cuba reported that at least one nuclear missile had arrived in that Communist-ruled country. His information was so detailed that the Central Intelligence Agency classed it as "hard evidence."

Yet, despite the Sept. 8 report, Lt. Gen. Marshall S. Carter, deputy CIA director, told a congressional committee Sept. 12 that all weapons in Cuba were of a defensive nature.

Carter said there was no reason for the Soviets to put missiles in Cuba since they could fire from the homeland.

By Sept. 21, so the reports go, the CIA had obtained "conclusive" evidence from agents that nuclear missiles had arrived in Cuba.

From mid - September onward, the CIA sought photographic evidence of the missiles' presence, using high-flying U2 planes.

What happened between Sept. 21 and Oct. 14 — if anything — is known only in the White House, the CIA and the Pentagon.

There is some indication, however, that photographs were obtained during this period of missile site construction, but the intelligence community assumed they were for anti-aircraft missiles only.

Further, on six of these days the cloud cover over Cuba prevented the U2s, flying at around 80,000 feet, from obtaining any photographs at all.

Meanwhile the "luck" was coming into play.

Since Aug. 17 the Navy had been engaged in extensive anti-submarine warfare exercises in the Atlantic.

A Fleet

Early in October, a 40 - ship fleet carrying 5,000 Marines had embarked at Norfolk, Va., bound for routine landing exercises on the Caribbean island of Vieques, off San, Juan, Puerto Rico.

On Oct. 14 the Air Force's Tactical Air Command had begun a long planned mobility exercise in which over 1,000 aircraft, 11,000 men and 18,000 tons of equipment were to be moved into Florida by Oct. 20.

Now something happened on the night of Oct. 12 or early Oct. 13. Somebody came to the conclusion that the CIA's U2 surveillance operations were unsatisfactory. There were no flights over Cuba on Oct. 13.

On Oct. 14 the Air Force took over the aerial surveillance of Cuba and returned with the now famous photographs of the Soviet nuclear missiles.

By Oct. 15 the White House, the State Department and the Pentagon were in an uproar over what to do.

On Oct. 19 Kennedy's speech writers began putting together a draft of the statement he was to make Oct. 22.

Indeed, the speech - writers went to work before the Joint Chiefs of Staff got around to advising various commanders that the Cuban situation could lead to military action. That advice was sent out at 8:12 a.m. Oct. 20.

This is not to imply that the joint chiefs were sitting on their hands. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the joint chiefs, felt an emergency was in the making and so advised the Navy, Marines, Army and Air Force on Wednesday, Oct. 17.

For any reasonably astute observer, the Cuban crisis would seem to indicate:

1 There was something woefully wrong with the nation's intelligence operations at the time.

2 The Navy suffered a severe shortage of ships, especially ships for the transport of troops.

The one bright spot was the improvement in the readiness of the so-called conventional war ground forces since the Soviet-inspired demand for the removal of Western troops from Berlin in mid-1961.

These Points

To take up these points in order:

Lt. Gen. Carter of the CIA made the point that there was no reason for the Soviets to place long-range missiles in Cuba.

If the Soviet Union did in fact have enough intercontinental range missiles in the homeland to destroy a goodly portion of the United States in a surprise attack there would be little point in placing missiles in Cuba.

But suppose the Soviet Union had fewer intercontinental range missiles at home than the United States suspected?

Suppose the Soviet Union believed the only way it could achieve missile parity with the United States was to place its shorter range missiles in striking distance of targets they couldn't reach from the homeland?

If such be the case, then the Soviet Cuban operation becomes logical. This implies an overestimate of the Soviet nuclear arsenal to begin with.

There is a further aspect. All U.S. missile and bomber defenses are oriented northward. If the Soviet Union would keep missiles in Cuba, it would force the United States to spend billions on defensive warning measures along the nation's southern frontiers.

As for the ship shortage, the Navy had to use every available transport in the Atlantic to keep the 8,000 Marines afloat—the original Vieques unit plus reinforcements.

Thus, when the 1st Armored was order to undertake amphibious exercises — by battalions and not as a division—the Military Sea Transport Service had to charter four LSTs (landing ships tank)—one Honduran and three Liberian.

To transport an armored division on a combat mission requires 126 LSTs. Even if the 1st Armored had set out for Cuba expecting to land on some peaceful pier, it would have required 45 conventional cargo vessels. The Navy didn't have them available either.

There was, of course, the possibility of using civilian shipping.

IN THE MIDST of the Cuban crisis week a year ago, families evacuated from the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo, Cuba, leave the Navy transport Upshur after arrival at the naval base at Norfolk, Va., Oct. 25, 1962. The ship carried 1,700 military dependents. Evacuation of 2,811 civilians from the base started even before President Kennedy's Oct. 22 speech announcing a naval "quarantine" of Cuba. Six days after President Kennedy had announced a blockade of Cuba in his Oct. 22 speech, the Soviet Union had agreed to remove its nuclear missiles. The U. S. Navy kept up a patrol to check on carrying out of the agreement. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

OVER CUBA

Review Of Showdown Between U. S., Russia

EDITOR'S NOTE — Many changes have taken place in the world and international relationships since the United States' in an eyeball-to-eyeball showdown with the Soviet Union over Cuba a year ago. Here is a review of those days by a veteran Associated Prses foreign affairs analyst, together with a penetrating assessment of how matters stand today.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The crisis broke like a sudden storm. Through six agonizing days, a trembling world stood on the threshhold of nuclear hell.

Even now it is impossible to calculate the full impact of the drama which began a year ago today. But the Soviet-American confrontation over Communist missiles in Cuba surely was one of the most significant and decisive moments of the global cold war.

The nuclear powers, as Secretary of State Dean Rusk was to say months later, for the first time "had a chance to peer into the pit of the inferno" and were required to calculate soberly just what a nuclear exchange might mean. The possibilities were awesome.

Clouds of the crisis began to gather over the Caribbean early in the fall, after Moscow had disclosed an agreement to a Cuban request for new military equipment. Twenty Soviet ships unloaded huge cargoes in Cuba. Thousands of Soviet military personnel arrived in the island.

The United States verified that the Russians had sent nuclear-capable missiles and jet bombers to the Castro regime.

Suddenly, on Oct. 22, President Kennedy imposed a blockade. He called it a "quarantine." Soviet ships would be stopped and searched for offensive cargoes, and the word to U.S. forces was "shoot if necessary."

SIX DAYS

Six tension-packed days followed before Soviet Premier Khrushchev backed down and agreed to dismantle the missile bases in Cuba. By Dec. 7, the United States announced it was satisfied that the 42 medium-range missiles and 42 jet bombers had been removed from Cuban soil. The Soviet troops remained.

Who won and who lost?

The question will be debated for a long time. The full cost for solution of the crisis to both great cold war antagonists cannot be fully assessed. But there was a price on relief from the immediate threat of nuclear war. Both sides likely will make installment payments for many years.

The crisis had effects like these:

—It had a strong bearing on development of Washington-Moscow contacts which led to agreement on a partial nuclear test ban.

—It played a large part in bringing the Chinese - Soviet Communist differences into the daylight glare of world publicity and helped crystallize a split in Communist ranks around the world.

—It made Cuba in some respects a difficult satellite for the Soviet Union.

—It seemed to imply that the United States would coexist with a Communist regime 90 miles from U.S. shores. Premier Khrushchev insisted he had saved the Castro regime by exacting a "no invasion" pledge from President Kennedy.

—The United States cracked down hard on Cuban exile attempts to raid and harass the Cuban regime. The resulting confusion just about destroyed whatever effectiveness the exile organizations had as an anti-Castro force.

Victories in the cold war are elusive things. In the immediate wake of the crisis, the United States had appeared to be the winner. There seemed to be a new respect for America around the world, and a closing of ranks against the Communist drive for world supremacy.

Khrushchev had pictured the United States as too liberal to fight, but suddenly he was faced with the reality of an America which could and would fight if necessary. He backed away, trying unsuccessfully to salvage something: a deal for abandonment of NATO alliance bases in return for the dismantling in Cuba. The United States had the initiative, however, and the U.S.S.R. was unready for the risks involved in standing firm.

Khrushchev did not consult Cuba's Crastro about the dismantling, and Castro pictured himself as humiliated. Clearly he was angry with the Kremlin.

In Peking, the Red Chinese scornfully labeled Khrushchev a coward, the architect of a new Munich, a man who was scared stiff of the United States.

But thousands of Soviet troops remained in Cuba. Some sources estimated the total at about 40,000. The administration at the beginning of the year said the total was about 17,000.

Story Of U.S. Military Might And The Cuban Crisis

EDITOR'S NOTE — How the United States gathered its military might when Soviet missiles were detected in Cuba can now, one year later, be pulled together and told in better perspective. Confusion, compounded by secrecy, marked the crisis, but there were bright spots, too. Here is an anniversary story of that grave moment in the nation's history.

By BEN PRICE

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — What happened to the 1st Armored Division was typical.

Officially, the 1st Armored has yet to be informed that there was a crisis over Cuba in October 1962.

Yet, it was in attendance on the crisis as part of a campaign of carefully calculated military pressures to force the removal of Soviet missiles from Cuba.

These pressures, so a high-level White House source disclosed, began with the naval quarantine against the introduction of additional bombers or missiles into Cuba.

Failure to obtain the desired result at this level was to be met, so the source said, by a gradual step-up in the level of applied force as needed — total blockade, air assault, and, finally, invasion.

Each Stage

At each stage ample time was to be allowed for the Russians to react to what seemed to be a clear United States determination to rid itself of the Cuban threat.

The graduated force plan was designed to avoid backing the Soviet Union into a corner from which there was no escape without irreparable damage to national pride and prestige.

Clearly, however, Soviet intransigence in the face of the United States' determination could have led to an undeclared naval war, at least, with the possibility of a quick escalation into a nuclear exchange.

The exact story of what the United States was doing and how well it was prepared to do it was surrounded at the time of the crisis by technical evasions, obfuscations and secrecy. It still is to a large extent.

What follows is a first anniversary reconstruction and assessment of the Cuban crisis pieced together from non-classified material available at the Pentagon and elsewhere, chiefly elsewhere.

In a move which caught the United States totally by surprise, the Soviet Union planted 42 medium-range nuclear missiles in Cuba, thereby advancing its military frontiers by 5,000 miles.

But nobody ever mentioned Cuba or crisis officially to the 1st Armored.

The division — "Old Ironsides" — was playing at war across 35 miles of dusty Texas plain when the orders came to move from Ft. Hood to Ft. Stewart, near Savannah, Ga. It was the largest single unit moved during the crisis.

So 15,500 men with 59,641 tons of equipment and supplies moved to Ft. Stewart. The move was called a "mobility exercise" and it cost around $10 million. The troops could only assume the move was connected with Cuba.

But was it? Some of it, at least, appears to have been pure luck.

Early in August both the Air Force and the Navy reported an upsurge in Soviet shipping in Cuba.

No Evidence

At his Aug. 30 news conference, however, President Kennedy said there was no evidence of Soviet troops in Cuba.

On or about Sept. 8 an agent in Cuba reported that at least one nuclear missile had arrived in that Communist-ruled country. His information was so detailed that the Central Intelligence Agency classed it as "hard evidence."

Yet, despite the Sept. 8 report, Lt. Gen. Marshall S. Carter, deputy CIA director, told a congressional committee Sept. 12 that all weapons in Cuba were of a defensive nature.

Carter said there was no reason for the Soviets to put missiles in Cuba since they could fire from the homeland.

By Sept. 21, so the reports go, the CIA had obtained "conclusive" evidence from agents that nuclear missiles had arrived in Cuba.

From mid - September onward, the CIA sought photographic evidence of the missiles' presence, using high-flying U2 planes.

What happened between Sept. 21 and Oct. 14 — if anything — is known only in the White House, the CIA and the Pentagon.

There is some indication, however, that photographs were obtained during this period of missile site construction, but the intelligence community assumed they were for anti-aircraft missiles only.

Further, on six of these days the cloud cover over Cuba prevented the U2s, flying at around 80,000 feet, from obtaining any photographs at all.

Meanwhile the "luck" was coming into play.

Since Aug. 17 the Navy had been engaged in extensive anti-submarine warfare exercises in the Atlantic.

A Fleet

Early in October, a 40 - ship fleet carrying 5,000 Marines had embarked at Norfolk, Va., bound for routine landing exercises on the Caribbean island of Vieques, off San, Juan, Puerto Rico.

On Oct. 14 the Air Force's Tactical Air Command had begun a long planned mobility exercise in which over 1,000 aircraft, 11,000 men and 18,000 tons of equipment were to be moved into Florida by Oct. 20.

Now something happened on the night of Oct. 12 or early Oct. 13. Somebody came to the conclusion that the CIA's U2 surveillance operations were unsatisfactory. There were no flights over Cuba on Oct. 13.

On Oct. 14 the Air Force took over the aerial surveillance of Cuba and returned with the now famous photographs of the Soviet nuclear missiles.

By Oct. 15 the White House, the State Department and the Pentagon were in an uproar over what to do.

On Oct. 19 Kennedy's speech writers began putting together a draft of the statement he was to make Oct. 22.

Indeed, the speech - writers went to work before the Joint Chiefs of Staff got around to advising various commanders that the Cuban situation could lead to military action. That advice was sent out at 8:12 a.m. Oct. 20.

This is not to imply that the joint chiefs were sitting on their hands. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the joint chiefs, felt an emergency was in the making and so advised the Navy, Marines, Army and Air Force on Wednesday, Oct. 17.

For any reasonably astute observer, the Cuban crisis would seem to indicate:

1 There was something woefully wrong with the nation's intelligence operations at the time.

2 The Navy suffered a severe shortage of ships, especially ships for the transport of troops.

The one bright spot was the improvement in the readiness of the so-called conventional war ground forces since the Soviet-inspired demand for the removal of Western troops from Berlin in mid-1961.

These Points

To take up these points in order:

Lt. Gen. Carter of the CIA made the point that there was no reason for the Soviets to place long-range missiles in Cuba.

If the Soviet Union did in fact have enough intercontinental range missiles in the homeland to destroy a goodly portion of the United States in a surprise attack there would be little point in placing missiles in Cuba.

But suppose the Soviet Union had fewer intercontinental range missiles at home than the United States suspected?

Suppose the Soviet Union believed the only way it could achieve missile parity with the United States was to place its shorter range missiles in striking distance of targets they couldn't reach from the homeland?

If such be the case, then the Soviet Cuban operation becomes logical. This implies an overestimate of the Soviet nuclear arsenal to begin with.

There is a further aspect. All U.S. missile and bomber defenses are oriented northward. If the Soviet Union would keep missiles in Cuba, it would force the United States to spend billions on defensive warning measures along the nation's southern frontiers.

As for the ship shortage, the Navy had to use every available transport in the Atlantic to keep the 8,000 Marines afloat—the original Vieques unit plus reinforcements.

Thus, when the 1st Armored was order to undertake amphibious exercises — by battalions and not as a division—the Military Sea Transport Service had to charter four LSTs (landing ships tank)—one Honduran and three Liberian.

To transport an armored division on a combat mission requires 126 LSTs. Even if the 1st Armored had set out for Cuba expecting to land on some peaceful pier, it would have required 45 conventional cargo vessels. The Navy didn't have them available either.

There was, of course, the possibility of using civilian shipping.

IN THE MIDST of the Cuban crisis week a year ago, families evacuated from the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo, Cuba, leave the Navy transport Upshur after arrival at the naval base at Norfolk, Va., Oct. 25, 1962. The ship carried 1,700 military dependents. Evacuation of 2,811 civilians from the base started even before President Kennedy's Oct. 22 speech announcing a naval "quarantine" of Cuba. IN THE AFTERMATH of the Cuban crisis in October, 1962, the U.S. destroyer Barry (foreground) intercepts the Russian freighter Anosov, homebound from Cuba, in the Atlantic Nov. 10. Six days after President Kennedy had announced a blockade of Cuba in his Oct. 22 speech, the Soviet Union had agreed to remove its nuclear missiles. The U. S. Navy kept up a patrol to check on carrying out of the agreement. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

OVER CUBA

Review Of Showdown Between U. S., Russia

EDITOR'S NOTE — Many changes have taken place in the world and international relationships since the United States' in an eyeball-to-eyeball showdown with the Soviet Union over Cuba a year ago. Here is a review of those days by a veteran Associated Prses foreign affairs analyst, together with a penetrating assessment of how matters stand today.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The crisis broke like a sudden storm. Through six agonizing days, a trembling world stood on the threshhold of nuclear hell.

Even now it is impossible to calculate the full impact of the drama which began a year ago today. But the Soviet-American confrontation over Communist missiles in Cuba surely was one of the most significant and decisive moments of the global cold war.

The nuclear powers, as Secretary of State Dean Rusk was to say months later, for the first time "had a chance to peer into the pit of the inferno" and were required to calculate soberly just what a nuclear exchange might mean. The possibilities were awesome.

Clouds of the crisis began to gather over the Caribbean early in the fall, after Moscow had disclosed an agreement to a Cuban request for new military equipment. Twenty Soviet ships unloaded huge cargoes in Cuba. Thousands of Soviet military personnel arrived in the island.

The United States verified that the Russians had sent nuclear-capable missiles and jet bombers to the Castro regime.

Suddenly, on Oct. 22, President Kennedy imposed a blockade. He called it a "quarantine." Soviet ships would be stopped and searched for offensive cargoes, and the word to U.S. forces was "shoot if necessary."

SIX DAYS

Six tension-packed days followed before Soviet Premier Khrushchev backed down and agreed to dismantle the missile bases in Cuba. By Dec. 7, the United States announced it was satisfied that the 42 medium-range missiles and 42 jet bombers had been removed from Cuban soil. The Soviet troops remained.

Who won and who lost?

The question will be debated for a long time. The full cost for solution of the crisis to both great cold war antagonists cannot be fully assessed. But there was a price on relief from the immediate threat of nuclear war. Both sides likely will make installment payments for many years.

The crisis had effects like these:

—It had a strong bearing on development of Washington-Moscow contacts which led to agreement on a partial nuclear test ban.

—It played a large part in bringing the Chinese - Soviet Communist differences into the daylight glare of world publicity and helped crystallize a split in Communist ranks around the world.

—It made Cuba in some respects a difficult satellite for the Soviet Union.

—It seemed to imply that the United States would coexist with a Communist regime 90 miles from U.S. shores. Premier Khrushchev insisted he had saved the Castro regime by exacting a "no invasion" pledge from President Kennedy.

—The United States cracked down hard on Cuban exile attempts to raid and harass the Cuban regime. The resulting confusion just about destroyed whatever effectiveness the exile organizations had as an anti-Castro force.

Victories in the cold war are elusive things. In the immediate wake of the crisis, the United States had appeared to be the winner. There seemed to be a new respect for America around the world, and a closing of ranks against the Communist drive for world supremacy.

Khrushchev had pictured the United States as too liberal to fight, but suddenly he was faced with the reality of an America which could and would fight if necessary. He backed away, trying unsuccessfully to salvage something: a deal for abandonment of NATO alliance bases in return for the dismantling in Cuba. The United States had the initiative, however, and the U.S.S.R. was unready for the risks involved in standing firm.

Khrushchev did not consult Cuba's Crastro about the dismantling, and Castro pictured himself as humiliated. Clearly he was angry with the Kremlin.

In Peking, the Red Chinese scornfully labeled Khrushchev a coward, the architect of a new Munich, a man who was scared stiff of the United States.

But thousands of Soviet troops remained in Cuba. Some sources estimated the total at about 40,000. The administration at the beginning of the year said the total was about 17,000.

SMILES ARE IN order as Marines of the Second Battalion, First Marine Regiment, board their troopship, the U.S.S. Okanagan for the trip back to the United States from Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba Dec. 1, 1962. They had been among the first troops rushed to the base during the October week of crisis over Soviet medium - range missiles in Cuba. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

Mighty McNeese Subdues Stubborn Northeast

Bayou Bengals Power Way To 28-7 Triumph Over Kentucky Cats

Cowpokes Settle For Lowest Win

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

Mighty McNeese State rolled up a three touchdown lead, but had to settle for a 20-8 victory over a roused-up Northeast State eleven here Saturday night, the Cowboys' lowest victory margin of the year.

Held to a slim 7-0 first half edge in this Gulf States Conference game played before about 4,000, the unbeaten Cowboys scored one touchdown in each of the last two periods, but had to weather a fierce passing attack mustered by Indian quarterback Bookie Shillcut in the fourth quarter.

Shillcut then passed to Newton from a fake place kick formation for two points to make it 20-8 with 1:50 left in the game.

A 30-yard march after a fumble recovery gave McNeese a 14-0 lead in the third period. Guillory went 11 yards around left end for the score. He also added the extra point after the first two touchdowns.

Big Darrell Lester picked up the third McNeese touchdown, plunging over from a yard out to end a 76 yard drive in the last quarter. Guillory, who had kicked 10 straight extra points this season, missed the PAT attempt.

In the end, it was the bruising running of Lester and halfback Charles Anastasio, plus the quick scampering of quarterback Tommy Thompson behind a great line that told the story. But the Indians gave ground grudgingly and came up with their finest passing attack in some time on the arm of Shillcut.

Taking over after Dennis Trahan's kick was killed at the Tribe three, Shillcut kept to the 12, then hit end Steve Regan on a 20-yarder to the 32 and halfback Alton Thomas to the 44 on two consecutive completions.

With a fourth down at the McNeese 47, fullback Willie Ragan went two yards for the first.

Shillcut then fired to end Jim Love on the 30 and lofted a 25-yarder to Regan at the McNeese five.

After a buck to the four, Newton skirted right end behind a cluster of blockers and cut into the corner of the end zone untouched.

In all Shillcut completed five of eight passes for 82 yards, to gain most of Northeast's 103 yards passing.

Newton paced Indian rushing with 35 yards on eight carries and Ronnie Myrick who came in briefly had 33 on three.

Anastasio and Lester spearheaded the bruising Cowboy ground game which accounted for 271 yards. Anastasio picked up 85 yards on 15 romps and Lester 59 on 16.

Guillory completed three of six passes for 56 yards.

The Cowboys returned the opening kickoff to their 27 and quickly marched down to the Indian 32 before losing the ball on downs.

Northeast's Ragan quick kicked back to the McNeese 37 on first down. The Pokes rambled down to the Indian 25 this time before Anastasio fumbled and Northeast's Wendell Drost recovered.

Northeast got one first down, then kicked to the Cowboy 35, where McNeese promptly uncorked a 65-yard drive in 11 plays for its first score.

A 28-yard pass from Guillory to Hicks at the Indian 28 was the big gainer in the march.

LeBlanc got the touchdown, taking a pitchout from Guillory on the option play and skirting left end to go in standing up with 13:15 to play in the second quarter. Guillory kicked the extra point.

Northeast returned the kickoff to its 30 and quickly slipped down to the Cowboy 25 before George Conners recovered a fumble to kill the drive.

Right before the half, Myrick came in for Northeast and unreeled a 22-yard run to the McNeese 21. But he fumbled on the play and McNeese took over before any more damage could be done.

Anastasio went 20 yards to the Indian 47 on a pitchout and Guillory passed to end Robert Young for 23-yards to the one. Lester blasted over on the following play and it was 20-8 with 13:03 to go in the fourth quarter after Guillory's kick was wide.

Sophomers Again Spark Tiger Victory

BATON ROUGE — Louisiana State University, lead by half back Danny LeBlanc, the pride of the bayous, unleashed an awesome ground attack Saturday night to crush Kentucky 28 to 7 before 63,000 screaming homecoming fans.

LeBlanc, known as the crushing Cajun, scored two of the Tiger touchdowns, and picked his way through the Kentucky line for 102 yards on 23 tiring carries.

Fullback Donald Schwab, a sophomore from Thibodaux, scored the other two Tiger touchdowns. Left-footed kicker Doug Moreau converted each time.

LeBlanc, who played his best game so far for LSU, went four yards in the first period for the initial touchdown, and swept over from seven yard out in the fourth period to put the Tigers out of Kentucky's reach at 21 to 7 with approximately seven minutes left in the game.

Schwab, who showed tremendous promise of things to come, crashed over from one yard out in the second period to put LSU ahead 14 to 0, and got his other one on a five-yard power sweep through the middle in the final period with less than two minutes left in the game.

Although the Tiger win was impressive, the two clinchers came only after a hair-raising and dazzling display of passing by Kentucky's great sophomore quarterback Rich Norton, who pulled the Wildcats to within seven points of the Tigers in the second period.

In a magnificent display Norton connected on 13 of 24 attempts for 165 yards, while teammate Talbott Todd completed two of two for 39 yards, giving the Wildcats 231 yards through the air.

The Kentucky touchdown came midway of the second period when Norton, who had set it up with a 24 yard pass to halfback Rodger Bird, went over from two yards out. End John Andrighetti converted.

For a while, it looked as if Norton and his teammates would go into the halftime with a tie. In the fading minutes, Kentucky, aided by two key Norotn passes, drove to the Tiger four, but the usual LSU goal line defense held, with Robbie Hucklebridge making the key four-down tackle.

All of the Tigers yardages, a total of 219, were picked up via the ground route. Officially Ezell attempted only one pass and it was intercepted. However, he tossed two others. One was given the Tigers on a pass - interference penalty, while the other cost LSU five yards after the officials ruled Ezell was beyond the line of scrimmage when he threw.

Ed Greer of Minden, who was promoted to the go team quarterback post the past week, didn't get into the game as coach Charlie McClendon, staying on the ground, used Ezell with both offensive units.

Defensively, many LSU players stood out. Both Ken Cormier and Beau Colle intercepted two of Norton's passes, while Danny Neumann of Tallulah and Milton Trosclair recovered two Kentucky fumbles. In the line, Huckleridge, Ruffin Rodrigue, and Jerry Young did an excellent job on rushing Norton, catching him a few times for short losses.

LSU had to punt only one time during the game and Neumann lofted one 45 yards down the field on that one.

Actually, the Tigers were using a patched up lineup throughout because of injuries. Screen is out for the season and half back Buddy Soefker, who was injured two weeks ago, was still out. In the final period, fleet halfback Joe LaBruzzo had to leave the game with an injured arm after a dazzling 20 yards run that helped set up the third Tiger score.

Actually, it looked as if the Tigers would run away with the game. On the initial series of plays in the opening minutes, Cormier picked off a Norton pass at the Tiger 47 to set the stage for the first touchdown. It came a few minutes later when LeBlanc went over from the four, after he, Ezell and fullback Buddy Hamic had alternated in carrying the ball. The drive cov-

Billy Laird Fires Bulldogs Past Demons In State Fair

SHREVEPORT (Special) — Billy Laird returned to his old high school stomping grounds Saturday night and put on a fantastic passing show that 13,000 witnesses of the 24th annual State Fair Class will remember for a long time.

The former Woodlawn High ace led the favored Louisiana Tech Bulldogs to a 27-13 conquest of arch rival Northwestern State College by hurling two touchdown passes and setting up all four with his brilliant aerials and field generalship.

"Bullet" Billy connected on 23 of 30 passes for 232 yards.

Never did the big Demon forward wall manage to nail him for a loss as his teammates came through with some exceptional pass protection. For his efforts was the unanimous selection as the games outstanding back. NSC center Sammy Joe Odom, a 231-pound linebacker from Minden took the lineman's award for an outstanding performance.

Laird's chief target was senior end Charles Bourgeois who pulled in seven for 90 yards. End Wayne Davis picked off five more for 54, one of which was a 16-yard touchdown pass.

Halfback Corky Corkern of Bossier grabbed three for 29 yards and scored on a 19-yarder. Halfback Jack Hopkins from Waterproof led the Tech ground attack which picked up a net of 131 for the night, with 63 yards on 12 carries.

NSC's Don Beasley hit on four of 10 passes for 63 yards while halfback Ed Horton rushed for 21 on six tries.

The scoring for the Techmen came on a one - yard plunge by fullback Gerald McDowell from Sulphur in the first quarter. Laird's TD heave to Corkern in the second, McDowell on another one yard plunge in the third, and the Laird to Davis combination in the fourth.

NSC, which failed to get a first down in the first half, dented the scoring column in the third chapter when halfback Dennis Duncan of Henderson, Tex., cracked in from the one. The final Demon marker occurred in the last quarter on a 17-yard pass from Donnie Carroll to Bossier's Dick Reding.

13-7 SWC WIN

Owls Recover To Stop SMU

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—Paul Piper and Benny Hollingsworth led Rice on a 73-yard drive in the final five minutes Saturday night to pull the Owls from behind for a 13-7 Southwest Conference victory over Southern Methodist.

Hollingsworth, a reserve junior quarterback, passed nine yards to John Sylvester for the go-ahead touchdown with 41 seconds to play.

The drive started with the kickoff after SMU had struck quickly on the passing of Danny Thomas to overcome a 6-0 lead Rice had built on a pair of goals by Larry Rice.

SMU, playing the second half without its brilliant sophomore runner, John Roderick, had not advanced beyond the Rice 30 until the Mustangs received a short punt on their own 44 midway in the final period.

From that point, Thomas accounted for all the 56 yards to the Rice goal line with three passes, climaxing the touchdown drive with a 24-yarder to Jimmy Taylor. John Richey converted for a 7-6 lead that lasted less than five minutes.

Roderick, whose running led SMU to an upset over fourth-ranked Navy a week ago, was spectacular at times in the first half but was injured in the second period. At halftime, he was sent to a hospital for treatment for possible rib injuries.

The winning Rice drive included 13 plays.

Piper, a junior, broke through the middle for a 28 yard run to the SMU 15 but a clipping penalty shoved the Owls back to the 35.

Billy Hale and Piper needed only two plays for a first down at the 22 and Hollingsworth hit Hale with a 13-yard pass to the nine before finding Sylvester in the end zone for the game-clinching score.

Larry Rice, a kicking specialist who cannot take part in scrimmage because of a knee injury, put Rice in a 3-0 lead in the second period with a 27-yard field goal and boosted it to 6-0 in the third with a 41-yarder The kicks ended drives of 65 and 29 yards.

Mickey Solomen Rides Admiral Vic To Victory

CHICAGO (AP)—Sunny Blue Farms' Admiral Vic caught Donut King midway down the stretch, gradually eased away and won the 28th running of the $100,000-added Gold Cup Saturday by 1½ lenghts.

The 3-year-old son of Rejected, with Jockey Mickey Solomone riding, went off as a 6-1 choice in the 10-horse field.

Piper's Son finished third while the odds-on favorite, Crimson Satan with Willie Shoemaker up, was a badly beaten sixth.

The victory, the seventh in 16 starts this year, upped Admiral Vic's earnings to $171,395. First place was worth $78,500 to owner Isaac Blumberg of Chicago.

The winner returned $14.80, $6.60 and $5. Donut King paid $11.40 and $8 while Piper's Son paid $10.40. Time for the 1¼ miles was 2:03 4-5 on a slow track.

Donut King, owned by Verne H. Winchell, set an early pace with Piper's Son and Admiral's Voyage remaining close by. Solomone held Admiral Vic in sixth place until the leaders neared the far turn, then moved to the outside in the fourth slot.

At the top of the stretch, Solomone went to the whip and his mount passed Piper's Son and Admiral's Voyage and went at Donut King.

Missouri Spins Out 28-6 Victory Over Cowboys

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Missouri played steadily in the air and on the ground Saturday to defeat Oklahoma State 28-6 in a Big Eight Conference football game.

And Missouri's defense was equal to the task except for the Oklahomans' only touchdown late in the fourth period—and an 80-yard drive in 18 plays with quarterback Glenn Baxter scoring from the eight-yard line.

Gary Lane, a sophomore quarterback from Missouri, ran and passed and showed himself an able field general. He had good help from halfback Monroe Phelps and fullback Carl Reese.

August Otto, Joe Burkle and George Seals were outstanding on defense but actually everybody did his part well. It was a good team effort.

Again—as in the first three games Oklahoma State played and lost—offensive mistakes at crucial points cut down possible gains.

Brown Collects 41-13 Triumph From Quakers

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Sophomore Bob Hall led a talented Brown "Kiddie Corps" to a 41-13 Ivy League victory over Penn Saturday as the Bruins whipped the Quakers for only the third time in more than half a century.

Hall scored Brown's third touchdown on a 12-yard run in the third period that sent Brown in front to stay. He also passed 22 yards to end Bob Seiple for a TD in the first half.

Penn capitalized on a pair of fumble recoveries at the Brown 29 in the second period, seizing a 13-12 advantage at the intermission on a pass which went 29 yards from John Owens to end Harrison Clement as the gun sounded.

But Brown, now 2-2 overall and in Ivy play, wasn't a bit perturbed. The Bruins scored early in the third period and added three more touchdowns in the last quarter.

DESPITE SAYERS

Oklahoma Drives By Kansas, 21-18

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Fifth-ranked Oklahoma drove for two touchdowns in the second half Saturday to beat stubborn Kansas 21-18 despite a brilliant performance by Jayhawk halfback Gale Sayers.

Norman Smith, a surprise starter at quarterback, scored twice for Oklahoma, including a one - yard blast in the fourth quarter that proved to be the difference.

Sayers, who gained 110 yards in 16 carries, scored both Kansas touchdowns, one on a 61-yard run, and caught a pass for a two-point conversion.

But it was his humble midway through the third quarter that sent Oklahoma on its way.

Opening its defense of the Big Eight Conference championship before a sellout crowd of 61,826, Oklahoma found itself on the short end of a 10-7 score at halftime. Kansas had added a 30-yard field goal by Gary Duff to go with Sayers' long run for the Jayhawks' edge.

The break came midway in the third quarter when Sayers, taking a pitchout from quarterback Steve Renko, was hit hard by Sooner end Allen Bumgardner, and fumbled. John Flynn recovered on the Oklahoma 47 and the Sooners moved in 10 plays for the go-ahead touchdown. It came on quarterback Bobby Page's 17-yard pass to Rick McCurdy.

Kansas was unable to move after that. The Sooners, taking a punt on their own 48, drove behind the running of Jackie Cowan and Jim Grisham to the one-yard line from where Smith carried over.

Kansas' final touchdown came on an eight-yard pass from Renko to Sayers with less than two minutes to go.

Kansas, taking advantage of a missed field goal, scored first. But Oklahoma tied it up in the second period after Charlie Mayhue intercepted a pass to set the stage for Smith's five-yard touchdown run.

Ron DiGravio Takes Purdue Past Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Purdue quarterback Ron DiGravio renewed his personal assault on Michigan as the Boilermakers romped to an easy 23-12 Big Ten football victory Saturday.

DiGravio scored one otuchdown and passed for another as the Boilermakers outclassed the Wolvernines for their second straight victory over Michigan. But it was only Purdue's fourth triumph in 17 meetings between the two schools.

DiGravio passed for five touchdowns and ran for three others in the three meetings between the two teams since he took over at quarterback.

Purdue scored two first quarter touchdowns after recovering fumbles inside the Michigan 30-yard line.

Early in the game Michigan attempted to gain a first down on its own 26 with inches to go on fourth down, but fullback Charles Dehlin fumbled and Purdue recovered. Halfback Gene Donaldson bucked over from the two six plays later.

Citadel Gets 10-9 Triumph On Field Goal

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—Sophomore Pat Green kicked a 37-yard field goal as time ran out Saturday to give The Citadel football team at 10-9 victory over Arkansas State.

Green's three - pointer overcame Dan Summers' 43 - yard field goal for Arkansas State about a minute earlier.

Converse Chellis broke loose on a 72-yard touchdown run for the Citadel at the start of the second period and Green converted. Eddie Rickus scored from four yards out for the visitors at the opening of the final period, but Andy Hooper's conversion kick was wide.

Panthers Edge West Virginia In Near Upset

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) Paul Martha's 46-yard touchdown run in the fourth period rescued Pittsburgh from an upset Saturday and the third-ranked Panthers eked out a 13-10 victory over old rival West Virginia.

Fred Mazurek passed for a touchdown the second time Pitt got the ball in the first quarter. They led 7-3 at the half after a 31-yard field goal in the second quarter by West Virginia's Chuck Kinder.

But it was a different story most of the second half, with West Virginia threatening repeatedly. Quarterback Jerry Yost — who didn't complete a pass in the first half — rifled one five yards to halfback Dick Leftridge for a fourth period touchdown that put the Mountainers ahead.

Barely two minutes after Leftridge scored, Martha shot over guard, dodged through the West Virginia secondary and scored standing.

Mighty McNeese Subdues Stubborn Northeast

Cowpokes Settle For Lowest Win

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

Mighty McNeese State rolled up a three touchdown lead, but had to settle for a 20-8 victory over a roused-up Northeast State eleven here Saturday night, the Cowboys' lowest victory margin of the year.

Held to a slim 7-0 first half edge in this Gulf States Conference game played before about 4,000, the unbeaten Cowboys scored one touchdown in each of the last two periods, but had to weather a fierce passing attack mustered by Indian quarterback Bookie Shillcut in the fourth quarter.

Shillcut then passed to Newton from a fake place kick formation for two points to make it 20-8 with 1:50 left in the game.

A 30-yard march after a fumble recovery gave McNeese a 14-0 lead in the third period. Guillory went 11 yards around left end for the score. He also added the extra point after the first two touchdowns.

Big Darrell Lester picked up the third McNeese touchdown, plunging over from a yard out to end a 76 yard drive in the last quarter. Guillory, who had kicked 10 straight extra points this season, missed the PAT attempt.

In the end, it was the bruising running of Lester and halfback Charles Anastasio, plus the quick scampering of quarterback Tommy Thompson behind a great line that told the story. But the Indians gave ground grudgingly and came up with their finest passing attack in some time on the arm of Shillcut.

Taking over after Dennis Trahan's kick was killed at the Tribe three, Shillcut kept to the 12, then hit end Steve Regan on a 20-yarder to the 32 and halfback Alton Thomas to the 44 on two consecutive completions.

With a fourth down at the McNeese 47, fullback Willie Ragan went two yards for the first.

Shillcut then fired to end Jim Love on the 30 and lofted a 25-yarder to Regan at the McNeese five.

After a buck to the four, Newton skirted right end behind a cluster of blockers and cut into the corner of the end zone untouched.

In all Shillcut completed five of eight passes for 82 yards, to gain most of Northeast's 103 yards passing.

Newton paced Indian rushing with 35 yards on eight carries and Ronnie Myrick who came in briefly had 33 on three.

Anastasio and Lester spearheaded the bruising Cowboy ground game which accounted for 271 yards. Anastasio picked up 85 yards on 15 romps and Lester 59 on 16.

Guillory completed three of six passes for 56 yards.

The Cowboys returned the opening kickoff to their 27 and quickly marched down to the Indian 32 before losing the ball on downs.

Northeast's Ragan quick kicked back to the McNeese 37 on first down. The Pokes rambled down to the Indian 25 this time before Anastasio fumbled and Northeast's Wendell Drost recovered.

Northeast got one first down, then kicked to the Cowboy 35, where McNeese promptly uncorked a 65-yard drive in 11 plays for its first score.

A 28-yard pass from Guillory to Hicks at the Indian 28 was the big gainer in the march.

LeBlanc got the touchdown, taking a pitchout from Guillory on the option play and skirting left end to go in standing up with 13:15 to play in the second quarter. Guillory kicked the extra point.

Northeast returned the kickoff to its 30 and quickly slipped down to the Cowboy 25 before George Conners recovered a fumble to kill the drive.

Right before the half, Myrick came in for Northeast and unreeled a 22-yard run to the McNeese 21. But he fumbled on the play and McNeese took over before any more damage could be done.

Anastasio went 20 yards to the Indian 47 on a pitchout and Guillory passed to end Robert Young for 23-yards to the one. Lester blasted over on the following play and it was 20-8 with 13:03 to go in the fourth quarter after Guillory's kick was wide.

Sophomers Again Spark Tiger Victory

BATON ROUGE — Louisiana State University, lead by half back Danny LeBlanc, the pride of the bayous, unleashed an awesome ground attack Saturday night to crush Kentucky 28 to 7 before 63,000 screaming homecoming fans.

LeBlanc, known as the crushing Cajun, scored two of the Tiger touchdowns, and picked his way through the Kentucky line for 102 yards on 23 tiring carries.

Fullback Donald Schwab, a sophomore from Thibodaux, scored the other two Tiger touchdowns. Left-footed kicker Doug Moreau converted each time.

LeBlanc, who played his best game so far for LSU, went four yards in the first period for the initial touchdown, and swept over from seven yard out in the fourth period to put the Tigers out of Kentucky's reach at 21 to 7 with approximately seven minutes left in the game.

Schwab, who showed tremendous promise of things to come, crashed over from one yard out in the second period to put LSU ahead 14 to 0, and got his other one on a five-yard power sweep through the middle in the final period with less than two minutes left in the game.

Although the Tiger win was impressive, the two clinchers came only after a hair-raising and dazzling display of passing by Kentucky's great sophomore quarterback Rich Norton, who pulled the Wildcats to within seven points of the Tigers in the second period.

In a magnificent display Norton connected on 13 of 24 attempts for 165 yards, while teammate Talbott Todd completed two of two for 39 yards, giving the Wildcats 231 yards through the air.

The Kentucky touchdown came midway of the second period when Norton, who had set it up with a 24 yard pass to halfback Rodger Bird, went over from two yards out. End John Andrighetti converted.

For a while, it looked as if Norton and his teammates would go into the halftime with a tie. In the fading minutes, Kentucky, aided by two key Norotn passes, drove to the Tiger four, but the usual LSU goal line defense held, with Robbie Hucklebridge making the key four-down tackle.

All of the Tigers yardages, a total of 219, were picked up via the ground route. Officially Ezell attempted only one pass and it was intercepted. However, he tossed two others. One was given the Tigers on a pass - interference penalty, while the other cost LSU five yards after the officials ruled Ezell was beyond the line of scrimmage when he threw.

Ed Greer of Minden, who was promoted to the go team quarterback post the past week, didn't get into the game as coach Charlie McClendon, staying on the ground, used Ezell with both offensive units.

Defensively, many LSU players stood out. Both Ken Cormier and Beau Colle intercepted two of Norton's passes, while Danny Neumann of Tallulah and Milton Trosclair recovered two Kentucky fumbles. In the line, Hucklebridge, Ruffin Rodrigue, and Jerry Young did an excellent job on rushing Norton, catching him a few times for short losses.

LSU had to punt only one time during the game and Neumann lofted one 45 yards down the field on that one.

Actually, the Tigers were using a patched up lineup throughout because of injuries. Screen is out for the season and half back Buddy Soefker, who was injured two weeks ago, was still out. In the final period, fleet halfback Joe LaBruzzo had to leave the game with an injured arm after a dazzling 20 yards run that helped set up the third Tiger score.

Actually, it looked as if the Tigers would run away with the game. On the initial series of plays in the opening minutes, Cormier picked off a Norton pass at the Tiger 47 to set the stage for the first touchdown. It came a few minutes later when LeBlanc went over from the four, after he, Ezell and fullback Buddy Hamic had alternated in carrying the ball. The drive cov-

DESPITE SAYERS

Oklahoma Drives By Kansas, 21-18

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Fifth-ranked Oklahoma drove for two touchdowns in the second half Saturday to beat stubborn Kansas 21-18 despite a brilliant performance by Jayhawk halfback Gale Sayers.

Norman Smith, a surprise starter at quarterback, scored twice for Oklahoma, including a one - yard blast in the fourth quarter that proved to be the difference.

Sayers, who gained 110 yards in 16 carries, scored both Kansas touchdowns, one on a 61-yard run, and caught a pass for a two-point conversion.

But it was his humble midway through the third quarter that sent Oklahoma on its way.

Opening its defense of the Big Eight Conference championship before a sellout crowd of 61,826, Oklahoma found itself on the short end of a 10-7 score at halftime. Kansas had added a 30-yard field goal by Gary Duff to go with Sayers' long run for the Jayhawks' edge.

The break came midway in the third quarter when Sayers, taking a pitchout from quarterback Steve Renko, was hit hard by Sooner end Allen Bumgardner, and fumbled. John Flynn recovered on the Oklahoma 47 and the Sooners moved in 10 plays for the go-ahead touchdown. It came on quarterback Bobby Page's 17-yard pass to Rick McCurdy.

Kansas was unable to move after that. The Sooners, taking a punt on their own 48, drove behind the running of Jackie Cowan and Jim Grisham to the one-yard line from where Smith carried over.

Kansas' final touchdown came on an eight-yard pass from Renko to Sayers with less than two minutes to go.

Kansas, taking advantage of a missed field goal, scored first. But Oklahoma tied it up in the second period after Charlie Mayhue intercepted a pass to set the stage for Smith's five-yard touchdown run.

Ron DiGravio Takes Purdue Past Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Purdue quarterback Ron DiGravio renewed his personal assault on Michigan as the Boilermakers romped to an easy 23-12 Big Ten football victory Saturday.

DiGravio scored one otuchdown and passed for another as the Boilermakers outclassed the Wolvernines for their second straight victory over Michigan. But it was only Purdue's fourth triumph in 17 meetings between the two schools.

DiGravio passed for five touchdowns and ran for three others in the three meetings between the two teams since he took over at quarterback.

Purdue scored two first quarter touchdowns after recovering fumbles inside the Michigan 30-yard line.

Early in the game Michigan attempted to gain a first down on its own 26 with inches to go on fourth down, but fullback Charles Dehlin fumbled and Purdue recovered. Halfback Gene Donaldson bucked over from the two six plays later.

Citadel Gets 10-9 Triumph On Field Goal

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—Sophomore Pat Green kicked a 37-yard field goal as time ran out Saturday to give The Citadel football team at 10-9 victory over Arkansas State.

Green's three - pointer overcame Dan Summers' 43 - yard field goal for Arkansas State about a minute earlier.

Converse Chellis broke loose on a 72-yard touchdown run for the Citadel at the start of the second period and Green converted. Eddie Rickus scored from four yards out for the visitors at the opening of the final period, but Andy Hooper's conversion kick was wide.

Panthers Edge West Virginia In Near Upset

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) Paul Martha's 46-yard touchdown run in the fourth period rescued Pittsburgh from an upset Saturday and the third-ranked Panthers eked out a 13-10 victory over old rival West Virginia.

Fred Mazurek passed for a touchdown the second time Pitt got the ball in the first quarter. They led 7-3 at the half after a 31-yard field goal in the second quarter by West Virginia's Chuck Kinder.

But it was a different story most of the second half, with West Virginia threatening repeatedly. Quarterback Jerry Yost — who didn't complete a pass in the first half — rifled one five yards to halfback Dick Leftridge for a fourth period touchdown that put the Mountainers ahead.

Barely two minutes after Leftridge scored, Martha shot over guard, dodged through the West Virginia secondary and scored standing.

Billy Laird Fires Bulldogs Past Demons In State Fair

SHREVEPORT (Special) — Billy Laird returned to his old high school stomping grounds Saturday night and put on a fantastic passing show that 13,000 witnesses of the 24th annual State Fair Class will remember for a long time.

The former Woodlawn High ace led the favored Louisiana Tech Bulldogs to a 27-13 conquest of arch rival Northwestern State College by hurling two touchdown passes and setting up all four with his brilliant aerials and field generalship.

"Bullet" Billy connected on 23 of 30 passes for 232 yards.

Never did the big Demon forward wall manage to nail him for a loss as his teammates came through with some exceptional pass protection. For his efforts was the unanimous selection as the games outstanding back. NSC center Sammy Joe Odom, a 231-pound linebacker from Minden took the lineman's award for an outstanding performance.

Laird's chief target was senior end Charles Bourgeois who pulled in seven for 90 yards. End Wayne Davis picked off five more for 54, one of which was a 16-yard touchdown pass.

Halfback Corky Corkern of Bossier grabbed three for 29 yards and scored on a 19-yarder. Halfback Jack Hopkins from Waterproof led the Tech ground attack which picked up a net of 131 for the night, with 63 yards on 12 carries.

NSC's Don Beasley hit on four of 10 passes for 63 yards while halfback Ed Horton rushed for 21 on six tries.

The scoring for the Techmen came on a one - yard plunge by fullback Gerald McDowell from Sulphur in the first quarter. Laird's TD heave to Corkern in the second, McDowell on another one yard plunge in the third, and the Laird to Davis combination in the fourth.

NSC, which failed to get a first down in the first half, dented the scoring column in the third chapter when halfback Dennis Duncan of Henderson, Tex., cracked in from the one. The final Demon marker occurred in the last quarter on a 17-yard pass from Donnie Carroll to Bossier's Dick Reding.

Owls Recover To Stop SMU

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—Paul Piper and Benny Hollingsworth led Rice on a 73-yard drive in the final five minutes Saturday night to pull the Owls from behind for a 13-7 Southwest Conference victory over Southern Methodist.

Hollingsworth, a reserve junior quarterback, passed nine yards to John Sylvester for the go-ahead touchdown with 41 seconds to play.

The drive started with the kickoff after SMU had struck quickly on the passing of Danny Thomas to overcome a 6-0 lead Rice had built on a pair of goals by Larry Rice.

SMU, playing the second half without its brilliant sophomore runner, John Roderick, had not advanced beyond the Rice 30 until the Mustangs received a short punt on their own 44 midway in the final period.

From that point, Thomas accounted for all the 56 yards to the Rice goal line with three passes, climaxing the touchdown drive with a 24-yarder to Jimmy Taylor. John Richey converted for a 7-6 lead that lasted less than five minutes.

Roderick, whose running led SMU to an upset over fourth-ranked Navy a week ago, was spectacular at times in the first half but was injured in the second period. At halftime, he was sent to a hospital for treatment for possible rib injuries.

The winning Rice drive included 13 plays.

Piper, a junior, broke through the middle for a 28 yard run to the SMU 15 but a clipping penalty shoved the Owls back to the 35.

Billy Hale and Piper needed only two plays for a first down at the 22 and Hollingsworth hit Hale with a 13-yard pass to the nine before finding Sylvester in the end zone for the game-clinching score.

Larry Rice, a kicking specialist who cannot take part in scrimmage because of a knee injury, put Rice in a 3-0 lead in the second period with a 27-yard field goal and boosted it to 6-0 in the third with a 41-yarder The kicks ended drives of 65 and 29 yards.

Mickey Solomen Rides Admiral Vic To Victory

CHICAGO (AP)—Sunny Blue Farms' Admiral Vic caught Donut King midway down the stretch, gradually eased away and won the 28th running of the $100,000-added Gold Cup Saturday by 1½ lenghts.

The 3-year-old son of Rejected, with Jockey Mickey Solomone riding, went off as a 6-1 choice in the 10-horse field.

Piper's Son finished third while the odds-on favorite, Crimson Satan with Willie Shoemaker up, was a badly beaten sixth.

The victory, the seventh in 16 starts this year, upped Admiral Vic's earnings to $171,395. First place was worth $78,500 to owner Isaac Blumberg of Chicago.

The winner returned $14.80, $6.60 and $5. Donut King paid $11.40 and $8 while Piper's Son paid $10.40. Time for the 1¼ miles was 2:03 4-5 on a slow track.

Donut King, owned by Verne H. Winchell, set an early pace with Piper's Son and Admiral's Voyage remaining close by. Solomone held Admiral Vic in sixth place until the leaders neared the far turn, then moved to the outside in the fourth slot.

At the top of the stretch, Solomone went to the whip and his mount passed Piper's Son and Admiral's Voyage and went at Donut King.

Missouri Spins Out 28-6 Victory Over Cowboys

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Missouri played steadily in the air and on the ground Saturday to defeat Oklahoma State 28-6 in a Big Eight Conference football game.

And Missouri's defense was equal to the task except for the Oklahomans' only touchdown late in the fourth period—and an 80-yard drive in 18 plays with quarterback Glenn Baxter scoring from the eight-yard line.

Gary Lane, a sophomore quarterback from Missouri, ran and passed and showed himself an able field general. He had good help from halfback Monroe Phelps and fullback Carl Reese.

August Otto, Joe Burkle and George Seals were outstanding on defense but actually everybody did his part well. It was a good team effort.

Again—as in the first three games Oklahoma State played and lost—offensive mistakes at crucial points cut down possible gains.

Brown Collects 41-13 Triumph From Quakers

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Sophomore Bob Hall led a talented Brown "Kiddie Corps" to a 41-13 Ivy League victory over Penn Saturday as the Bruins whipped the Quakers for only the third time in more than half a century.

Hall scored Brown's third touchdown on a 12-yard run in the third period that sent Brown in front to stay. He also passed 22 yards to end Bob Seiple for a TD in the first half.

Penn capitalized on a pair of fumble recoveries at the Brown 29 in the second period, seizing a 13-12 advantage at the intermission on a pass which went 29 yards from John Owens to end Harrison Clement as the gun sounded.

But Brown, now 2-2 overall and in Ivy play, wasn't a bit perturbed. The Bruins scored early in the third period and added three more touchdowns in the last quarter.

Wisconsin Rallies To Defeat Iowa

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) — Mighty Wisconsin, continually foiled and frustrated by a stingy Iowa defense, finally found enough offensive punch Saturday to come from behind and eke out a 10-7 Big Ten victory.

The Badgers, ranked 2nd in the nation, were held to a single field goal in the first half and scored the clincher on a 9-yard pass from Harold Brandt to Louis Holland in the 3rd period.

The upstart Hawkeyes, tied for the Big Ten lead with the Badgers heading into the contest, grabbed a brief lead in the 3rd period when reserve halfback Lonnie Rogers scooted 21 yards for a touchdown and a 7-3 Iowa advantage.

But Wisconsin went back in front seconds later when guard Bob Freimuth recovered Hawkeye fumble on the Iowa 13 and Brandt hit Holland on a fourth down scoring pass.

Wisconsin's Dave Fronek opened the scoring on the Badgers' first series of downs when a short Iowa punt gave the Badgers the ball on the Hawkeye 33. Wisconsin couldn't drive all the way, but got close enough to let Fronek boot a 20-yard field goal that proved the ultimate margin of victory.

Kelso Greatest; Wins Gold Cup By Four Lengths

NEW YORK (AP) — Kelso, one of the greatest horses in the history of American racing, drew away steadily in the last mile Saturday and easily captured his fourth consecutive Jockey Club Gold Cup before a cheering crowd of 50,131 at Aqueduct.

The mighty 6-year-old gelding, backed down to odds of 3-20 in the 45th running of the $108,900 race, coasted down the stretch and finished four lengths in front of Mrs. Robert L. Dotter's Guadalcanal.

Guadalcanal, a son of the 1948 Gold Cup winner Citation, reported five lengths ahead of Harbor View Farm's Garwol, who took third by three and a half lengths over F. Eugene Dixon's Will I Rule in the field of seven.

The two-mile Gold Cup, the most classical of all American Gold Cup winner Citation, reported five lengths ahead of Harbor View Farm's Garwol, who took third by three and a half lengths over F. Eugene Dixon's Will I Rule in the field of seven.

Kentucky attempted a swift comeback, but it ended at the LSU 33 when Colle intercepted Norton's pass. LSU then started moving again, but LeBlanc fumbled while end Bill Jenkins revovered.

In the fading minutes of the first period, the Tigers started goalward again from their won 52 with Schwab, Ezell, Goerge Haynes and LeBlanc alternating. As the period ended, they were at the Kentucky 25.

Then Kentucky fired back on the golden arm of Norton, who completed passes for 18, 11, 10, and 24 yards, before packing the ball over himself from two yards out.

In the third period, LSU drove to the Kentucky 11 yard line, but on a fourth-down play with a yard to go, Hamic fumbled, and Kentucky recovered. However, Hamic would not have made the necessary yardage had he not fumbled. Later in the period, Neumann recovered a Norton fumble at the 33, but a penalty, one of many that hurt the Tigers in the game, halted the drive at the Wildcat 13.

LSU's final touchdowns came in the third period with LeBlanc getting the call from the seven.

Another Norton fumble which was recovered by Trosclair on the Wildcat 32 yard line set up the final LSU score, with Schwab going the final five.

Kentucky moved grudgingly on the ground, picking up only 18 yards against a tough Tiger line. In all LSU picked up 21 first downs to 16 for Kentucky.

Memphis State Rips West Texas

CANYON, Tex. (UPI)—Powerful Memphis State, its ground game stymied by rain and a tough defense, took to the air Saturday to whip West Texas State 29-14.

All four Tiger touchdowns came on running plays, but three of the four were set up by passes. The fourth came after a fumble recovery on the West Texas 2-yard line.

Fullback Dave Cassinelli scored twice for the Tigers in the first half on runs of 2 and 5 yards. Quarterback Russ Vollmer scored on a 1-yard keeper in the third period, and substitute quarterback Ollie Cordill got the final Tiger tally with a 1-yard keeper in the final period.

Beathard Sparks Southern Cal Win

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern California quarterback Pete Beathard mounted a dazzling running and passing attack Saturday to carry the Trojans to a 32-3 football victory over previously undefeated and fourth-ranked Ohio State.

A crowd of 61,883 in Memorial Coliseum watched the unranked Trojans build up a 12-3 halftime lead and then riddle the Buckeye defenses for three touchdowns after intermission.

Beathard, the Trojans' senior signal caller completed 9 of 13 passes for 159 yards and one touchdown. He also ran for 31 yards in eight carries and scored on a one-yard plunge.

PASSING VICTORY

Fighting Irish Smash Bruins

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Quarterback Frank Budka tossed two scoring passes and sneaked to a third touchdown but previously unused halfback Charley O'Hara fired Notre Dame's Fighting Irish to a 27-12 football victory over UCLA Saturday.

With Notre Dame leading only 14-6 midway in the third period and UCLA very much in the game, O'Hara turned in 54 valuable yards on just four carries—the first action of the season for the 189-pound senior.

After Bill Wolski, Joe Kantor and Paul Costa cooled off, O'Hara sparked a 54-yard drive to Notre Dame's third touchdown and his 33-yard sprint to UCLA's four set up the fourth Irish touchdown and a 27-6 lead in the fourth period.

Notre Dame's second straight victory over a West Coast club—following a 17-14 conquest last Saturday over Southern California—needed, and got, a good quarterbacking job from Budka.

Budka passed only 10 times but hit on seven for 86 yards. The few times he was out of the game, the Irish attack bogged down.

Budka's 11-yard screen pass to Kantor gave Notre Dame a 7-0 lead in the first period and Wolski's four-yard end sprint in the second quarter had the Irish ahead 14-0 before UCLA scored.

The UCLANs, in their first football meeting in history with Notre Dame, finally tallied with 38 seconds left in the first half.

On a rare tackle-eligible pass play, busy UCLA quarterback Larry Zeno arched a 12-yard toss to 224-pound Mitch Johnson in the end zone.

Arkansas scored on a 12-yard pass from sophomore quarterback Jon Brittenum to wingback Stan Sparks in the second quarter and on a one-yard plunge by Brittenum after a 90-yard drive in the third period.

Aside from those two offensive moves, Texas' defense stilled the Hogs, and Arkansas' defense gave Texas no running room after the intermission. It was the fifth straight victory for the unbeaten Longhorns.

Arkansas tailback Jackie Brasuell returned Texas' field goal kickoff 89 yards to the Arkansas five to set up the Razorbacks' first touchdown late in the second period.

The field generalship of Texas quarterback Duke Carlisle made the Longhorns look perfect in the first half. Carlisle moved Texas 68 yards with the opening kickoff for its first touchdown and sent Ford in from the one.

Arkansas's offense stuttered and after a punt Philipp ran 55 sas took over and moved 90 yards to the Arkansas 26 and the 'Horns moved in quickly for their second score.

Arkansas' defense finally found the key in the second period and halted a 48-yard drive on the Porker 10. Then Crosby kicked his field goal.

Hal Wantland fumbled a punt on the Tennessee 19 to set up another Alabama touchdown. Namath hit Harris in the end zone from three yards out for the score.

Eighth Ranked Bama Rips Past Vols 35-0

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Quarterback Joe Namath, flashing his 1962 form for the first time this season, rifled three touchdown passes Saturday to steer 8th ranked Alabama to a 35-0 victory over Tennessee.

Namath, plagued by fumbles and unable to hit his receivers against Florida last week in the Tide's only loss of the season, passed short and long with ease in the 46th renewal of one of the Southeastern Conference's oldest series.

Halfback Benny Nelson opened the scoring with a 36-yard run late in the first period. Others came on Namath's 26-yard pass to end Jimmy Dill in the same period, a three-yard toss to end Charlie Stephens and a six-yard pass to halfback Hudson Harris. Namath took the last one himself

Don Trull Pulls Out Game From Raiders, 21-17

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Don Trull hit James Ingram with touchdown passes of 56 and 26 yards in the final quarter, the last with 1:51 remaining, as Baylor whipped Texas Tech 21-17 in a Southwest Conference football game.

Trull drove the Bears 63 yards on the final touchdown drive on five passes—one a 42-yarder to James Rust—and only one run. In all, Trull completed 19 of 32 passes for 261 yards and three touchdowns.

Anderson intercepted a pass to set up the first Tech touchdown in the second period and his 81-yard kickoff return for a score furnished Tech with a 14-3 lead at the half.

Baylor scored in the second quarter on a 38-yard field goal by Tom Davies after the Bears' Eddie Whiddon recovered a fumble on the Tech 49.

Baylor scored a touchdown in the third period, with Trull passing for 40 yards and Dalton Hoffman running for 21 in the 80-yard drive. Trull passed 10 yards to Lawrence Elkins for the touchdown.

Tech ran its lead to 17-9 in the fourth period on Daniels 19-yard field goal after Sam Cornelius had intercepted a Trull pass and brought it back 18 yards to the Baylor one. Then Trull went to work.

Jack Nicklaus Storms Back To Tie Action

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus stormed from behind Saturday with his second straight sub-par 66 to throw the $70,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament into a three-way deadlock at the end of 54 holes.

The result left the 23-year-old Masters champion tied at 207 with the early leaders, Al Geiberger and Gay Brewer.

Nicklaus was four strokes behind as this third round started over the par 36-35—71 Paradise Valley Country Club course, with Brewer and Bob Harrison in front.

Brewer shot a 70. Harrison, a darkhorse from Palm Desert, Calif., took a 71. Geiberger, the first round leader, had a 69.

Harrison wound up in a tie at 208 with Claude King, who had a 69, and Don Whitt, who shot a 67.

Arnold Palmer, the co-favorite with Nicklaus in pre-tournament predictions, failed to gain ground. His 70 left him in a tie with seven others at 212.

Harrison bogeyed three of the last five holes, to remove himself from the top picture. Geiberger missed by two inches on an 18-foot putt on the 18th, which would have given him the undisputed lead, and Brewer also had a near miss with a 15-footer for a birdie on No. 18.

Villanova Wins

Maryland Pass Leaves Cadets With 21-14 Loss

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) —Dick Shiner, Maryland's contribution to this year's banner crop of college quarterbacks, threw a 36-yard touchdown pass on the last play of the game Saturday for an 21-14 football upset over Air Force.

Hill also caught a six-yard scoring pass from Shiner in the third quarter to start the Terps on a great second-half comeback. The combination also clicked for a 45-yard touchdown play in the first quarter which was nullified by an offside penalty.

Maryland, which had been beaten in its first four games by ACC members, trailed 14-0 at halftime and didn't get even until there were only 2 minutes, 50 seconds left.

Wisconsin Rallies To Defeat Iowa

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) — Mighty Wisconsin, continually foiled and frustrated by a stingy Iowa defense, finally found enough offensive punch Saturday to come from behind and eke out a 10-7 Big Ten victory.

The Badgers, ranked 2nd in the nation, were held to a single field goal in the first half and scored the clincher on a 9-yard pass from Harold Brandt to Louis Holland in the 3rd period.

The upstart Hawkeyes, tied for the Big Ten lead with the Badgers heading into the contest, grabbed a brief lead in the 3rd period when reserve halfback Lonnie Rogers scooted 21 yards for a touchdown and a 7-3 Iowa advantage.

But Wisconsin went back in front seconds later when guard Bob Freimuth recovered Hawkeye fumble on the Iowa 13 and Brandt hit Holland on a fourth down scoring pass.

Wisconsin's Dave Fronek opened the scoring on the Badgers' first series of downs when a short Iowa punt gave the Badgers the ball on the Hawkeye 33. Wisconsin couldn't drive all the way, but got close enough to let Fronek boot a 20-yard field goal that proved the ultimate margin of victory.

Kentucky attempted a swift comeback, but it ended at the LSU 33 when Colle intercepted Norton's pass. LSU then started moving again, but LeBlanc fumbled while end Bill Jenkins revovered.

In the fading minutes of the first period, the Tigers started goalward again from their won 52 with Schwab, Ezell, Goerge Haynes and LeBlanc alternating. As the period ended, they were at the Kentucky 25.

Then Kentucky fired back on the golden arm of Norton, who completed passes for 18, 11, 10, and 24 yards, before packing the ball over himself from two yards out.

In the third period, LSU drove to the Kentucky 11 yard line, but on a fourth-down play with a yard to go, Hamic fumbled, and Kentucky recovered. However, Hamic would not have made the necessary yardage had he not fumbled. Later in the period, Neumann recovered a Norton fumble at the 33, but a penalty, one of many that hurt the Tigers in the game, halted the drive at the Wildcat 13.

LSU's final touchdowns came in the third period with LeBlanc getting the call from the seven.

Another Norton fumble which was recovered by Trosclair on the Wildcat 32 yard line set up the final LSU score, with Schwab going the final five.

Kentucky moved grudgingly on the ground, picking up only 18 yards against a tough Tiger line. In all LSU picked up 21 first downs to 16 for Kentucky.

Don Trull Pulls Out Game From Raiders, 21-17

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Don Trull hit James Ingram with touchdown passes of 56 and 26 yards in the final quarter, the last with 1:51 remaining, as Baylor whipped Texas Tech 21-17 in a Southwest Conference football game.

Trull drove the Bears 63 yards on the final touchdown drive on five passes—one a 42-yarder to James Rust—and only one run. In all, Trull completed 19 of 32 passes for 261 yards and three touchdowns.

That wiped out a fine performance by Donny Anderson, Tech sophomore, who teamed with H. L. Daniels, the veteran field goal kicker, to push Tech ahead early.

Anderson intercepted a pass to set up the first Tech touchdown in the second period and his 81-yard kickoff return for a score furnished Tech with a 14-3 lead at the half.

Baylor scored in the second quarter on a 38-yard field goal by Tom Davies after the Bears' Eddie Whiddon recovered a fumble on the Tech 49.

Baylor scored a touchdown in the third period, with Trull passing for 40 yards and Dalton Hoffman running for 21 in the 80-yard drive. Trull passed 10 yards to Lawrence Elkins for the touchdown.

Tech ran its lead to 17-9 in the fourth period on Daniels 19-yard field goal after Sam Cornelius had intercepted a Trull pass and brought it back 18 yards to the Baylor one. Then Trull went to work.

JOE NAMATH STARS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Quarterback Joe Namath, flashing his 1962 form for the first time this season, rifled three touchdown passes Saturday to steer 8th ranked Alabama to a 35-0 victory over Tennessee.

Namath, plagued by fumbles and unable to hit his receivers against Florida last week in the Tide's only loss of the season, passed short and long with ease in the 46th renewal of one of the Southeastern Conference's oldest series.

Halfback Benny Nelson opened the scoring with a 36-yard run late in the first period. Others came on Namath's 26-yard pass to end Jimmy Dill in the same period, a three-yard toss to end Charlie Stephens and a six-yard pass to halfback Hudson Harris. Namath took the last one himself on a one-yard plunge in the third period.

Tim Davis kicked three conversions but missed his fourth try after 13 in a row. Namath passed to Nelson for two points.

Three touchdowns were set up by Tennessee fumbles recovered by Alabama's alert defense. On the kickoff after Nelson's opening touchdown, Tennessee fumbled and Alabama recovered on the 26. Namath tossed a perfect pass to Dill in the end zone, on the first play.

Hal Wantland fumbled a punt on the Tennessee 19 to set up another Alabama touchdown. Namath hit Harris in the end zone from three yards out for the score.

On the following kickoff, Jackie Cotton fumbled a handoff. Alabama recovered on the Tennessee 16 and two plays later Namath dived over from the one for the touchdown.

An Alabama drive of 75 yards set up the other score with Namath tossing key passes and Nelson and Harris bulldozing for important yardage. Namath passed to Stephens for the last three yards.

En route to Alabama's fourth victory of the season, Namath completed 11 passes in 18 attempts for 141 yards.

The loss was Tennessee's fourth against only one victory.

Jack Nicklaus Storms Back To Tie Action

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus stormed from behind Saturday with his second straight sub-par 66 to throw the $70,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament into a three-way deadlock at the end of 54 holes.

The result left the 23-year-old Masters champion tied at 207 with the early leaders, Al Geiberger and Gay Brewer.

Nicklaus was four strokes behind as this third round started over the par 36-35—71 Paradise Valley Country Club course, with Brewer and Bob Harrison in front.

Brewer shot a 70. Harrison, a darkhorse from Palm Desert, Calif., took a 71. Geiberger, the first round leader, had a 69.

Harrison wound up in a tie at 208 with Claude King, who had a 69, and Don Whitt, who shot a 67.

Arnold Palmer, the co-favorite with Nicklaus in pre-tournament predictions, failed to gain ground. His 70 left him in a tie with seven others at 212.

Harrison bogeyed three of the last five holes, to remove himself from the top picture. Geiberger missed by two inches on an 18-foot putt on the 18th, which would have given him the undisputed lead, and Brewer also had a near miss with a 15-footer for a birdie on No. 18.

Marvland Pass Leaves Cadets With 21-14 Loss

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) —Dick Shiner, Maryland's contribution to this year's banner crop of college quarterbacks, threw a 36-yard touchdown pass on the last play of the game Saturday for an 21-14 football upset over Air Force.

Hill also caught a six-yard scoring pass from Shiner in the third quarter to start the Terps on a great second-half comeback. The combination also clicked for a 45-yard touchdown play in the first quarter which was nullified by an offside penalty.

Maryland, which had been beaten in its first four games by ACC members, trailed 14-0 at halftime and didn't get even until there were only 2 minutes, 50 seconds left.

Villanova Wins

BILLY DANIEL

Daniel To Help With Boys Club Basketball Clinic

Another of the four high school cage coaches slated to lend a helping hand in the upcoming West Monroe Boys Club cage clinic will be St. Matthew's mentor Billy Daniel.

Coach Daniel, elected as the Twin Cities Basketball Coach of the year last season is currently in his second year at St. Matthews.

The clinic, beginning at 9 a.m. Nov. 2, is open to area youth between the ages of 7-18 according to club director Lloyd Williams.

Williams also reported that officials of the clinic were asking that all who plan to attend the affair to register at least a day in advance.

All boys who are members of the West Monroe Boys club will be admitted to the clinic free with their membership cards.

Costs range from 25 cents for the 7-10 year old group to $1.00 for the 17-18 year olds.

A membership card to the Boys Club allows its holder to participate in all functions of the Club throughout the year.

Ducks Wing Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Oregon's flashy Ducks completely outclassed Arizona to post an easy 28-12 non-conference football victory Saturday.

Berry riddled the Wildcats with 13 pass completions in 18 attempts for 190 yards.

Burrell scored twice on runs of six and 11 yards and Sonny Fisher, State's stocky 5-foot-9 quarterback, tallied on an 11-yard scamper. Justin Canale kicked two extra points but missed on field goal tries of 47 and 39 yards.

Houston, discovering it could not move against a rugged State defense on the ground, took to the air early in the game but Bulldog defenders picked off a couple of passes at crucial spots.

Burrells first touchdown came on a six-yard smash midway in the first quarter. The drive, which covered 37 yards in five plays, was sparked by a 19-yard run by Price Hodges and a 13-yard scamper by Fisher.

Several minutes later, Fisher climaxed a 51-yard drive with an 11-yard keeper around right end. He helped set up the tally with a 19-yard pass to Burrell.

Burrell scored again shortly before halftime on an 11-yard jaunt that ended a 52-yard drive highlighted by a nine-yard Fisher-to-Burrell aerial and several short smashes by fullback Hoyle Granger.

Houston drove to State's 12-yard line early in the second period but a penalty pushed the ball back and then Burrell intercepted a pass by Jack Skog.

Late in the third quarter, Houston drove to State's 35 but Fisher picked off one of Preasley Cooper's passes to halt the drive.

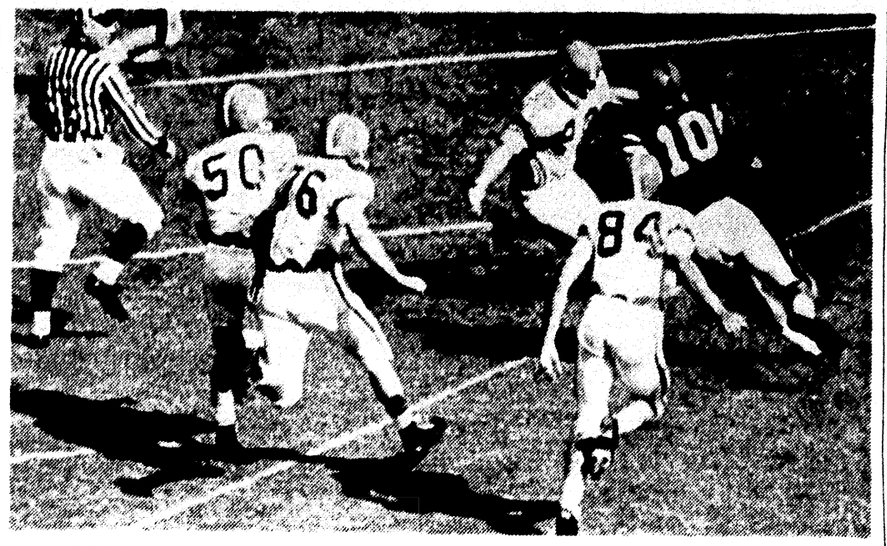
South Carolina Gains 10-10 Tie With Virginia

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Favored South Carolina, forced to come from behind in the final half, settled for a 10-10 tie Saturday with a Virginia football team that couldn't seem to escape shackling major penalties and lived to regret it.

Junior halfback Marty Rosen scotted 34 yards for the equalizing touchdown for the Gamecocks and kicking expert Jack McCathern booted the extra point that brought the two Atlantic Coast Conference rivals even midway the third quarter.

But Rosen never might have had a scoring chance if Virginia, which was penalized 126 yards, hadn't given the Gamecocks life a moment earlier. On the previous play, South Carolina had been forced to punt, but a holding infraction nullified the play and gave the Gamecocks the ball on the Cavalier 34.

McCathern's first period 25-yard field goal gave South Carolina a 3-0 lead, but the punchless Cavaliers moved into a 10-3 advantage at the half.



OLE MISS quarterback Perry Lee Dunn (10) seems all alone and surrounded by Tulane defenders but that line he is about to cross is the Greenies' goal. Dunn put the Rebs ahead in the opening stanza Saturday at New Orleans. Greenies are George Smith (20), Jim Saxon (84), Jay Crosby (76) and Dick Steigerwald (50). (AP Wirephoto)

DUNN-WEATHERLY DUO

Rebel Passes Darken Skies Over Greenies

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Aerial aces Perry Lee Dunn and Jim Weatherly darkened the sky with passes Saturday to lead Mississippi to a 21-0 victory over winless Tulane in a Southeastern Conference football game.

Fumbles lost	0	2

He led the fifth-ranked Rebels on their first two touchdown drives of 59 and 81 yards—going over for both on runs of three and one yards.

Weatherly, a 181-pound junior, pegged a 21-yard strike to fullback Mike Dennis for a third quarter touchdown. He wound up the day completing four of seven passes for 56 yards.

The pass-minded Rebels, seeking higher national ranking, now have won three of four games this season. An opening scoreless tie against Memphis State is the only blemish.

Tulane, 0-5 on the year, played hardnosed defensive ball in the first half, holding Ole Miss to a single touchdown and smothering a Rebel drive on the 2 at intermission.

The Greenies, who have gone 16 games without a vicotry, failed to penetrate the Ole Miss 45-yard line.

Ole Miss scored after 5:17 of the first quarter, rolling 59 yards in six plays. Dunn keyed the drive with passes of 19 yards to end Allen Brown and 11 yards to wingback Bill Clay. Then the burly 22-year-old quarterback from Natchez, Miss., swept in around right end.

In the third quarter, Dunn moved the Rebels 81 yards in eight plays for their second touchdown. Big plays were a 28-yard pass to end Reed Davis and 19 yards to tailback Billy Sumrall.

OVER VMI

Bizarre Blunder Helps Navy Win

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — With it's great quarterback Roger Staubach held in check, Navy pounced on a bizarre blunder in the fading seconds of the opening half for its first score Saturday and went on to a 21-12 victory over Virginia Military Institute in the 17th Oyster Bowl football game.

The touchdown that broke open the fiercely played game after the Middies' Fred Martin tried a field goal from the VMI 31. A third string VMI quarterback, Mark Mulrooney, playing safety in the end zone, reached up to deflect the short kick in the fashion of a soccer goalie.

Mulrooney absent-mindedly walked away from the ball—thinking it dead — as Marlin rushed in to recover for a touchdown. It was equivalent to nabbing a fumble in the end zone

Marlin kicked the extra point. Their spirits temporarily dampened by this weird turn of events the Keydets, 23-point underdogs, yielded two touchdowns to the Middies in the space of four minutes in the third period but fought back to score twice in the final quarter.

Blue Devils Exke Out 35-30 Edge From Clemson

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Sophomore Quarterback Scotty Glacken threw four touchdown passes, three of them to end Stan Crisson as Duke's Blue Devils won a 35-30 Atlantic Coast Conference football victory over Clemson here Saturday.

A homecoming crowd of 28,000 was limp at the finish of the high-scoring battle which saw Clemson try desperately in the last two minutes to pull the game out. The Tigers moved to Duke's 22 but four passes fell incomplete.

Duke halfback Jay Wilkinson shared in the scoring honors by shaking loose on a 67-yard touchdown romp, scoring again on a 28-yard screen pass play from Glacken, and setting up another with a 69-yard run.

They will talk about this game for a long time—31 points was rolled up on the scoreboard in the second period, 14 by Duke and 17 by Clemson.

Glacken fired touchdown passes of 28 yards to Wilkinson, and 34, 10 and 28 to Crisson. The four scoring passes set a new ACC record for one game. Crisson tied the ACC mark with three touchdown pass receptions.

Illinois Beats Minnesota 16-6 In Big 10 Tilt

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Illinois recovered four Minnesota fumbles and smashed its way to a 16-6 Big Ten football victory Saturday before a homecoming crowd of 61,229.

Holding a precarious 9-6 lead in the fourth quarter, Illinois' Jim Plankenhorn grabbed a fumbled punt by Jerry Pelletier and on the next play sophomore quarterback Fred Custardo ran nine yards for the clinching touchdown.

The victory was the third for the seventh-ranked Illini who remained undefeated and who now have a Big Ten record of two triumphs and one tie.

Failing to take advantage of 20 mile per hour winds in the first quarter, Illinois struck for a touchdown and a field goal against the wind in the second quarter for a 9-0 half-time lead.

The Illini moved from the Minnesota 49 late in the first quarter and with the help of a couple of penalties scored on a seven-yard pass from Mike Taliaferro to Gregg Schumacher. Kraig Lofquist blocked the attempted kick for the extra point.

JIMMY SIDLE ROMPS

Undefeated Auburn Beats Tech In Wild Offensive Tilt

ATLANTA (AP) — Quarterback Jimmy Sidle, the Southeastern Conference's leading yard-gainer, led undefeated Auburn to a 29-21 upset of eighth-ranked Georgia Tech before a record crowd of 53,091 Saturday.

The Tech defense was unable to stop Sidle as he passed and ran the unranked Tigers to victory in the wild offensive football battle.

Sidle passed for one touchdown and ran for another, winning the battle of the quarterbacks over Tech's Billy Lothridge, who passed for a Tech touchdown in the waning moments of the first half.

Tech was unable to move the ball and Auburn drove 76 yards in nine plays for its second score. Sidle got the drive going with a 33-yard pass to end Mike Helms.

Frederickson carried for 11 yards and a first down at the 7 at the start of the second period. Two plays later Sidle passed to Rawson for the score. Woodall again converted.

Auburn tackle Chuck Hurston caught Lothridge trying to pass from his own end zone and tackled him for a safety, making the score 16-7.

Tech finally got started late in the second period, driving 80 yards in 14 plays.

Auburn was penalized five yards for too much time at its own 11, giving Tech a first down at the 6. Two plays later, Perry Haddock blasted around left end for a touchdown. Lothridge added the extra point and the half ended Auburn 16, Tech 14.

Tech came out fired up for the second half but failed to score on its first drive. On another try Tech drove 48 yards in six plays for its go-ahead touchdown. Lothridge got the drive going with an 18-yard run and on second down at the 15 fired a touchdown pass to end Dick Emerson.

Auburn took the kickoff and drove for its third touchdown. The Tigers moved 73 yards in 11 plays and Sidle climaxed the drive by pitching out to Frederickson, who carried it 25 yard for the score. Woodall converted for a 23-21 lead.

BY TEXAS AGGIES

Horned Froggies Halted With Tie

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Texas A&M's aggressive Cadets doused two late Texas Christian thrusts Saturday and tied the highly-favored Horned Frogs' football team 14-14.

TCU twice drove within striking distance in the final seven minutes but a futile 43-yard field goal by Jimmy McAteer ended one march and quarterback Jim Keller intercepted a pass to kill the second threat.

The tie did either team little good, since it virtually erased both from title contention in the Southwest Conference Race. Each had lost one conference tilt previously.

The Frogs, favored by two touchdowns, struck quickly in the first quarter, driving 40 yards into the Aggie end zone. A 14-yard pass from quarterback Gray Mills to halfback Donny Smith capped the drive.

A&M tied the count at 7-all in the second quarter with George Hargett sparking a touchdown thrust that ended with fullback Jerry Rogers diving in from the 1.

With 2:41 left in the second half, Ward executed his defensive back-breaker to boost the Aggies into a 14-7 lead that stood until the fourth period.

BIG HOMECOMING

Maroons Blank Houston U., 20-0

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—Mississippi State combined the speed of halfback Ode Burrell with an alert pass defense Saturday to beat the University of Houston 20-0.

A homecoming crowd of 27,000 watched the Bulldogs roll to their fourth victory without a loss. They have been tied once, a 9-9 deadlock with Florida. It was Houston's fifth consecutive loss.

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP)—Statistics of the Houston—Mississippi State football game:

	Houston	Miss. St.
First downs	16	16
Rushing yardage	151	197
Passing yardage	98	44
Passes	8-16	5-11
Passes intercepted by	0	3
Punts	3-37	3-34
Yards penalized	65	52

Burrell scored twice on runs of six and 11 yards and Sonny Fisher, State's stocky 5-foot-9 quarterback, tallied on an 11-yard scamper. Justin Canale kicked two extra points but missed on field goal tries of 47 and 39 yards.

Houston, discovering it could not move against a rugged State defense on the ground, took to the air early in the game but Bulldog defenders picked off a couple of passes at crucial spots.

Burrells first touchdown came on a six-yard smash midway in the first quarter. The drive, which covered 37 yards in five plays, was sparked by a 19-yard run by Price Hodges and a 13-yard scamper by Fisher.

Several minutes later, Fisher climaxed a 51-yard drive with an 11-yard keeper around right end. He helped set up the tally with a 19-yard pass to Burrell.

Burrell scored again shortly before halftime on an 11-yard jaunt that ended a 52-yard drive highlighted by a nine-yard Fisher-to-Burrell aerial and several short smashes by fullback Hoyle Granger.

Houston drove to State's 12-yard line early in the second period but a penalty pushed the ball back and then Burrell intercepted a pass by Jack Skog.

Late in the third quarter, Houston drove to State's 35 but Fisher picked off one of Preasley Cooper's passes to halt the drive.

BILLY DANIEL

Daniel To Help With Boys Club Basketball Clinic

Another of the four high school cage coaches slated to lend a helping hand in the upcoming West Monroe Boys Club cage clinic will be St. Matthew's mentor Billy Daniel.

Coach Daniel, elected as the Twin Cities Basketball Coach of the year last season is currently in his second year at St. Matthews.

The clinic, beginning at 9 a.m. Nov. 2, is open to area youth between the ages of 7-18 according to club director Lloyd Williams.

Williams also reported that officials of the clinic were asking that all who plan to attend the affair to register at least a day in advance.

All boys who are members of the West Monroe Boys club will be admitted to the clinic free with their membership cards.

Costs range from 25 cents for the 7-10 year old group to $1.00 for the 17-18 year olds.

A membership card to the Boys Club allows its holder to participate in all functions of the Club throughout the year.

Ducks Wing Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Oregon's flashy Ducks completely outclassed Arizona to post an easy 28-12 non-conference football victory Saturday.

South Carolina Gains 10-10 Tie With Virginia

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Favored South Carolina, forced to come from behind in the final half, settled for a 10-10 tie Saturday with a Virginia football team that couldn't seem to escape shackling major penalties and lived to regret it.

Junior halfback Marty Rosen scotted 34 yards for the equalizing touchdown for the Gamecocks and kicking expert Jack McCathern booted the extra point that brought the two Atlantic Coast Conference rivals even midway the third quarter.

But Rosen never might have had a scoring chance if Virginia, which was penalized 126 yards, hadn't given the Gamecocks life a moment earlier. On the previous play, South Carolina had been forced to punt, but a holding infraction nullified the play and gave the Gamecocks the ball on the Cavalier 34.

McCathern's first period 25-yard field goal gave South Carolina a 3-0 lead, but the punchless Cavaliers moved into a 10-3 aovantage at the half.

OLE MISS quarterback Perry Lee Dunn (10) seems all alone and surrounded by Tulane defenders but that line he is about to cross is the Greenies' goal. Dunn put the Rebs ahead in the opening stanza Saturday at New Orleans. Greenies are George Smith (20), Jim Saxon (84), Jay Crosby (76) and Dick Steigerwald (50). (AP Wirephoto)

DUNN-WEATHERLY DUO

Rebel Passes Darken Skies Over Greenies

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Aerial aces Perry Lee Dunn and Jim Weatherly darkened the sky with passes Saturday to lead Mississippi to a 21-0 victory over winless Tulane in a Southeastern Conference football game.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Statistics of the Mississippi—Tulane game:

	MISS	TULANE
First downs	20	4
Rushing yardage	115	69
Passing yardage	240	5
Passes	15-26	4- 9
Passes intercepted by	2	0
Punts	5-32.0	9-34.0
Fumbles lost	0	7
Yards penalized	45	32

Dunn, a 202 - pound senior, clicked on 11 of 19 passes for 194 yards.

He led the fifth-ranked Rebels on their first two touchdown drives of 59 and 81 yards—going over for both on runs of three and one yards.

Weatherly, a 181-pound junior, pegged a 21-yard strike to fullback Mike Dennis for a third quarter touchdown. He wound up the day completing four of seven passes for 56 yards.

The pass-minded Rebels, seeking higher national ranking, now have won three of four games this season. An opening scoreless tie against Memphis State is the only blemish.

Tulane, 0-5 on the year, played hardnosed defensive ball in the first half, holding Ole Miss to a single touchdown and smothering a Rebel drive on the 2 at intermission.

The Greenies, who have gone 16 games without a vicotry, failed to penetrate the Ole Miss 45-yard line.

Ole Miss scored after 5:17 of the first quarter, rolling 59 yards in six plays. Dunn keyed the drive with passes of 19 yards to end Allen Brown and 11 yards to wingback Bill Clay. Then the burly 22-year-old quarterback from Natchez, Miss., swept in around right end.

In the third quarter, Dunn moved the Rebels 81 yards in eight plays for their second touchdown. Big plays were a 28-yard pass to end Reed Davis and 19 yards to tailback Billy Sumrall.

OVER VMI

Bizarre Blunder Helps Navy Win

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — With it's great quarterback Roger Staubach held in check, Navy pounced on a bizarre blunder in the fading seconds of the opening half for its first score Saturday and went on to a 21-12 victory over Virginia Military Institute in the 17th Oyster Bowl football game.

The touchdown that broke open the fiercely played game after the Middies' Fred Martin tried a field goal from the VMI 31. A third string VMI quarterback, Mark Mulrooney, playing safety in the end zone, reached up to deflect the short kick in the fashion of a soccer goalie.

Mulrooney absent-mindedly walked away from the ball—thinking it dead — as Marlin rushed in to recover for a touchdown. It was equivalent to nabbing a fumble in the end zone

Marlin kicked the extra point.

Their spirits temporarily dampened by this weird turn of events the Keydets, 23-point underdogs, yielded two touchdowns to the Middies in the space of four minutes in the third period but fought back to score twice in the final quarter.

Blue Devils Exke Out 35-30 Edge From Clemson

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Sophomore Quarterback Scotty Glacken threw four touchdown passes, three of them to end Stan Crisson as Duke's Blue Devils won a 35-30 Atlantic Coast Conference football victory over Clemson here Saturday.

A homecoming crowd of 28,000 was limp at the finish of the high-scoring battle which saw Clemson try desperately in the last two minutes to pull the game out. The Tigers moved to Duke's 22 but four passes fell incomplete.

Duke halfback Jay Wilkinson shared in the scoring honors by shaking loose on a 67-yard touchdown romp, scoring again on a 28-yard screen pass play from Glacken, and setting up another with a 69-yard run.

They will talk about this game for a long time—31 points was rolled up on the scoreboard in the second period, 14 by Duke and 17 by Clemson.

Glacken fired touchdown passes of 28 yards to Wilkinson, and 34, 10 and 28 to Crisson. The four scoring passes set a new ACC record for one game. Crisson tied the ACC mark with three touchdown pass receptions.

Illinois Beats Minnesota 16-6 In Big 10 Tilt

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Illinois recovered four Minnesota fumbles and smashed its way to a 16-6 Big Ten football victory Saturday before a homecoming crowd of 61,229.

Holding a precarious 9-6 lead in the fourth quarter, Illinois' Jim Plankenhorn grabbed a fumbled punt by Jerry Pelletier and on the next play sophomore quarterback Fred Custardo ran nine yards for the clinching touchdown.

The victory was the third for the seventh - ranked Illini who remained undefeated and who now have a Big Ten record of two triumphs and one tie.

Failing to take advantage of 20 mile per hour winds in the first quarter, Illinois struck for a touchdown and a field goal against the wind in the second quarter for a 9-0 half-time lead.

The Illini moved from the Minnesota 49 late in the first quarter and with the help of a couple of penalties scored on a seven-yard pass from Mike Taliaferro to Gregg Schumacher. Kraig Lofquist blocked the attempted kick for the extra point.

JIMMY SIDLE ROMPS

Undefeated Auburn Beats Tech In Wild Offensive Tilt

ATLANTA (AP) — Quarterback Jimmy Sidle, the Southeastern Conference's leading yard-gainer, led undefeated Auburn to a 29-21 upset of eighth-ranked Georgia Tech before a record crowd of 53,091 Saturday.

The Tech defense was unable to stop Sidle as he passed and ran the unranked Tigers to victory in the wild offensive football battle.

Sidle passed for one touchdown and ran for another, winning the battle of the quarterbacks over Tech's Billy Lothridge, who passed for a Tech touchdown in the waning moments of the first half.

Frederickson carried for 11 yards and a first down at the 7 at the start of the second period. Two plays later Sidle passed to Rawson for the score. Woodall again converted.

Auburn tackle Chuck Hurston caught Lothridge trying to pass from his own end zone and tackled him for a safety, making the score 16-7.

Tech finally got started late in the second period, driving 80 yards in 14 plays.

Auburn was penalized five yards for too much time at its own 11, giving Tech a first down at the 6. Two plays later, Perry Haddock blasted around left end for a touchdown. Lothridge added the extra point and the half ended Auburn 16, Tech 14.

Tech came out fired up for the second half but failed to score on its first drive. On another try Tech drove 48 yards in six plays for its go - ahead touchdown. Lothridge got the drive going with an 18-yard run and on second down at the 15 fired a touchdown pass to end Dick Emerson.

Horned Froggies Halted With Tie

TCU twice drove within striking distance in the final seven minutes but a futile 43 - yard field goal by Jimmy McAteer ended one march and quarterback Jim Keller intercepted a pass to kill the second threat.

Fumbles lost	1	1
Yards penalized	40	20

The tie did either team little good, since it virtually erased both from title contention in the Southwest Conference Race. Each had lost one conference tilt previously.

The Frogs, favored by two touchdowns, struck quickly in the first quarter, driving 40 yards into the Aggie end zone. A 14-yard pass from quarterback Gray Mills to halfback Donny Smith capped the drive.

A&M tied the count at 7-all in the second quarter with George Hargett sparking a touchdown thrust that ended with fullback Jerry Rogers diving in from the 1.

With 2:41 left in the second half, Ward executed his defensive back-breaker to boost the Aggies into a 14-7 lead that stood until the fourth period.

Bow Hunters Open Season

With Sam Hanna

Deer Hunting Starts

Archery has come of age.

Small at first a few years ago, today it's a big sport, growing every year as more and more people hike out to the woods to get a deer before there's frost on the pumpkin.

All it takes is a little practice, they say, for a man with a reasonable amount of patience to kill a whitetail with a bow and arrow.

There'll be a lot of novice bow hunters in the woods next Saturday when the archery season opens until November 24th, but there will be others too who can kill a deer as quickly with a bow as most of us can with a gun.

The archery season, opened annually by the Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission, is held before the regular gun season, because, for one thing, the two don't mix.

But for a better reason, the season is held before the gun season because it gives people an ample opportunity to get into the woods without really effecting the deer population.

Last year there were 10 to 15 deer killed during the special archery season.

Archers can kill deer in any area opened for deer hunting during the regular gun season. In fact, the bow hunter can kill either sex in all deer parishes with the exception of Concordia, LaSalle, Caldwell, Catahoula, Natchitoches, Grant, Avoyelles, St. Landry and Pointe Coupee.

For those who are not real accomplished archers, the bow season does offer a chance for the sportsman to make a first-hand study of the whitetail.

The hunter can learn a lot by observing.

Archers must have the basic hunting license, plus a big game license. And those who plan to hunt the game management areas must have a permit. All the public areas will be open in this section.

Contact either the Monroe or Ferriday office of the commission for your permit.

And if you don't know, your arrow must be well-sharpened with a metal broadhead blade not less than ⅞ inches and not more than 1½-inch in width.

Of course, you can't carry a gun. And your bow must have at least 30 pounds of pulling power.

With the woods so dry, the archer should be able to pick up the sound of a walking deer easily. It'll be a good season.

Drought Hurts Hunting

Everybody's talking about the weather. And it is unusually hot and dry, conditions that make for poor hunting, as reported by sportsmen who have been out trying to hunt squirrels and doves.

Few squirrel hunters are getting the limit. In fact, most of the squirrel hunters are lucky if they get three to five.

And it's not because there aren't any squirrels. It's because the woods are too dry for the hunter to move around without being heard.

There aren't as many squirrels this year as there were last year, because last year was a bumper crop for squirrels. And remember that last year the biologists warned the hunters that this year wouldn't be as good.

We had a big crop of young squirrels last year because the mast the preceeding year was good. Last year the mast was not good and the biologists said that meant the young crop of squirrels this year wouldn't be good. Reproduction depends on the condition of the squirrels.

And it's bearing out to be true. Most hunters who are killing a few squirrels report that the majority of the squirrels they kill are older squirrels.

This report also comes from biologists and game wardens who are checking the squirrels.

But the hunting will be better if we ever get some rain.

The second split of the dove season, which opened October 19th and will continue through November 3rd, also has been a disappointment generally.

There have been some good shoots here and there, but most dove hunters are having trouble finding a concentration of birds. If you plan a hunt, try it late in the afternoon. It's too hot in the early afternoon hours and generally the birds aren't moving.

You must remember too that feed for doves is greater now than it was the first split of the season. This will spread the birds out.

Meantime, the continued drought may spell trouble for the duck hunting which is less than six weeks away. Ducks will be moving to areas where there's water. And at the moment we don't have too much water, or at least water in the woods. In fact, there's little or no water in the flats.

Apparently the drought already has had an affect on the waterfowl population in Northeast Louisiana. The latest survey conducted by state biologists showed 895,070 ducks in Louisiana, but our section had only 1,450.

Southwest Louisiana had the most, of course, with 622,450. The survey was conducted October 7-9th.

May Close Season

Because of the drought, the Arkansas Game & Fish Commission may close the deer season that is scheduled to open November 5th. The first split of the Arkansas deer season is set to run through November 11th.

But from all accounts, the woods in Arkansas are so dry the state commission is thinking about closing the season. Chairman Sam Holt said the matter would be discussed at the commission's next meeting, October 28th.

Rainfall in Arkansas this year has been almost 18 inches below normal. Squirrel and rabbit seasons have been opened, but the Arkansas officials are more concerned about the deer season since hunters camp out more during the whitetail season.

Incidentally, Director Nelson Cox suffered a heart attack, but is recovering. Those who know Nelson Cox hope that he will return to the job soon, since, in our opinion, he is one of the outstanding directors in the nation.

Canada Geese Transplanted

Louisiana will be part of a Canadian goose transplanting program that was started a few days ago at the National Wildlife Refuge near Sumner, Missouri.

The Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, part of the U.S. Department of the Interior, announced that 6,750 geese would be trapped and transplanted.

Louisiana is scheduled to get 750 immature Canadas for the Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge and 2,000 adult Canadas for the Rockefeller Refuge.

Other geese will be transplanted in Missouri and Arkansas. Some 1,500 immature Canadas will be placed in Holla Bend National Wildlife Refuge and the White River National Wildlife Refuge each in Arkansas.

Wildlife officials hope that by taking the birds off the Swan Lake in Missouri and transplanting them a wintering tradition would be established.

According to an inventory made October 8th, about 70,000 Canadas were on the Swan Lake National Wildlife Refuge. Sometimes the population peaks at 90,000.

Of course, the geese will be banded. To aid in the identification of transplanted birds after the releases, colored aluminum leg bands will be used on those captured geese going to Holla Bend, White River and Lacassine.

Little Man's Corner

It was dry and hot, but the sweaty, dusty little men made news afield.

Dove hunters turned out in force on opening day of the second split at George Franklin's place in Richland Parish. Some of them got some good wing shooting, but others didn't.

Meantime, in the Concordia area, Percy Roundtree's party had a good shoot. And in the Lake St. John area, a rain helped the squirrel hunting.

Arla Hollis of Crestview got the limit of squirrels. A group of youngsters who have been killing a few along include Butch Cross, Keith Boykin, Fred Bamburg, Scooter Browning and Wren Boykin.

In addition, F. E. Fortenberry of Lake Providence got eight squirrels at the Nyanza Hunting Club. Jesse Hires also got eight in the Oak Grove swamp.

Other squirrel hunters who have been shooting a few include Gene Grisby, John H. Burton and Charley Lee King.

Meantime, the fishing has been improving. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Williams of Oak Grove landed a nice string of white perch in Old River near Lake Providence.

From Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Stanford caught some specs in Moon Lake on the Ouachita River. Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Thompson of Monroe caught the limit of bream in Lake St. John.

L. M. Rhea of Lake Providence has been catching bass in the big lake while Prince Gill landed a bass there that almost weighed four pounds.

Ferriday fishermen getting the limit of bass were John T. Reeves, Jimmie Vanier, Ed and Harry Weatherly, Ernest Waterman, A. E. Simmons, Sam Tate and Arnett H. White.

License Sales To Set Record

BATON ROUGE (Special) — L. D. Young, Jr., director of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission, has predicted that sales of hunting licenses for the 1963-64 hunting season would break all records and reach an all-time high.

He cited this as a clear indication that more and more persons were seeking outdoor recreation in the form of hunting.

Young said that sales of basic hunting licenses for the 1962-63 numbered 260,862. There were also 1,814 non-resident trip licenses, 367 non-resident season licenses and 69,470 big game licenses sold.

This marked an increase over 1961-62 when the sale of basic hunting licenses was 247,227. Non-resident trip licenses in that year amounted to 1,748; non-resident season licenses were 381 and big game licenses sold totaled 60,011.

In 1960-61, basic license sales were 257,438; non-resident trip license sales were 2,659; non-resident season licenses were 528 and big game license sales amounted to 56,462.

Young said that the drop in basic license sales in 1961-62, along with the decrease of non-resident trip or non-resident seasonal licenses, could be attributed in great part to the decline in waterfowl hunting resulting from greatly curtailed seasons and bag limits.

He called attention to the steadily increasing sales of big game licenses over the three-year period and said this clearly indicated a trend toward increased interest in deer hunting.

Young expressed the belief that the sale of big game licenses would continue to grow and this would be reflected in final figures for the 1963-64 season.

"A long-range program of restocking suitable habitat with deer live-trapped from over - populated areas has greatly widened the deer range in Louisiana," he said. "This is providing greater hunter interest and increasing bag success for deer hunters, plainly reflected in the steady increase in sales of big game licenses."

He concluded by saying that the 1963-64 sales would probably he higher than those for 1962-63 for two reasons: more liberalized duck hunting seasons and bag limits which would renew interest among waterfowlers, and the all-time high population of deer which would appeal to Louisiana's growing number of deer hunters.

Both liberalized waterfowl hunting opportunity and the commission's successful efforts to increase both the range and the number of deer should also be reflected in the sale of non-resident trip and non-resident season license sales, he said.

Cadets Tromp Wake Forest In 47-0 Win

WEST POINT, N.Y., (AP)— Army routed Wake Forest 47-0 Saturday with Frank Cosentino, a sophomore, teaming with veterans Carl Stichweh, Ray Paske and Ken Waldrop to lead the relentless offensive.

It was Wake Forest's fifth straight defeat of the football season and gave Army a 4-1 record. A near capacity crowd of 30,200 sat in a sweltering sun for the slaughter.

Fumbles by Jim Bedgood and Joe Carazo paved the way for two quick Army touchdowns in the first period, and after that the Cadets emptied their bench and mixed passes with plunges and open field running in building up the score.

Karl Sweetan, a sophomore, sparkled for Wake Forest with his passes but the Wake Forest line was unable to contain the Army forward wall, and Wake Forest only penetrated to the Army 40.

Ray Hawkins made the longest run of the day, 66 yards to the Wake Forest 20, as the first half drew to a close after a clipping penalty put the ball back to the 22. Cosentino passed to Curtiss Lindler for 13 before Dick Peterson finally plunged over from the three.

In the final period Cosentino, fading back to pass, couldn't find a receiver and ran 21 for a touchdown. The 177-pound quarterback from Maplewood, N.J., stamped himself as coming Army star with his all-around performance.

Army opened the second half with a sustained march from its 24, with Paske breaking loose for a 21-yard run, and John Seymour dashing 11 to the Wake Forest one, and then carrying over on the next play.

Iacavazzi Leads Columbia Romp Against Colgate

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Cosmo Iacavazzi, Princeton's spectacular fullback, hurtled over for two touchdowns, and Don McKay, his tailback teammate, scored and one passed for another in the Tigers' surprising 42-0 romp over previously unbeaten Collate Saturday.

It was the fourth straight victory for the undefeated Tigers who handed the Red Raiders their most lopsided defeat in the 17-year rivalry between the two schools. Princeton had been only a 6½ point favorite.

Iacavazzi and McKay, who between them have gained more than half Princeton's rushing yardage this season, were used only sparingly as the Tigers scored quickly in the first quarter and walked off the field at halftime with a 28-0 advantage. Iacavazzi sat out the entire second half.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)— Unbeaten Harvard's John Hartranft and Ed Malmostrom of Columbia matched field goals before No. 1 Crimson alumnus President John F. Kennedy and settled for a 3-3 Ivy League football tie after a frustrating fourth quarter Saturday.

Harvard fullback Bill Grana apparently had scored the tie-breaking touchdown four minutes before the finish but he fumbled diving over the goal line. Columbia's Gene Thompson scooped up the loose ball in the end zone and it was ruled a touchback.

Tar Heels Daze State Foes, 31-10

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)— North Carolina shocked unbeaten N. C. State with two third-period touchdowns 56 seconds apart Saturday enroute to a 31-10 Atlantic Coast Conference football victory.

The defeat knocked the Wolfpack from the nation's undefeated list.

A record crowd of 45,500 earlier had watched a brilliant 74-yard runback of an intercepted pass by State halfback Tony Kosarsky that tied the score at 10-10 in the final seconds of the first half.

The Tar Heels ripped back in the third period, scoring on a 63-yard drive with the opening kickoff. Quarterback Junior Edge's passing sparked the march which ended with halfback Ken Williard's six-yard run.

A State fumble on the next play from scrimmage gave the Tar Heels the ball on the Wolfpack 22. Edge tossed quickly to end Joe Robinson to make it 24-10.

The reeling Wolfpack was unable to muster a serious threat after that, and North Carolina, now 4-0 in the conference and 4-1 over-all, iced the game with an 85-yard scoring march in the final period.

State, seeking its fifth straight road victory, charged from behind twice in the first half but both scores, a field goal and Koszarsky's steal, resulted from Tar Heel mistakes.

Penn Shut Out

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Billy Hunter raced 53 yards for a touchdown and John Paglio booted a 24-yard field goal after a 58-yard romp by Mike Koski Saturday as favored Syracuse thumped Penn State 9-0 on a hot, sunny afternoon.

It was the first time Penn State had been shut out in 54 games since 1958.

Hunter, a 5-foot-10 dash man from South Merchantville, N.J. broke away and simply outran the Penn State defense on his scoring romp at 13:16 of the second period. A block by Bill Schoover sprung him loose, and he simply sped past safety man Joe Vargo.

Koski, a junior from Holbrook Mass., scooted 58 yards down the sidelines on the first play of the third period. He finally was hauled down from behind by Vargo on the Penn State seven. After Wally Mahle's pass to George Fair was caught beyond the end zone, Syracuse had to settle for a field goal.

John Paglio, who had been wide with his placement try after the touchdown, was on target this time.

Syracuse, beaten by Penn State the last two years in this bitter rivalry, hadn't blanked the Nittany Lions since 1934 when it was 16-0. Army had been the last team to shut out Penn State in a 46-0 game in 1954 and Army, of course, was the team that knocked state out of the unbeaten ranks last week 10-7.

Hunter, who was ejected from the game in the final period for a personal foul, led the ground gainers with 81 yards on 11 carries as Syracuse's powerful grounded offense chewed out 233 yards, a bit below its nation-leading average of 272 going into the game. Koski gained 71 on five attempts and Pete Liske, Penn State's quarterback, was its top man with 48 on nine runs.

Bow Hunters Open Season

With Sam Hanna

Deer Hunting Starts

Archery has come of age.

Small at first a few years ago, today it's a big sport, growing every year as more and more people hike out to the woods to get a deer before there's frost on the pumpkin.

All it takes is a little practice, they say, for a man with a reasonable amount of patience to kill a whitetail with a bow and arrow.

There'll be a lot of novice bow hunters in the woods next Saturday when the archery season opens until November 24th, but there will be others too who can kill a deer as quickly with a bow as most of us can with a gun.

The archery season, opened annually by the Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission, is held before the regular gun season, because, for one thing, the two don't mix.

But for a better reason, the season is held before the gun season because it gives people an ample opportunity to get into the woods without really effecting the deer population.

Last year there were 10 to 15 deer killed during the special archery season.

Archers can kill deer in any area opened for deer hunting during the regular gun season. In fact, the bow hunter can kill either sex in all deer parishes with the exception of Concordia, LaSalle, Caldwell, Catahoula, Natchitoches, Grant, Avoyelles, St. Landry and Pointe Coupee.

For those who are not real accomplished archers, the bow season does offer a chance for the sportsman to make a first-hand study of the whitetail.

The hunter can learn a lot by observing.

Archers must have the basic hunting license, plus a big game license. And those who plan to hunt the game management areas must have a permit. All the public areas will be open in this section.

Contact either the Monroe or Ferriday office of the commission for your permit.

And if you don't know, your arrow must be well-sharpened with a metal broadhead blade not less than ⅞ inches and not more than 1½-inch in width.

Of course, you can't carry a gun. And your bow must have at least 30 pounds of pulling power.

With the woods so dry, the archer should be able to pick up the sound of a walking deer easily. It'll be a good season.

Drought Hurts Hunting

Everybody's talking about the weather. And it is unusually hot and dry, conditions that make for poor hunting, as reported by sportsmen who have been out trying to hunt squirrels and doves.

Few squirrel hunters are getting the limit. In fact, most of the squirrel hunters are lucky if they get three to five.

And it's not because there aren't any squirrels. It's because the woods are too dry for the hunter to move around without being heard.

There aren't as many squirrels this year as there were last year, because last year was a bumper crop for squirrels. And remember that last year the biologists warned the hunters that this year wouldn't be as good.

We had a big crop of young squirrels last year because the mast the preceeding year was good. Last year the mast was not good and the biologists said that meant the young crop of squirrels this year wouldn't be good. Reproduction depends on the condition of the squirrels.

And it's bearing out to be true. Most hunters who are killing a few squirrels report that the majority of the squirrels they kill are older squirrels.

This report also comes from biologists and game wardens who are checking the squirrels.

But the hunting will be better if we ever get some rain.

The second split of the dove season, which opened October 19th and will continue through November 3rd, also has been a disappointment generally.

There have been some good shoots here and there, but most dove hunters are having trouble finding a concentration of birds. If you plan a hunt, try it late in the afternoon. It's too hot in the early afternoon hours and generally the birds aren't moving.

You must remember too that feed for doves is greater now than it was the first split of the season. This will spread the birds out.

Meantime, the continued drought may spell trouble for the duck hunting which is less than six weeks away. Ducks will be moving to areas where there's water. And at the moment we don't have too much water, or at least water in the woods. In fact, there's little or no water in the flats.

Apparently the drought already has had an affect on the waterfowl population in Northeast Louisiana. The latest survey conducted by state biologists showed 895,070 ducks in Louisiana, but our section had only 1,450.

Southwest Louisiana had the most, of course, with 622,450. The survey was conducted October 7-9th.

May Close Season

Because of the drought, the Arkansas Game & Fish Commission may close the deer season that is scheduled to open November 5th. The first split of the Arkansas deer season is set to run through November 11th.

But from all accounts, the woods in Arkansas are so dry the state commission is thinking about closing the season. Chairman Sam Holt said the matter would be discussed at the commission's next meeting, October 28th.

Rainfall in Arkansas this year has been almost 18 inches below normal. Squirrel and rabbit seasons have been opened, but the Arkansas officials are more concerned about the deer season since hunters camp out more during the whitetail season.

Incidentally, Director Nelson Cox suffered a heart attack, but is recovering. Those who know Nelson Cox hope that he will return to the job soon, since, in our opinion, he is one of the outstanding directors in the nation.

Canada Geese Transplanted

Louisiana will be part of a Canadian goose transplanting program that was started a few days ago at the National Wildlife Refuge near Sumner, Missouri.

The Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, part of the U.S. Department of the Interior, announced that 6,750 geese would be trapped and transplanted.

Louisiana is scheduled to get 750 immature Canadas for the Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge and 2,000 adult Canadas for the Rockefeller Refuge.

Other geese will be transplanted in Missouri and Arkansas. Some 1,500 immature Canadas will be placed in Holla Bend National Wildlife Refuge and the White River National Wildlife Refuge each in Arkansas.

Wildlife officials hope that by taking the birds off the Swan Lake in Missouri and transplanting them a wintering tradition would be established.

According to an inventory made October 8th, about 70,000 Canadas were on the Swan Lake National Wildlife Refuge. Sometimes the population peaks at 90,000.

Of course, the geese will be banded. To aid in the identification of transplanted birds after the releases, colored aluminum leg bands will be used on those captured geese going to Holla Bend, White River and Lacassine.

Little Man's Corner

It was dry and hot, but the sweaty, dusty little men made news afield.

Dove hunters turned out in force on opening day of the second split at George Franklin's place in Richland Parish. Some of them got some good wing shooting, but others didn't.

Meantime, in the Concordia area, Percy Roundtree's party had a good shoot. And in the Lake St. John area, a rain helped the squirrel hunting.

Arla Hollis of Crestview got the limit of squirrels. A group of youngsters who have been killing a few along include Butch Cross, Keith Boykin, Fred Bamburg, Scooter Browning and Wren Boykin.

In addition, F. E. Fortenberry of Lake Providence got eight squirrels at the Nyanza Hunting Club. Jesse Hires also got eight in the Oak Grove swamp.

Other squirrel hunters who have been shooting a few include Gene Grisby, John H. Burton and Charley Lee King.

Meantime, the fishing has been improving. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Williams of Oak Grove landed a nice string of white perch in Old River near Lake Providence.

From Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Stanford caught some specs in Moon Lake on the Ouachita River. Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Thompson of Monroe caught the limit of bream in Lake St. John.

L. M. Rhea of Lake Providence has been catching bass in the big lake while Prince Gill landed a bass there that almost weighed four pounds.

Ferriday fishermen getting the limit of bass were John T. Reeves, Jimmie Vanier, Ed and Harry Weatherly, Ernest Waterman, A. E. Simmons, Sam Tate and Arnett H. White.

Catching bass and bream limits on Workman's Bayou were A. M. Feltus, B. B. Beard, John S. Callon, L. S. Wade, H. C. Watkins, Leo Young and Lester J. Meng.

Army had been the last team to shut out Penn State in a 46-0 game in 1954 and Army, of course, was the team that knocked state out of the unbeaten ranks last week 10-7.

Hunter, who was ejected from the game in the final period for a personal foul, led the ground gainers with 81 yards on 11 carries as Syracuse's powerful grounded offense chewed out 233 yards, a bit below its nation-leading average of 272 going into the game. Koski gained 71 on five attempts and Pete Liske, Penn State's quarterback, was its top man with 48 on nine runs.

The World For WOMEN

October 20, 1963

Autumn brings to mind a number of things, not the least of which is the wiener roast over an outdoor grill. Pictured engaged in this all-American pastime are Mrs. Fred Westrom and sons, Charles and Clyde in the back yard of the family home, 2204 Island Drive.

MISS BONNIE SUANNA MARTIN

Suanna Martin Engaged To Wed Jimmy Albritton

Engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Bonnie Suanna Martin, daughter of Mrs. C. M. Martin and the late Mr. Martin of West Monroe to Jimmy Ross Albritton of Farmerville, is announced by her mother. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Albritton, Farmerville.

November 1 is the date chosen for the wedding which will be solemnized in McClendon Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. Rev. E. L. Hayes will officiate.

The bride - elect has chosen Miss Carolyn Causey as maid of honor and Miss Linda Kane and Miss Diane Albritton as bridesmaids. Danny Albritton will attend the bridegroom as best man and ushers will be Ronnie Bayles and Bobby Fletcher.

Miss Martin, a senior at West Monroe high school, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Tinsley and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Martin.

The prospective bridegroom is a junior at Northeast Louisiana State College and is also employed in Monroe. He is the grandson of Mrs. Iris Murphy.

Fall Hosiery Is Ornamental

A year ago, when Helen Sisson was doing lace and textured stockings for a hosiery company, everybody said it was just a good publicity grabber.

Now, textured stockings for sportive clothes are hardly news, and among the young the textured knee-high sock for city wear with suits is casually accepted.

To be really far out with stockings one has to have them fur-topped. For holiday wear a nylon knee-high sock is dressed up with separate cuffs of flat pile fur. Velvet surface socks are also fur-topped, usually in nutria or sheared raccoon.

Oscar Hills Honored On Visit Here

A visit in the twin cities by former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hill of Denver, Colorado, was the occasion for a number of informal courtesies during the past week. While here the Hills were guests in the home of Mrs. Hill's mother, Mrs. J. A. Hargrove in West Monroe, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack L. Owens Jr. of West Monroe invited the visitors for a steak supper on Thursday night. A coffee hour was given by Mrs. R. J. Wills at her home on South Grand, when she was assisted in the hospitalities by her daughter, Miss Carolyn Wills and her mother, Mrs. Lorena Pettit.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence B. Pettit's compliment to the Hills was a dinner in their home on Filer Street on Friday night, concluding the invitations extended the couple. The Hills have just returned to their home in Denver.

OPULENT LAYERED LOOK

Completely opulent describes a three-piece costume suit with its fur-lined, reversible coat. The collar-free jacket and slim skirt of beige wool is topped with a full - length coat that reverses from the tweed to sportive elegant mink gills.

Bethea-Floyd Wedding Held In Tallulah

The wedding of Miss Brenda Fay Floyd and William M. Bethea, both of Jackson, Miss., was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bethea in Tallulah last Saturday evening. Rev. Clark W. Bell of the Tallulah Methodist church performed the double ring ceremony at 6:30 p.m. in the presence of the family and close friends.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Floyd of Jackson, Miss., and Mr. Bethea is the son of Alfred M. Bethea of Monroe and Mrs. Geraldine Thost Browne of Tallulah.

Mr. Floyd gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a white brocade sheath, white satin hat with shoulder veil and matching accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Wayne Brown, sister of the groom. Fred Thost of Jackson, served his nephew as best man.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will establish a home in Jackson where both are employed at the Mississippi State Hospital.

PRUNES IN SUGAR

Store brown sugar in a jar with prunes. The prunes absorb sweetness from the sugar and the sugar takes some of the moisture from the prunes.

THE EASY LOOK IN FUR . . . Designed by Fredrica is this ensemble of Tourmaline, Emba natural pale beige mink and loopy mohair. The sweater, with the luxurious fur in front and back has a standing ring collar, long sleeves and waistband of mohair and is worn over a matching skirt.

Fur Trends For Fall Go Casual

Among fashion leaders in the past few years there has been a definite trend toward a casual look in furs. For Fall, 1963, it has taken hold of the entire fur industry. It is reflected in almost every collection, not only by leading U.S. designers, but by international stylists as well.

The "sportive" look is seen in all furs. But the undoubted fashion leader in the casual look in fur in American - bred mink, from dark ranch to the 12 natural colors of Emba mink.

The versatility of mink for styling and the wide range of natural colors of the fur, are responsible for its popularity with designers. In addition, its luxuriousness and ease of handling gives mink an elegance almost no other fur can achieve.

The new furs for Fall take on many aspects. For example, Betty Yokova of Neustradter Furs has fashioned Jasmine, Emba pure white mink, into a sportshirt which can be worn equally well with slacks or with a floor-length evening dress. The "shirt" features a placket front with gold ball buttons, side slits and bloused sleeves, fastened with French cuffs. The luxurious white mink is styled horizontally throughout.

The well-known fur house of Fredrica has fashioned a jumper of Diadem, Emba natural pale brown mink, which is sleeveless and with the fur worked horizontally to the hips. It can be worn with arms bare over a long evening skirt or over a tweed skirt and long-sleeved jersey blouse — either way, an elegant look.

Autumn Haze, Emba natural brown mink and the world's most desired fur, has been fashioned into a coat of great style by Phyllis of Max Bogen. Taking a theme from the military — another fashion trend for Fall, 1963 — the designer has placed mink epaulets on the shoulders and has given the neckline a close fitting binding of the fur which also edges the front of the coat. Two high placed mink buttons and square shoulders complete the detailing of the coat.

Sweaters, until recently comparatively few, abound in the collections. Some are all mink, others feature knit bindings or trim. A sweater in Azurene, Emba natural blue-grey mink, and designed by Oliver Gintel, has hidden center-front closings and is topped at the neckline with a turnover turtle neck of heavy ribbed wool knit, which also cinches the hips.

Belts of fur, leather and fabric are shown over reefers, polo and trench coats. The House of Revillon has styled Tourmaline, Emba natural pale beige mink, into a full-skirted coat with a shawl collar. This elegant style can be worn free-swinging or with its own belt of chiffon in a matching color, that has been stitched on to leather, then falls free, forming a soft cascade to the coat hem. Constantino of Christie Bros. has designed Autumn Haze, Emba natural brown mink, in the rare Breath-of-Spring Buff variation, into a trench coat of spectacular proportions. Topped with a large, notched collar, the elegant fur coat is tied at the waist with a matching mink belt, has diagonally - set patch pockets and side slits.

Furrier Ben Kahn has chosen Opal, Emba's newest mink in the Tourmaline category. Pale beige with an olive cast, the new fur is styled into a sport coat of unusal beauty. Double-breasted and fastened with pearl buttons, this newest of all casual fur fashions has a loose half-belt in back and a jaunty notched collar — all designed to make the lucky lady who owns it, look and feel glamorous from morning until late at night.

FAVORED EVENING WRAPS

White sweaters or stoles, wool or Orlon, are favorite evening wraps for most women. But even the most meticulous laundress has trouble keeping them from turning yellow after a series of washings. Try the new all-fabric bleach beads to restore them to their original whiteness.

The versatility of mink for styling and the wide range of natural colors of the fur, are responsible for its popularity with designers. In addition, its luxuriousness and ease of handling gives mink an elegance almost no other fur can achieve.

The new furs for Fall take on many aspects. For example, Betty Yokova of Neustradter Furs has fashioned Jasmine, Emba pure white mink, into a sportshirt which can be worn equally well with slacks or with a floor-length evening dress. The "shirt" features a placket front with gold ball buttons, side slits and bloused sleeves, fastened with French cuffs. The luxurious white mink is styled horizontally throughout.

The well-known fur house of Fredrica has fashioned a jumper of Diadem, Emba natural pale brown mink, which is sleeveless and with the fur worked horizontally to the hips. It can be worn with arms bare over a long evening skirt or over a tweed skirt and long-sleeved jersey blouse — either way, an elegant look.

Autumn Haze, Emba natural brown mink and the world's most desired fur, has been fashioned into a coat of great style by Phyllis of Max Bogen. Taking a theme from the military — another fashion trend for Fall, 1963 — the designer has placed mink epaulets on the shoulders and has given the neckline a close fitting binding of the fur which also edges the front of the coat. Two high placed mink buttons and square shoulders complete the detailing of the coat.

Sweaters, until recently comparatively few, abound in the collections. Some are all mink, others feature knit bindings or trim. A sweater in Azurene, Emba natural blue-grey mink, and designed by Oliver Gintel, has hidden center-front closings and is topped at the neckline with a turnover turtle neck of heavy ribbed wool knit which also cinches the hips.

Belts of fur, leather and fabric are shown over reefers, polo and trench coats. The House of Revillon has styled Tourmaline, Emba natural pale beige mink, into a full-skirted coat with a shawl collar. This elegant style can be worn free-swinging or with its own belt of chiffon in a matching color, that has been stitched on to leather, then falls free, forming a soft cascade to the coat hem. Constantino of Christie Bros. has designed Autumn Haze, Emba natural brown mink, in the rare Breath-of-Spring Buff variation, into a trench coat of spectacular proportions. Topped with a large, notched collar, the elegant fur coat is tied at the waist with a matching mink belt, has diagonally - set patch pockets and side slits.

Furrier Ben Kahn has chosen Opal, Emba's newest mink in the Tourmaline category. Pale beige with an olive cast, the new fur is styled into a sport coat of unusual beauty. Double-breasted and fastened with pearl buttons, this newest of all casual fur fashions has a loose half-belt in back and a jaunty notched collar — all designed to make the lucky lady who owns it, look and feel glamorous from morning until late at night.

FAVORED EVENING WRAPS

White sweaters or stoles, wool or Orlon, are favorite evening wraps for most women. But even the most meticulous laundress has trouble keeping them from turning yellow after a series of washings. Try the new all-fabric bleach beads to restore them to their original whiteness.

Patent Leather Is Now Dyeable

Still another innovation has come about which preserves or changes the character of patent leather altogether.

In the past patent leather shoes could be dyed but lost their sheen in the process. The new coloring process changes smooth leather to patent and patent to any new patent color.

Casual Elegance Keynote Throughout Fashion Field

There's a fresh, stimulating approach to suits, this fall. It is certain to delight women who like the ease of sports clothes but are reluctant to wear them in town. The new suits, many with matching, sleeveless wool pullovers, or bright contrasting silk or jersey blouses, are easy and relaxed.

Casual, indeed, are their raglan or balmacaan shoulders, small notched collars and air of simplicity. Not so casual, however, the soft, dressmaker elegance and vast attention to detail.

"The fall '63 vintage of suits," predicts the National Board of The Coat and Suit Industry, "will have an honored place in the wardrobes of mothers and daughters, alike. Suits combine fashion with function for fashion-conscious women of every age."

Careful seaming is used to effect the figure - skimming, gentle suit shapes. Thoughtful of comfort, indeed, were the suit designers in fashioning many with pliant shoulders and slim, easy shaping.

Sleeves are a cover story in themselves. Longer and slimmer, they make a welcome come-back after seasons of exposed forearms. Even more effective with shirtwaist cuffs, they are an important feature of the citified sportive look.

Visitors to Monroe last weekend were HAZEL and J. BURTON LeBLANC of Baton Rouge, guests in the home of the JAMAR ADCOCKS. Several informal parties given by old friends honored the LeBlancs during their stay from Thursday through Sunday.

Friday evening's courtesy was a buffet supper at the home of the ALLEN BARHAMS on Point Drive. Ten couples were invited to join the LeBlancs for the evening. A standing buffet was served, with guests helping themselves and gathering around the radio for the LSU-Miami game ..... Saturday afternoon, four couples joined the LeBlancs and their hosts, the BURT SPERRYS, for a boat trip up the river.

Frances and Jim honored their visitors at a small informal party at their home on Point Drive Saturday evening. Former friends of the LeBlancs were invited to renew acquaintance.

Hors d'oeuvres including tamale dip and caviar with cream cheese were served in the family room. The buffet in the family dining room, which was decorated with a copper pot filled with autumn berries, offered main courses throughout the evening. The menu included ham, roast beef, broccoli casserole with almonds, whole shrimp with a choice of sauces, hot biscuits, and petit fours.

On Sunday, the LeBlancs and Adcocks were invited for dinner at noon at Bayou DeSiard country club. ARABELLA and DERWOOD CANN were hosts at this time. The LeBlancs left later in the afternoon to return to their home in Baton Rouge.

Several out of town visitors have been here this week to attend the opening of "Auntie Mame", 150th major production of the Little Theatre of Monroe. REGINA MOFFETT (Mrs. Tad) DOWLING of Chehalis, Washington; and MARY LEE SULLIVAN (Mrs. Jack) HANCOCK of Champaign, Illinois, and Boca Raton, Florida, were among those coming from afar. Both were members of the cast of "The Whole Town's Talking," Little Theatre's first play which was presented in the old Grand Street theatre. On Thursday, FRANCES M'HENRY was hostess at luncheon honoring these two at the Frances hotel.

The porch at Bayou DeSiard country club was the scene of a luncheon Friday at noon when LALLAGE FEAZEL was hostess honoring Regina. A fall arrangement of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums centered the yellow-covered table, with green goblets completing the appointments. The menu served to twelve guests included tomato aspic, trout amandine, stuffed potatoes, spinach casserole and rainbow sherbet for dessert.

With LSU playing out of town this coming Saturday, it looks like a dancing weekend in Monroe. Members of COTILLION CLUB are looking forward to Saturday night and the Harvest Dance. MARTHA UPSHAW, dance chairman, stresses that it is to be an informal affair from nine until one. Music will be provided by the Red Tops for the affair in the Paragon ballroom. Other officers of Cotillion for this year are COURTNEY CURRY, president; NELL POWELL, secretary - treasurer; and JO MATTISON, membership chairman.

Ever one to celebrate an occasion, CRARY SMITH honored JOHN THEUS and NEIL BUIE on their mutual birthday last Saturday night. A group of duplicate bridge players were invited to drop by the Smith home on Pargoud boulevard after the Saturday game, for a stand-up supper and birthday cake. Bouquets of autumn foliage and greenery decorated the reception room.

And speaking of Saturday night suppers, ANN and BOB CHABOT entertained with a gaily informal one last week. Ann covered her tables with newspapers and centered them with hurricane candle lights. Hand towels were provided for napkins. Ten guests were invited for a peel-your-own-shrimp supper.

Home again after a weekend in Dallas are CAMILLE and ROBERT WOOD. They attended the North Texas Retriever Club Field Trials, where Robert served as a judge.

This week we visited the new home of the THOMAS DOWNS on Pargoud boulevard. This house is of old brick construction, with white wood trim and black shutters. A columned gallery across the front of the house leads to the main door at the side. White - painted boards and battens form the back wall of the gallery. White walls continue into the entrance hall with its brick floor. An interesting note in the hall is an antique lyre back chair.

Brick flooring continues from the entrance into the dining room at the left and the family room ahead. In the former is an old golden oak table with four chairs, rubbed to a glossy finish. A gold leaf mirror hangs above the golden oak sideboard with its brown marble top. In this room, also, white shutters are used in lieu of draperies.

Birch panelling is used in the family room with brick flooring. Focal point of the room is the wood-burning fireplace with raised hearth for seating. Cabinets and book shelves are built into each side of the fireplace. Natural linen draperies are used at the windows which, with the door, give onto a covered patio.

The kitchen, which opens into both dining and family rooms, is panelled in birch and floored with corlon in shades of green and beige. A paper printed with a Pennsylvania Dutch pattern in green and gold is used above the birch cabinets and in the family dining area. A brass lantern lights the table.

In the bedroom wing are separate rooms for each of three boys. Walter's room is painted white with draperies and spread of a dark plaid striped with red. Joe's room has light yellow walls with draperies and spreads picking up shades of beige, black, and gold. Harvey's choice was a combination of blues and greens. Walls are of sea mist with blue cottage curtains bound with green. He has a blue coverlet with blue and green throw cushions.

The master bedroom is painted a pale greyed green, with matching spreads and carpet. Draperies are muted greens, blues, and rose. An old platform rocker and matching side chair covered in sea mist antique satin stand at each side of a marble-top wash stand. One wall of this room features a built - in desk and storage cabinets. An interesting note is a picture of ROBERTA PARKER NEEL, Roberta Downs' mother, at about age ten. The picture was made to hang in the old steamboat Roberta, named for the little girl, which used to make the Monroe to New Orleans run. It was reclaimed by a diver when the boat was sunk in the river, and has been restored.

Our poem today is Thomas Gray's ode on the death of a favorite cat, drowned in a tub of gold fishes:

'Twas on a lofty vase's side
Where China's gayest art had dyed
The azure flowers that blow;
Demurest of the tabby kind,
The pensive Selima reclined,
Gazed on the lake below.

Casual Elegance Keynote Throughout Fashion Field

There's a fresh, stimulating approach to suits, this fall. It is certain to delight women who like the ease of sports clothes but are reluctant to wear them in town. The new suits, many with matching, sleeveless wool pullovers, or bright contrasting silk or jersey blouses, are easy and relaxed.

Casual, indeed, are their raglan or balmacaan shoulders, small notched collars and air of simplicity. Not so casual, however, the soft, dressmaker elegance and vast attention to detail.

"The fall '63 vintage of suits," predicts the National Board of The Coat and Suit Industry, "will have an honored place in the wardrobes of mothers and daughters, alike. Suits combine fashion with function for fashion-conscious women of every age."

Careful seaming is used to effect the figure - skimming, gentle suit shapes. Thoughtful of comfort, indeed, were the suit designers in fashioning many with pliant shoulders and slim, easy shaping.

Sleeves are a cover story in themselves. Longer and slimmer, they make a welcome come-back after seasons of exposed forearms. Even more effective with shirtwaist cuffs, they are an important feature of the citified sportive look.

Visitors to Monroe last weekend were HAZEL and J. BURTON LeBLANC of Baton Rouge, guests in the home of the JAMAR ADCOCKS. Several informal parties given by old friends honored the LeBlancs during their stay from Thursday through Sunday.

Friday evening's courtesy was a buffet supper at the home of the ALLEN BARHAMS on Point Drive. Ten couples were invited to join the LeBlancs for the evening. A standing buffet was served, with guests helping themselves and gathering around the radio for the LSU-Miami game . . . . . Saturday afternoon, four couples joined the LeBlancs and their hosts, the BURT SPERRYS, for a boat trip up the river.

Frances and Jim honored their visitors at a small informal party at their home on Point Drive Saturday evening. Former friends of the LeBlancs were invited to renew acquaintance.

Hors d'oeuvres including tamale dip and caviar with cream cheese were served in the family room. The buffet in the family dining room, which was decorated with a copper pot filled with autumn berries, offered main courses throughout the evening. The menu included ham, roast beef, broccoli casserole with almonds, whole shrimp with a choice of sauces, hot biscuits, and petit fours.

On Sunday, the LeBlancs and Adcocks were invited for dinner at noon at Bayou DeSiard country club. ARABELLA and DERWOOD CANN were hosts at this time. The LeBlancs left later in the afternoon to return to their home in Baton Rouge.

Several out of town visitors have been here this week to attend the opening of "Auntie Mame", 150th major production of the Little Theatre of Monroe. REGINA MOFFETT (Mrs. Tad) DOWLING of Chehalis, Washington; and MARY LEE SULLIVAN (Mrs. Jack) HANCOCK of Champaign, Illinois, and Boca Raton, Florida, were among those coming from afar. Both were members of the cast of "The Whole Town's Talking," Little Theatre's first play which was presented in the old Grand Street theatre. On Thursday, FRANCES M'HENRY was hostess at luncheon honoring these two at the Frances hotel.

The porch at Bayou DeSiard country club was the scene of a luncheon Friday at noon when LALLAGE FEAZEL was hostess honoring Regina. A fall arrangement of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums centered the yellow-covered table, with green goblets completing the appointments. The menu served to twelve guests included tomato aspic, trout amandine, stuffed potatoes, spinach casserole and rainbow sherbet for dessert.

With LSU playing out of town this coming Saturday, it looks like a dancing weekend in Monroe. Members of COTILLION CLUB are looking forward to Saturday night and the Harvest Dance. MARTHA UPSHAW, dance chairman, stresses that it is to be an informal affair from nine until one. Music will be provided by the Red Tops for the affair in the Paragon ballroom. Other officers of Cotillion for this year are COURTNEY CURRY, president; NELL POWELL, secretary - treasurer; and JO MATTISON, membership chairman.

Ever one to celebrate an occasion, CRARY SMITH honored JOHN THEUS and NEIL BUIE on their mutual birthday last Saturday night. A group of duplicate bridge players were invited to drop by the Smith home on Pargoud boulevard after the Saturday game, for a stand-up supper and birthday cake. Bouquets of autumn foliage and greenery decorated the reception room.

And speaking of Saturday night suppers, ANN and BOB CHABOT entertained with a gaily informal one last week. Ann covered her tables with newspapers and centered them with hurricane candle lights. Hand towels were provided for napkins. Ten guests were invited for a peel-your-own-shrimp supper.

Home again after a weekend in Dallas are CAMILLE and ROBERT WOOD. They attended the North Texas Retriever Club Field Trials, where Robert served as a judge.

This week we visited the new home of the THOMAS DOWNS on Pargoud boulevard. This house is of old brick construction, with white wood trim and black shutters. A columned gallery across the front of the house leads to the main door at the side. White - painted boards and battens form the back wall of the gallery. White walls continue into the entrance hall with its brick floor. An interesting note in the hall is an antique lyre back chair.

Brick flooring continues from the entrance into the dining room at the left and the family room ahead. In the former is an old golden oak table with four chairs, rubbed to a glossy finish. A gold leaf mirror hangs above the golden oak sideboard with its brown marble top. In this room, also, white shutters are used in lieu of draperies.

Birch panelling is used in the family room with brick flooring. Focal point of the room is the wood-burning fireplace with raised hearth for seating. Cabinets and book shelves are built into each side of the fireplace. Natural linen draperies are used at the windows which, with the door, give onto a covered patio.

The kitchen, which opens into both dining and family rooms, is panelled in birch and floored with corlon in shades of green and beige. A paper printed with a Pennsylvania Dutch pattern in green and gold is used above the birch cabinets and in the family dining area. A brass lantern lights the table.

In the bedroom wing are separate rooms for each of three boys. Walter's room is painted white with draperies and spread of a dark plaid striped with red. Joe's room has light yellow walls with draperies and spreads picking up shades of beige, black, and gold. Harvey's choice was a combination of blues and greens. Walls are of sea mist with blue cottage curtains bound with green. He has a blue coverlet with blue and green throw cushions.

The master bedroom is painted a pale greyed green, with matching spreads and carpet. Draperies are muted greens, blues, and rose. An old platform rocker and matching side chair covered in sea mist antique satin stand at each side of a marble-top wash stand. One wall of this room features a built - in desk and storage cabinets. An interesting note is a picture of ROBERTA PARKER NEEL, Roberta Downs' mother, at about age ten. The picture was made to hang in the old steamboat Roberta, named for the little girl, which used to make the Monroe to New Orleans run. It was reclaimed by a diver when the boat was sunk in the river, and has been restored.

Our poem today is Thomas Gray's ode on the death of a favorite cat, drowned in a tub of gold fishes:

'Twas on a lofty vase's side
Where China's gayest art had dyed
The azure flowers that blow;
Demurest of the tabby kind,
The pensive Selima reclined,
Gazed on the lake below.
Still had she gazed; but 'midst the tide
Two angel forms were seen to glide,
The Genii of the stream:
Their scaly armor's Tyrian hue
Through richest purple to the view
Betrayed a golden gleam.
The hapless Nymph with wonder saw:
A whisker first and then a claw,
With Many an ardent wish,
She stretched in vain to reach the prize.
What female heart can gold despise?
What Cat's averse to fish?
Presumptuous Maid! with looks intent
Again she stretched, again she bent,
Nor knew the gulf between.
(Malignant Fate say by, and smiled)
The slipp'ry verge her feet beguiled,
She tumbled headlong in.
From hence, ye Beauties, undeceived,
Know one false step is ne'er retrieved,
And be with caution bold.
Not all that tempts your wandring eyes
And heedless hearts is lawful prize;
Nor all that glitters gold.

Soft Hat Silhouettes Add Finishing Touch

Fashion goes to a woman's head for fall, in soft hat silhouettes that add the perfect "finishing touches" to autumn's chic, casual daywear and elegant styles for after-five.

"MANNISH MOOD"

Hats go country - casual to top off sporty daytime fashions. In a "mannish mood," but decidedly feminine, are tweed, leather, suede, reptile and felt in rustic pork - pies, riding and hunting caps and berets.

Fall's "muffled-up" look in scarved or bulky collared suits and coats is carried out in "mysterious" hats reminiscent of the Garbo era. Slouchy felts shield the face, as do caps with mystery visors, and hats swathed in scarved or buried in fur. Fall's lady of mystery" will accent her cocktail dresses and theater suits with veiled whimsies.

Fur Fascinates

Fashion is fascinated with fur, and real or frankly fake hats are both warm and fashionable for fall.This autumn, women can choose fur looks from an animal kingdom of minks, leopards, beavers, Persian lambs and "off-beat" furs.

Fashion has a feather in its cap for fall! The feathery look is sleek and chic in slouchy daytime millinery, and opulent in feathered fantasies for afternoon.

Leather makes fall fashion headlines, in casual cloche, slouch of cap shapes. Very sporty used alone, it also makes news as a trim in bands, chin straps and brims in a variety of plain and patent leather colors. Sometimes, reptile substitutes for leather.

Fall millinery is color - hued to autumn fashions in subtle, jewel and rich dark tones. Black and white combination that appears again and again in autumn headwear.

Lecture On Birds Given For Monroe Garden Club

In a talk entitled "Birds in Our Gardens," for members of the Monroe Garden Club, Mrs. W. E. Conger of Arcadia, expounded on personal experiences in bird watching, as a "quiet hobby" which she pursued on a trip across the United States.

A life judge of Louisiana Garden Club Federation and well known for her lectures on landscaping and horticulture, Mrs. Conger spoke to the club at a meeting Monday at Bayou DeSiard Country Club. In response to her challenge to the group to make Monroe a bird sanctuary, it was pointed out that an ordinance was passed several years ago to this effect. The club discussed plans for erecting appropriate signs at entrances to the city.

Mrs. Conger gave personal experiences with her children and other youth groups, encouraging them to love, observe and cultivate birds. In pointing out that birds need food and shelter, she gave her own recipe for a bird food, combining melted peanut butter, beef suet, pecans and canary seed, a jar of which was given as a door prize, along with a wire feeder, containing suet. In addition to natural materials, she also said birds like twine, paper and snake skin for nests. Books she recommended for reference are Aubudon and George Lowery's "Birds of Louisiana."

Mrs. Frank Eastman and Mrs. R. L. Junod were co-chairmen for the meeting.

During the business session Mrs. Paul Ransom, program chairman, announced the Christmas program will be an exchange of Christmas ideas, either arrangements, gift suggestions or other creative work of members.

Members attending the meeting were Mrs. J. Norman Coon Sr., Mrs. C. E. Buckley, Mrs. Mabel Ford, Mrs. W. R. Laing, Mrs. R. R. Fashion has a feather in its cap for fall! The feathery look is sleek and chic in slouchy daytime millinery, and opulent in feathered fantasies for after-five.

Leather makes fall fashion headlines, in casual cloche, slouch of cap shapes. Very sporty used alone, it also makes news as a trim in bands, chin straps and brims in a variety of plain and patent leather colors. Sometimes, reptile substitutes for leather.

Fall millinery is color - hued to autumn fashions in subtle, jewel and rich dark tones. Black and white combination that appears again and again in autumn headwear.

Lecture On Birds Given For Monroe Garden Club

In a talk entitled "Birds in Our Gardens," for members of the Monroe Garden Club, Mrs. W. E. Conger of Arcadia, expounded on personal experiences in bird watching, as a "quiet hobby" which she pursued on a trip across the United States.

A life judge of Louisiana Garden Club Federation and well known for her lectures on landscaping and horticulture, Mrs. Conger spoke to the club at a meeting Monday at Bayou DeSiard Country Club. In response to her challenge to the group to make Monroe a bird sanctuary, it was pointed out that an ordinance was passed several years ago to this effect. The club discussed plans for erecting appropriate signs at entrances to the city.

Mrs. Conger gave personal experiences with her children and other youth groups, encouraging them to love, observe and cultivate birds. In pointing out that birds need food and shelter, she gave her own recipe for a bird food, combining melted peanut butter, beef suet, pecans and canary seed, a jar of which was given as a door prize, along with a wire feeder, containing suet. In addition to natural materials, she also said birds like twine, paper and snake skin for nests. Books she recommended for referênce are Aubudon and George Lowery's "Birds of Louisiana."

Mrs. Frank Eastman and Mrs. R. L. Junod were co-chairmen for the meeting.

During the business session Mrs. Paul Ransom, program chairman, announced the Christmas program will be an exchange of Christmas ideas, either arrangements, gift suggestions or other creative work of members.

Furs For Fall Adopt Easy, Simple Lines

Fall and winter furs are spirited — with the greatest of ease . . . young and streamlined in the sportswear mood for the great outdoors . . . superbly nonchalant in the sportive that pervades all fashion . . . rich with newfound simplicity.

The town sophisticates are lean and lank, so relaxed in the way they take on belts at every turn and buttons at every closing. Women's Wear Daily finds that shapes are bent on beautifying the figure, never taut in their high - low approach to the waistline but deliberately easy.

Hip Hostesses Of All Ages Wear Shiftys

The younger set is due for more shifty looks.

Colorful and zany or demure and tailored, the new shifts are ideal for gals to wear at teen gatherings.

And, another kind of shift can help the hip hostess in breaking the ice, according to the makers of tape recorders. Invite guests to bring along a musical instrument and record home-style music for immediate playback. With 34 million amateur musicians in the U.S., there should be no shortage of talent.

When what goes in the micro — comes out the speakers, the party will be off to rousing success. Then, shift to tapes of top music for dancing. The group may discover that the fun-filled variations of recording its own music, including solos by vocalitsts, can be almost endless. So are the selection of shifts, according to the makers "Model Coats."

Newer versions of the shift feature short or long sleeves, no collars or shirt-style collars, fabrics of easy-care cotton or imported silks, youthful designs from flowers to pussy cats to more sophisticated "Ivy League" patterns.

Most shifts remain knee-length but some descend to the ankle. Many come with matching belts — which can double as headbands.

Most Women Prefer To Look Fall, Feel Cool

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

After Labor Day, fall began. At least, that's the fashion theory. Warm weather in many parts of the country can go on until this minute or longer, but try to find suitable clothes for it!

Winter suits, fur-lined coats, mohair dresses, but nothing to wear for right now. Way back in mid-August stores had something called transitional clothes (usually dreary dark cottons nobody wants when summer's still around) but this is fall, dear, so let's all get into mohair.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I hope you sleep like a duck That's one of the nicest wishes I could possibly make for you. Did you know that ducks sometimes sleep so soundly on the water that they are trapped by ice when the weather turns cold suddenly?

All God's children need sleep and so do his animals and birds and insects. However few of the latter make a bed or seem at all imbued with preparing for real comfort while sleeping the way we humans do. Gorillas are exceptions. They build rather elaborate beds of leaves and sticks.

Let's face it! We are different. We can't sleep on our feet like birds do, or while standing on one foot like a crane does or while hanging by our feet like some rare birds do or while floating on the water like ducks and sea gulls do. We require good sleeping equipment.

So far as the amount of sleep we get we might just as well try to sleep while standing up as to try to sleep on a lumpy mattress, or one which is too hard or so soft that it fails to give the back enough support. Any one of these can lead to restless slumber and even to an aching back.

Other factors which affect the quality of our sleep and which are well worth checking are noise, early morning light and uncomfortable sleeping garments. You cannot always control the noise but try to do so. If this is impossible why not use a pair of ear plugs? The early morning light can be easily remedied by dark blue or black linings for your shades.

Of course there can be physical and psychological reasons for loss of sleep or a poor grade of shuteye. Worries can keep you awake. The feeling of being under pressure can do the same. Sometimes when I have had house guests arriving and have been preparing for a trip and have dozens of errands to run and copy to write, I have tossed until I got up and made out a list of things I had to do the next day. Then I go back to bed and sleep like a baby should. This is a good trick.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lucille Griffith, Monroe and Sam Griffith, Pennington, Ala. The couple is at home in Monroe.

Romantic Era Is Theme Of Fine Arts Club

Theme of "The Romantic Era" was revealed through song and a demonstration of floral arrangements of the period at a meeting of the Fine Arts Club Monday night in the home of Mrs. Kate Allison, 1401 Emerson.

Davis Bingham, president, conducted the business session before turning the meeting over to the chairman, Mrs. Florence Allbritton.

In keeping with the program theme LeRoy Anspach played waltzes by Chopin and Mrs. J. Norman Coon sang a "Prayer Hymn," by Schumann. In presenting art of the Romantic Era, Mrs. Max Kulcke Sr., demonstrated with an arrangement of a bouquet of flowers typical of the era during the reign of Queen Victoria.

At conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the hostess. Those attending were Mrs. Florence Allbritton, Mrs. Kate Allison, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Anspach, Davis Bingham, Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, John Cale, Mrs. H. H. Douglas, Miss Hermione Driskell, Miss Ladell Duke of Homer; Leon Hammonds, Mrs. W. B. Inabnet, Mrs. Max Kulcke Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lawson, Dr. Harry Lemert, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mayo, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Newman, Miss Cliffie Olmstead, Miss Juanita Porter, Miss May Read, Miss Gertrude Sandrock, Mrs. Eloise Stanhope and Mrs. W. J. Veazey.

History Professor Talks At Fort Miro, DAR Meet

Fort Miro Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution met last Saturday at the home of Miss Carrie Dee Drew, regent. Mrs. B. S. McRaney, chaplain, opened the meeting with prayer following which Mrs. R. D. Kellogg led the pledge of allegiance to the flag and the American creed.

Miss Drew called attention to the president general's N.S.D.A.R. message in the October issue of the DAR magazine pointing out the special importance of the month of October to our nation and the National Society, which was organized in October 1890.

Mrs. S. C. Strausser, corresponding secretary, read an invitation from the Monroe Junior Charity League to a tea and showing of an art collection gathered from the art faculties of Louisiana Colleges to be held November 3 at the Art Center, 1504 Riverside. Mrs. Strausser displayed the October issue of the Bowmar Jabber from Lt. Joseph Bowmar Society, Children of the American Revolution, which Fort Miro chapter sponsors.

University Women Hear About Women In Science

Miss Frances Baldwin emphasized the theory that both men and women should be encouraged to develop their talent in the area in which they can contribute the most, when she addressed the Monroe Branch, American Association of University Women.

The dinner meeting at which Miss Baldwin was guest speaker, was held in a private dining room at the Holiday Inn, with Mrs. M. B. Cole, first vice-president of the organization, in charge.

Miss Baldwin, assistant professor of chemistry at Northeast Louisiana State College, was speaking on the status of women, and particularly in the field of science.

Effective use of women in science could increase by the thousands the number of persons engaged in scientific research, she explained. She underscored that stress should not be placed too heavily upon the need or shortage of talented persons in this area.

Referring to the National Merit Scholarship examinations, the speaker pointed out that 6.5 percent of the boys expressed interest in medical careers where as 8.5 percent of the girls showed career interest in this area. On the basis of interest, Miss Baldwin raised the question: "Why are so few women in science?"

Studies in medicine show only 6 percent of doctors in the United States are women. In Canada this figure is doubled; in England it is tripled, and in Russia 76 percent of the physicians are women.

James B. Conant's report to the U.S. president, based on findings from 22 better than average high schools, shows that in all of the schools the more capable boys were taking eight years of science and mathematics. Contrasting with this situation, in none of the schools were the majority of girls taking eight years of science and mathematics.

Many high school counselors have a tendency to think that science is not suitable for women, Miss Baldwin pointed out, so they do not encourage girls to consider this study area.

Edna Yost's "Women in Science," which featured eight U.S. born women in science pointed but that five had not intended to major in this field the author said.

Miss Baldwin stated that the woman in science does have a disadvantage, as she would in many other professions, that of leaving her position to care for family responsibilities. There is still the opportunity for part-time work when these responsibilities have lessened, the speaker explained.

Tests and workmanship both show that women possess the intellect and ability to become scientists, Miss Baldwin concluded.

Presenting the speaker was Mrs. A. W. Wilkins, program chairman.

Autumn shades were used in decorative notes throughout the room. The main table held a large compote of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums, pyracantha, and wheat. Extending from the centerpiece down the length of the table were sprigs of pyracantha, and the same effect was carried out on the other tables.

Hostesses for the affair were: Mrs. Clarence Ball, chairman, Mrs. Charles Brodnax, Mrs. Elard Brantley and Miss Betty Oxford.

Present for the occasion besides the speaker, Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Wilkins were: Mrs. Ball, Mrs. Adelia Baylor, Mrs. Brantley, Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Mrs. Brodnax, Miss May Coker, Mrs. Cole, Dr. Julia Hunter, Mrs. H. B. McClendon, Mrs. Paul R. Smith, Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, Miss Hazel Stanford, Mrs. Lavel Taylor, Miss Mary Alma Tompkins, Mrs. Anthony M. Wilbert, Mrs. John B. Zoll, Miss Drucilla Motley, Mrs. W. C. Buchanan, Mrs. Tennie V. Severson, and Mrs. Sam McReynolds.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I hope you sleep like a duck That's one of the nicest wishes I could possibly make for you. Did you know that ducks sometimes sleep so soundly on the water that they are trapped by ice when the weather turns cold suddenly?

All God's children need sleep and so do his animals and birds and insects. However few of the latter make a bed or seem at all imbued with preparing for real comfort while sleeping the way we humans do. Gorillas are exceptions. They build rather elaborate beds of leaves and sticks.

Let's face it! We are different. We can't sleep on our feet like birds do, or while standing on one foot like a crane does or while hanging by our feet like some rare birds do or while floating on the water like ducks and sea gulls do. We require good sleeping equipment.

So far as the amount of sleep we get we might just as well try to sleep while standing up as to try to sleep on a lumpy mattress, or one which is too hard or so soft that it fails to give the back enough support. Any one of these can lead to restless slumber and even to an aching back.

Other factors which affect the quality of our sleep and which are well worth checking are noise, early morning light and uncomfortable sleeping garments. You cannot always control the noise but try to do so. If this is impossible why not use a pair of ear plugs? The early morning light can be easily remedied by dark blue or black linings for your shades.

Of course there can be physical and psychological reasons for loss of sleep or a poor grade of shuteye. Worries can keep you awake. The feeling of being under pressure can do the same. Sometimes when I have had house guests arriving and have been preparing for a trip and have dozens of errands to run and copy to write, I have tossed until I got up and made out a list of things I had to do the next day. Then I go back to bed and sleep like a baby should. This is a good trick.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lucille Griffith, Monroe and Sam Griffith, Pennington, Ala. The couple is at home in Monroe.

Romantic Era Is Theme Of Fine Arts Club

Theme of "The Romantic Era" was revealed through song and a demonstration of floral arrangements of the period at a meeting of the Fine Arts Club Monday night in the home of Mrs. Kate Allison, 1401 Emerson.

Davis Bingham, president, conducted the business session before turning the meeting over to the chairman, Mrs. Florence Allbritton.

At conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the hostess. Those attending were Mrs. Florence Allbritton, Mrs. Kate Allison, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Anspach, Davis Bingham, Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, John Cale, Mrs. H. H. Gloves Are Important Accessory

Now they not only keep your hands warm and protected, but they add the last touch that unifies the over-all costume.

Newest with the tweeds and Sportive costumes that are so fresh on the scene are the sporty pigskins. They're most right in the neutrals from beige to brown tones, with handstitching and often metallic tabs or buttons to add an even more Sportive look.

More and more, too, one finds discreetly tailored gloves being worn for daytime, gloves stemming from the plain and ladylike classics but newly spiked with imagination in their tailoring.

These well-bred gloves can borrow many touches from the gentlemen — saddle stitching, brassy or gold-toned cuff-links —even stretch leathers for the ultimate in comfort.

New leathers including the stretches are appearing to add new interest. There are stretch suedes in elegant lengths, there is Saffian, once exclusively the book-binders leather, there are new lizards and new treatments of the old stand-by favorites.

No longer will the little "white glove" be an adequate wardrobe for the fashion-conscious woman. Beloved and elegant though that be, fall's new gloves add a fashion excitement you won't want to miss.

FAMILY OF COLORS

Color can be close to a name tag of identifying towels, sheets and other bedroom and bath accessories. For youngsters at school and college a colorful towel and sheet grouping — all of the same color family can keep such articles safe from mix-ups among roommates and laundries. Make sure, too, that they're vat dyed so colors won't be "lost" in washing.

UNUSUAL DRESSING

For an unusual taste in salad dressing, mash one banana into a cup of mayonnaise.

MISS DELORES FUTCH's engagement to Alton Carl Brownlee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Carl Brownlee of Calhoun, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Futch of Rayville. The wedding will be an event of November 15 in the home of the bride's parents.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Mom, Don't Let Kids Make You A Doormat

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to comment on the letter from the mother who complained that her children had the upper hand. Good grief! I'm only 14 and I know that any mother who lets her kids step all over her is plain stupid.

My mother works all day and my brothers and I do plenty for ourselves. (My brothers are 15 and 16.) We get our own breakfast, take care of our own rooms and arrange for our own transportation.

Please don't think we are underprivileged. We are a normal family with a nice home and plenty of advantages. The mother who wrote that letter should quit chauffering her kids around. She is making semi-invalids out of them. They'd have more respect for her if she stopped being a doormat.

If her kids are so helpless with her around I'd hate to think what they will be without her. — Clayton, Missouri Teen

Dear Clayton Teen: Your letter is an eloquent expression of what I've been trying to get across to parents for years. Thank you for saying it— and saying it so well.

I hope all mothers whose kids are running them ragged will see your letter and recognize themselves.

Dear Ann: My husband is having an affair with the woman next door. We have three children, 16, 15 and 10. She has two pre-school children.

This is not his first romance since we were married and it won't be his last. Divorce is out of the question so I have resigned myself to his monkeyshines. He will quit running around when he is worn out and that will be in about 10 years.

My husband has asked our 15-year-old daughter to baby sit (without pay) for this woman when he takes her to union meetings (they work together) and other supposedly business-connected affairs. Our daughter doesn't see why she should turn down paying customers and sit without pay for this woman. I'm afraid the girl may catch on that there is something between them. Please tell me what to do. — Q.T.

Dear Q.T.: Tell your husband — right now — that he'd better never again ask his daughter to sit for the neighbor woman. Make it clear that if he does, you will step in and inform her that she is under no obligation to do so.

You have the right, as a mother, to protect your daughter against this hurtful thing. Be plenty emphatic and don't back down an inch.

Dear Ann Landers: I was married for twelve years to a happy drinker. The last three years of his life I supported him because he was too sick to work. He died in 1961.

Six months ago I married a very nice man who had never been married before. Warren is a fine person and he is very good to me. He is also wonderful to my nine-year-old daughter but he can't seem to warm up to my six-year-old son. My son is the image of his father and everybody remarks about it. I'm sure this is the reason Warren doesn't like the little fellow. His indifference to the boy is bound to create a problem between Warren and me unless something is done soon. Shall I discuss it with him? Please let me know what is best. — J.I.R.

Dear J.I.R.: Urge your husband to have a talk with your clergyman. If he hears from an unbiased third party that his feelings toward the boy are unjust and irrational, and that his marriage may be ruined because of these feelings, he'll listen.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope

WALK LIGHTER

Put a thin powder puff dipped in talcum in the heel of each shoe. You'll walk lighter and feel fresher all day long.

Easy Mobility Defines Fall Suits

"Easy mobility" . . . is the keynote that defines new suits for fall and winter of '63. Appropriate in town, perfect for travel, a well-groomed look for the suburbs that fashionable suburbanites have long advocated.

Military in feeling is the cape suit, a jacket with cape-sleeves, a collar that stands up crisply.

There is so much news in suit jackets that skirts are slim and simple in cut. "No news is good news", however, for according to the National Board of the Coat and Suit Industry, "slim skirts are popular with a majority of women — that is — if they are not too slim for easy mobility."

New fabrics tie in perfectly. They are richly textured and tweedy in wonderfully blended color or in monotones. There is heightened dimension in tweeds for a soft, lush surface. Checks, domino or pincheck, whipcords, diagonal ribs, loop mohairs, twilled meltons and handsome raised ottomans. An Anglo kid mohair is particularly striking in oatmeal and white.

Ever-favorite Chanel suits carry ease and elegance into fall. With classic trim of braid and piping — new-looking in contrasting tones with blouse to match. Contrast is important — and often two off-beat tones are counterpointed. A mocha-gold pebble suiting with fuscia blouse of wool or silk. White mohair tweed with lining and blouse of vivid cranberry wool.

Winter-weight suits feature longer jackets — reaching to finger-tip. Often, stopping just short of being full-fledged coats. Sometimes, they are unfurred with chin-deep collars. Generally, they ward off winds with collars and cuffs of beaver in black, mocha or natural; mink in all tones from dark ranch to silver pearl . . . flattering lynx, fisher, fox — and for the luxury-minded, sable.

Colors are an autumn harvest. Red blazes onto the scene from cedar to cranberry to an extraverted orangey-red. Blues are lively — ranging from a bright, new Caribbean Blue to a light Navy. The wood tones are represented all the way from string beige to topaz and on to mahogany. Wines sparkle vivaciously and greens are fresh and autumnal from light cypress to forest.

Fall is traditionally a suit season. And, fall '63 will capture a new audience, there's so much silhouette, fabric and color news in the fall wind.

DECORATING DORM

Dorm decorating? Guide your college-bound offspring to color-coordinated room accessories. To combine colors, try sheets and pillowcases in beige and white stripes, complement with light brown pillowcases and use twilight blue for draperies, and bedspread.

AFTER-FIVE LOOK

Gloves Are Important Accessory

Now they not only keep your hands warm and protected, but they add the last touch that unifies the over-all costume.

Newest with the tweeds and Sportive costumes that are so fresh on the scene are the sporty pigskins. They're most right in the neutrals from beige to brown tones, with handstitching and often metallic tabs or buttons to add an even more Sportive look.

More and more, too, one finds discreetly tailored gloves being worn for daytime, gloves stemming from the plain and ladylike classics but newly spiked with imagination in their tailoring.

These well-bred gloves can borrow many touches from the gentlemen — saddle stitching, brassy or gold-toned cuff-links —even stretch leathers for the ultimate in comfort.

New leathers including the stretches are appearing to add new interest. There are stretch suedes in elegant lengths, there is Saffian, once exclusively the book-binders leather, there are new lizards and new treatments of the old stand-by favorites.

No longer will the little "white glove" be an adequate wardrobe for the fashion-conscious woman. Beloved and elegant though that be, fall's new gloves add a fashion excitement you won't want to miss.

Moment Musical Coterie Elects New Officers

Organizational meeting of the Moment Musical Coterie was held at the home of the sponsor, Mrs. James E. Murphy, North 4th St., on Saturday, at which time officers were elected for the ensuing year.

They include Sallie Kilpatrick, president; Leslie Faucett, vice-president; Debbie Hamilton, secretary; Carol Salley, treasurer; Martha Maxwell, reporter and Rebo King, historian.

FAMILY OF COLORS

Color can be close to a name tag of identifying towels, sheets and other bedroom and bath accessories. For youngsters at school and college a colorful towel and sheet grouping — all of the same color family can keep such articles safe from mix-ups among roommates and laundries. Make sure, too, that they're vat dyed so colors won't be "lost" in washing.

UNUSUAL DRESSING

For an unusual taste in salad dressing, mash one banana into a cup of mayonnaise.

MISS DELORES FUTCH's engagement to Alton Carl Brownlee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Carl Brownlee of Calhoun, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Futch of Rayville. The wedding will be an event of November 15 in the home of the bride's parents.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Mom, Don't Let Kids Make You A Doormat

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to comment on the letter from the mother who complained that her children had the upper hand. Good grief! I'm only 14 and I know that any mother who lets her kids step all over her is plain stupid.

My mother works all day and my brothers and I do plenty for ourselves. (My brothers are 15 and 16.) We get our own breakfast, take care of our own rooms and arrange for our own transportation.

Please don't think we are underprivileged. We are a normal family with a nice home and plenty of advantages. The mother who wrote that letter should quit chauffering her kids around. She is making semi-invalids out of them. They'd have more respect for her if she stopped being a doormat.

If her kids are so helpless with her around I'd hate to think what they will be without her. — Clayton, Missouri Teen

Dear Clayton Teen: Your letter is an eloquent expression of what I've been trying to get across to parents for years. Thank you for saying it— and saying it so well.

I hope all mothers whose kids are running them ragged will see your letter and recognize themselves.

Dear Ann: My husband is having an affair with the woman next door. We have three children, 16, 15 and 10. She has two pre - school children.

This is not his first romance since we were married and it won't be his last. Divorce is out of the question so I have resigned myself to his monkeyshines. He will quit running around when he is worn out and that will be in about 10 years.

My husband has asked our 15 - year - old daughter to baby sit (without pay) for this woman when he takes her to union meetings (they work together) and other supposedly business-connected affairs. Our daughter doesn't see why she should turn down paying customers and sit without pay for this woman. I'm afraid the girl may catch on that there is something between them. Please tell me what to do. — O.T.

Dear O.T.: Tell your husband — right now — that he'd better never again ask his daughter to sit for the neighbor woman. Make it clear that if he does, you will step in and inform her that she is under no obligation to do so.

You have the right, as a mother, to protect your daughter against this hurtful thing. Be plenty emphatic and don't back down an inch.

Dear Ann Landers: I was married for twelve years to a happy drinker. The last three years of his life I supported him because he was too sick to work. He died in 1961.

Six months ago I married a very nice man who had never been married before. Warren is a fine person and he is very good to me. He is also wonderful to my nine-year-old daughter but he can't seem to warm up to my six-year-old son. My son is the image of his father and everybody remarks about it. I'm sure this is the reason Warren doesn't like the little fellow. His indifference to the boy is bound to create a problem between Warren and me unless something is done soon. Shall I discuss it with him? Please let me know what is best. — J.I.R.

Dear J.I.R.: Urge your husband to have a talk with your clergyman. If he hears from an unbiased third party that his feelings toward the boy are unjust and irrational, and that his marriage may be ruined because of these feelings, he'll listen.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

EXTENSION NEWS

Ample Time To Set Bulbs

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

If you have not planted your spring flowering bulbs, it is not too late. November planting is satisfactory in this section. Good drainage is a necessity or rotting will occur. Loamy soils are best, but most daffodils can be grown in a wide range of soil types, allow at least 6 inches between large bulbs. Cover with two to five inches of soil, depending on the size and the soil texture. The larger bulbs should be planted deeper in sandy soils and shallow planting may be practiced in heavier soils. Bulbs planted too near the soil surface will be affected by the frequent temperature changes in Louisiana.

Other bulbs may include snowdrops for shady areas, madonna, and regal lilies.

Cut the tops from perennials as soon as the blooming period is over, divide roots, and transplant plants. If you divide now they will have a chance to become well established before winter. Also if moved early you can expect better flowers next years.

STAINS

Ink stains vary in different kinds of ink. Some inks are easily removed, some difficult to remove, and others are impossible. If the stain is washable ink and fresh, wash it with detergent and water. Stains on white fabrics may be moistened with lemon juice and placed in the sun. Also, oxalic acid may be used on delicate fabrics. If used, rinse the material thoroughly, adding a few drops to ammonia to the last rinse water to neutralize the acid. Ball pen ink stains may be rubbed with vaseline, then washed in hot detergent water. Red ink spots require bleach. Sponge the spots with hydrogen peroxide, then rinse in cold water. Sodium perborate, moistened and rubbed on the stain may also remove it. If ink spots are dried, saturate with warm water to which three tablespoons of soda have been added to one quart of water. Then treat as suggested.

Mrs. Frank Jones called our office and gave us a new tip on removing grass stains which she says is excellent. She soaks the grass stain in molasses. Perhaps you, Mrs. Homemaker, would like to try this method on your next grass stain.

BAKING

Many recipes for baked products — cakes, cookies, quick breads and yeast breads now call for unsifted flour. Remember, Mrs. Homemaker, that you perhaps have favorite recipes which were developed in the days when all flour was sifted and the measurements are for sifted flour.

Since there is more flour in a cup of unsifted than a cup of sifted flour you must either sift before measuring or adjust the measurement to get the right amount of flour for these older recipes.

To adjust the measurement, simply spoon flour into the dry measuring cup, level it off and remove two level tablespoons.

Researchers in Agriculture compared sifted and unsifted flour in cakes and muffins when the volume of unsifted flour was adjusted by removing two level tablespoons from a measured cup, no difference was noted in the quality of the baked products made with sifted and unsifted flour. However, when unsifted flour was used without adjustment, muffins and cakes were less acceptable than products made with sifted flour. Baking studies have shown that spices and cocoa did not blend uniformly by merely stirring them with the unsifted flour. So, if your recipe calls for spices and cocoa, you may want to sift them with the other dry ingredients for uniform blending.

Mrs. Homemaker, if you like to bake we have good news for you. There will be more pecans this year. Current prospects indicate the 1963 pecan crop will be more than seven times as large as last years. In fact, it will almost equal the total of all other edible tree nuts, almonds, filberts and walnuts. All of these will have big crops too.

A THOUGHT

Why is there never enough time to do a thing right, but always time to do it over.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Quince Crop Is Plentiful

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The bumper crop of luscious, aromatic quinces with which most flowering quince bushes seem to be covered this fall can be made into delicate quince jelly. Anyone who has eaten quince jelly will consider a jar of this delicacy a fine Christmas present. Anyone who hasn't, will soon become fond of it.

Flowering quince fruits make a light amber jelly by themselves. Some cooks like to mix the quinces with a small amount of apples, but the purists say that this started only because some people did not have enough of the real thing in poor quince years and were determined to stretch out the crop. At any rate, by some strange alchemy, the delightful odor of ripe quince fruits seems to be captured in quince jelly, and you are missing something special if you allow your quinces to rot on the ground.

FROM CHINA, JAPAN

Our modern named flowering quinces have come from a handful of wild species in China and Japan. Botanists have called the flowering quinces all sorts of names during this century: Pyrus, Cydonia and now Chaenomeles. Back in the late twenties, your columnist wrote a great deal about these wonderful, easy-to-grow shrubs. The brilliant azaleas stole the show from them for a time, but then something happened to give the quinces their due.

The Clarke Nurseries in California, it seems, were as enthusiastic about flowering quinces as I was. They sent a scouting team all through the Southern States, collecting every kind of quince they could find.

A few years later, the Clarkes began to offer a number of beautiful new quince varieties for sale in their catalogue. These varieties were the result of an intensive breeding program to give us more and better flowering quinces. They were so inspiring that I wrote them up in House Beautiful Magazine, and you can see them in color plates if your library has House Beautiful for April, 1948.

MORE APPEARING

Since this time, more new quinces have been appearing in catalogues. We now have varieties that are very upright — suitable for hedges — and rather conservative in growth so that you do not have to prune such a hedge very often. There are also low and spreading kinds, and there are all sizes from big varieties that will attain 12 to 15 feet to drawf and very slow-growing ones.

In England, I have always admired a quince called Rowallane growing espaliered on a wall at the home of my friend, the old roses authority and author, Graham Thomas. On this particular shrub the flowers are almost double, but the American catalogue in which it is now offered does not mention this.

Save your quince seeds and plant them. You may get as many interesting new types as I have. Some are so slow growing as to be almost bonsai candidates. These are usually very prickly from their parent, the little early orange quince. Some of my seedlings are low ground covers and excellent for keeping animals out without a tall hedge.

Rose Plants Damaged By Insects

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

If there are holes in the stems of your rose plants, the driller probably was the carpenter bee or the curled European sawfly. These insects bore into the stem and feed on the pith inside. Eventually the stem wilts and dies.

When you spot such borings, cut off affected stems below where the insect has imbedded. If you don't, the pest will dig deeper.

When you prune your roses in the spring, paint the cut end of each cane with a tree wound dressing or sealer or black asphalt paint to close the stem and prevent borers and other insects from entering.

An all-purpose spray containing Malathion or DDT will help reduce stem borer trouble, but you will have to spray regularly (weekly) to make the protection effective.

DEBATE

This is the peak time for arguments about whether spring or fall planting of roses is best. The referee is the weather: fall planting produces better results in moderately cold states; spring planting is best in areas of early and severe winters. And where the winters are warm or mild, Dr. R. C. Allen, executive secretary of the American Rose Society recommends planting in the winter when bushes are most dormant.

Among advantages to fall planting:

Plants are freshly dug at the nursery when they are beginning to rest. Soil conditions are good, and the average suburban gardener has more time. Thus, when spring arrives, the plants are ready for natural growth.

If you are in doubt, plant roses at both seasons and argue with yourself.

AWARD

The New England Wild Flower Society has awarded to Carl T. Ramsey of Dorset, Vt., its bronze medal for his contribution to literature on orchids of the world. Ramsey, author of "The Odyssey of the Orchids," a two - volume work with 350 plates, has filled an 11 - acre swamp with native orchid genera.

TRANSITION

Use of an old cast iron watering trough of the horse and buggy days has changed with the times at Wellsboro, Pa. The ornamental trough was installed around 1870 to refresh horses in the county seat. It was removed in 1909 when the street was paved and stored until it was carried away by the flood of 1919.

George Harris found it in 1920 in gravel four miles west of Wellsboro and used it as a barnyard watering trough until 1941. Later the trough was scrubbed and spring water piped to it — as a public fountain. Last fall, Harris sold his farm, carted the fountain to his new home and it is now a flower planter.

NEW ROSES

New roses for 1964 include: Grand Slam, dark red, large - flowered hybrid and Circus Parade, red - orange, buff and yellow (multicolored) border and landscape type, both by Armstrong; Candy Stripe, dusty pink streaked with white, a big hybrid tea, by Star of Conard - Pyle; Cape Coral, fragrant coral - orange Ginger, an ornage-vermillion florabunda, and the Farmer's wife, pink tea, by Jackson & Perkins.

WILL BE BUSY

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Preston is going to have a year of intensive activity if current production plans jell.

The star is to appear in "Nobody Loves an Albatross," a comedy marked in for Broadway bow during Christmas week. Early next fall he is slated to handle the title role in a musical, "Ben Franklin in Paris."

Miss Thyssen may get a Broadway chance in a stage version of "Lady Chatterley's Lover" that is on the tentative production schedule.

"I want to be a serious actress," she declares, but many producers don't take me seriously when they see my figure. I get my best roles in the winter and spring when I can keep my coat on."

PUMPKINS FROM field or garden often go for uses other than that of providing a delicious ingredient for pies. As shown here, funny features have been carved into them, making them into traditional Halloween jack-o-lanterns.

Re-Do Room Structure To Fit Need

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeature Writer

Changing the structure of rooms to suit your needs may be well worth the initial costly investment.

One noted interior designer, Valerican Ryban, who believes in working from the ground up, removed walls and floors of his own dwelling before getting down to the drawing board.

Now he has several cozy apartments in one.

"I needed a big place but I didn't want to live in the huge apartment that would be necessary for the amount of entertainment I must do. So I redesigned an apartment to get comfort and usefulness without feeling lost in a large expanse of rooms," he says.

ENTERTAINS

Rybar entertains a great deal as one of the favorite designers of society and industry here and abroad. He has done posh homes, hotels, clubs and business buildings.

Rybar's sub-apartment is three rooms — bedroom, steam bath, study and dressing room. A guest suite includes a dressing room and bath. One enters the large apartment though a circular foyer of marble, then into a 10 by 27 foot gallery off which there are large servants quarters, kitchen, pantry, library, drawing room. Off the drawing room is an enormous dining room. Corridors and passages in the opposite direction lead to Rybar's apartment and guest suite.

The dining room, drawing room and other areas may be shut off when not in use," he explains, "and the smaller rooms serve as the daily living area. I can be perfectly comfortable in my three rooms, and a guest can be comfortable when I am away."

All floors except guest room, kitchen and servants area are marble.

MARBLE

"Marble is a wonderful, clean, contemporary look, a great background for antique furniture, easy and inexpensive to maintain. It offers the rare combination of luxury and cleanliness. I have put rugs on top of it in drawing room and library, but have left lots of marble showing."

Camellias Disbudding Season Late

Persons planning on disbudding their camellias have waited too late for the early-blooming species, but not for the mid-season and late-blooming ones.

Camellias are disbudded primarily to obtain large specimen blooms. To give an example, two Tomorrows were growing close together in a yard here last year. They were about the same size and shape bushes. One had three buds and the other bush had some 15 buds. The one with three buds produced very large beautiful specimen blooms, while the other, with 15 buds, had small insignificant blooms.

To properly accomplish this, one must first choose the varieties that warrant disbudding. Varieties such as Pink Perfection, Monjisu, Countess of Orkney, and any of the naturally small - flowered, profuse bloomers should not be disbudded, because their beauty lies in their profusion of blooms and they will never reach a "show" size.

SELECTION

In choosing varieties for disbudding, select those that can definitely be improved by obtaining maximum size. A great many camellias come under, this category, such as Lotus, Herme, Gigantea, Adolph Audusson, Finlandia, Ville de Nantes, Tomorrow, Betty Sheffield, Dutchess of Sutherland, White Empress, Donckelarii, and many other of the peony, semi-double and formal types that will normally reach three and one-half inches without disbudding.

The proper time to disbud is when the person is definitely able to distinguish the flower bud from the growth bud. This may be as early as midsummer for the early blooming varieties, but for most camellias September and October have proved to be the best months. By then the buds are large enough so that it is easy to select the ones that are to remain and those that are to be removed.

POINTERS

In selecting buds for size, keep in mind that the best flowers are produced on the first cycle of new growth. Flower buds set in the second cycle of growth very seldom reach maximum size. For best results, never leave more than two buds on a terminal or growth cycle. Buds may be removed by carefully twisting them off, or better still by piercing a hole with a large pin or a shingle nail from the tip of the bud down. This method allows air to enter the bud so that it will dry and fall off naturally, thus eliminating possible injury to the adjoining bud which will be kept for bloom.

If one is undecided which of two buds to remove, leave the one that faces the ground, and remove the other. This will give the bloom protection by not facing up to catch dew and dirt that may fall. Never disbud all the small buds and leave the larger ones. This will make all the flowers bloom at the same time, reducing the blooming period of the bush. Leave some smaller buds and remove some of the larger ones so that the smaller ones will bloom later in the season.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

By MRS. LESLIE CLARK
Guest Writer

Have you noticed — everywhere you go — you are surrounded with the popular artificial flowers? As everything, they have a place, but, in the heart of the horticulturist fresh flowers place first. Fall adds something to flower colors found at no other time of the year.

Color, the most dynamic element of design, stole the TV Show Wednesday. Using all fresh cut plant material, the Garden Gate Garden Club of Winnsboro, furnished the artistic designs.

Mrs. A. C. Killebrew's asymmetrical design was a beautiful blend of color using dark red canna leaves for the primary line. Red barberry was used as filler with orchid mums giving transition to the design. Three cerese colored asters formed the focal interest. The container, a dark gray compote, placed on a round black base completed this free standing design.

ORANGE AND GOLD

Mrs. Emmett Earl Richardson chose amber glass (compote type container) to compliment her orange and gold dahlias. These formed the focal area of the triangular design. Barberry formed the primary line with orange canna buds giving strength. Marigolds gave perfect transition to this beautiful color harmony. The dahlias were grown by Mrs. T. S. Nelson and were blue ribbon specimens. This was truly lovely.

Mrs. Sonny N. Stephens used the fall colors of orange, yellow and brown in her interpretative design for the Halloween party table. A curving manzanita branch established the line. Massed marigolds in colors of yellow into orange formed a Hogarth line against the curving branch. Drying fall leaves tied - in the design with the large brown wooden base. The finishing touch was an owl placed in the branch overlooking the design. Mrs. Stephens made the owl from a pine cone. It was very clever and effective.

ALL FOLIAGE

Mrs. James Maxwell used all foliage in her design. Tiered yucca spikes formed the primary line. The colorful Joseph's coat formed the secondary line. The blossom and foliage of sweet basil furnished the focal interest. Driftwood formed a background for this design matching the tan ceramic container. This was placed on a green burlap base. It was very attractive.

Mrs. Steve Moore Jr. used sansevieria for her triangular line. Yellow mums formed the focal interest and violet foliage was used at the base. A Cup pin - holder, sprayed black, held her fresh plant material. This was placed on a round black vase. A black ceramic cat completed this interpretative design suggesting Halloween.

Mrs. W. H. Walker used brown dock as her primary line for her Autumn design. Dwarf marigolds, massed low, formed the focal area with cut pine cones used as filler and giving the proper transition. Rocks in tones of brown were used to hide the pin-holder. This was placed on a tan wooden base. A tiny squirrel placed to the side gave balance. How this would delight a small child or the sportsman.

Thank you, Winnsboro ladies, for a beautiful show.

PLANNING SECRET

With the drouth one hundred strong, there is little we can do in our yards and gardens now. Good planning is the secret to many things. Take time to plan your landscape design. Do it on paper — saves time, money and energy. In planning your Christmas list for your dirt-gardening friends and relatives think upon these. A good pair of garden gloves, garden tools, a bale of peat-moss, pinestraw, and (here is a red-hot tip to win the heart of any flower grower) a load of well rotted manure.

Wednesday, Mrs. Harry A. Genung will give a program on "African Violets." Don't forget the Fifth District meeting in Tallulah, October 24th. This is important to all garden clubs of the Fifth District.

To rose lovers everywhere the Rose Festival at Tyler, Texas is a must. Make your plans to see this spectacular next year. This year's show — which ends today — featured pools of floating blossoms, pavillions of rose plantings and artistic backgrounds of greenery. In the center of the show a three dimensional kiosk, a giant circular column, presents a pictorial of the various events of the festival. The niches of artistic arrangements carried out the theme, "Music In The Air."

Ample Time To Set Bulbs

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

If you have not planted your spring flowering bulbs, it is not too late. November planting is satisfactory in this section. Good drainage is a necessity or rotting will occur. Loamy soils are best, but most daffodils can be grown in a wide range of soil types, allow at least 6 inches between large bulbs. Cover with two to five inches of soil, depending on the size and the soil texture. The larger bulbs should be planted deeper in sandy soils and shallow planting may be practiced in heavier soils. Bulbs planted too near the soil surface will be affected by the frequent temperature changes in Louisiana.

Other bulbs may include snowdrops for shady areas, madonna, and regal lilies.

Cut the tops from perennials as soon as the blooming period is over, divide roots, and transplant plants. If you divide now they will have a chance to become well established before winter. Also if moved early you can expect better flowers next years.

STAINS

Ink stains vary in different kinds of ink. Some inks are easily removed, some difficult to remove, and others are impossible. If the stain is washable ink and fresh, wash it with detergent and water. Stains on white fabrics may be moistened with lemon juice and placed in the sun. Also, oxalic acid may be used on delicate fabrics. If used, rinse the material thoroughly, adding a few drops to ammonia to the last rinse water to neutralize the acid. Ball pen ink stains may be rubbed with vaseline, then washed in hot detergent water. Red ink spots require bleach. Sponge the spots with hydrogen peroxide, then rinse in cold water. Sodium perborate, moistened and rubbed on the stain may also remove it. If ink spots are dried, saturate with warm water to which three tablespoons of soda have been added to one quart of water. Then treat as suggested.

Mrs. Frank Jones called our office and gave us a new tip on removing grass stains which she says is excellent. She soaks the grass stain in molasses. Perhaps you, Mrs. Homemaker, would like to try this method on your next grass stain.

BAKING

Many recipes for baked products — cakes, cookies, quick breads and yeast breads now call for unsifted flour. Remember, Mrs. Homemaker, that you perhaps have favorite recipes which were developed in the days when all flour was sifted and the measurements are for sifted flour.

Since there is more flour in a cup of unsifted than a cup of sifted flour you must either sift before measuring or adjust the measurement to get the right amount of flour for these older recipes.

To adjust the measurement, simply spoon flour into the dry measuring cup, level it off and remove two level tablespoons.

Researchers in Agriculture compared sifted and unsifted flour in cakes and muffins when the volume of unsifted flour was adjusted by removing two level tablespoons from a measured cup, no difference was noted in the quality of the baked products made with sifted and unsifted flour. However, when unsifted flour was used without adjustment, muffins and cakes were less acceptable than products made with sifted flour. Baking studies have shown that spices and cocoa did not blend uniformly by merely stirring them with the unsifted flour. So, if your recipe calls for spices and cocoa, you may want to sift them with the other dry ingredients for uniform blending.

Mrs. Homemaker, if you like to bake we have good news for you. There will be more pecans this year. Current prospects indicate the 1963 pecan crop will be more than seven times as large as last years. In fact, it will almost equal the total of all other edible tree nuts, almonds, filberts and walnuts. All of these will have big crops too.

A THOUGHT

Why is there never enough time to do a thing right, but always time to do it over.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Quince Crop Is Plentiful

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The bumper crop of luscious, aromatic quinces with which most flowering quince bushes seem to be covered this fall can be made into delicate quince jelly. Anyone who has eaten quince jelly will consider a jar of this delicacy a fine Christmas present. Anyone who hasn't, will soon become fond of it.

Flowering quince fruits make a light amber jelly by themselves. Some cooks like to mix the quinces with a small amount of apples, but the purists say that this started only because some people did not have enough of the real thing in poor quince years and were determined to stretch out the crop. At any rate, by some strange alchemy, the delightful odor of ripe quince fruits seems to be captured in quince jelly, and you are missing something special if you allow your quinces to rot on the ground.

FROM CHINA, JAPAN

Our modern named flowering quinces have come from a handful of wild species in China and Japan. Botanists have called the flowering quinces all sorts of names during this century: Pyrus, Cydonia and now Chaenomeles. Back in the late twenties, your columnist wrote a great deal about these wonderful, easy-to-grow shrubs. The brilliant azaleas stole the show from them for a time, but then something happened to give the quinces their due.

The Clarke Nurseries in California, it seems, were as enthusiastic about flowering quinces as I was. They sent a scouting team all through the Southern States, collecting every kind of quince they could find.

A few years later, the Clarkes began to offer a number of beautiful new quince varieties for sale in their catalogue. These varieties were the result of an intensive breeding program to give us more and better flowering quinces. They were so inspiring that I wrote them up in House Beautiful Magazine, and you can see them in color plates if your library has House Beautiful for April, 1948.

MORE APPEARING

Since this time, more new quinces have been appearing in catalogues. We now have varieties that are very upright — suitable for hedges — and rather conservative in growth so that you do not have to prune such a hedge very often. There are also low and spreading kinds, and there are all sizes from big varieties that will attain 12 to 15 feet to drawf and very slow-growing ones.

In England, I have always admired a quince called Rowallane growing espaliered on a wall at the home of my friend, the old roses authority and author, Graham Thomas. On this particular shrub the flowers are almost double, but the American catalogue in which it is now offered does not mention this.

Save your quince seeds and plant them. You may get as many interesting new types as I have. Some are so slow growing as to be almost bonsai candidates. These are usually very prickly from their parent, the little early orange quince. Some of my seedlings are low ground covers and excellent for keeping animals out without a tall hedge.

Rose Plants Damaged By Insects

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

If there are holes in the stems of your rose plants, the driller probably was the carpenter bee or the curled European sawfly. These insects bore into the stem and feed on the pith inside. Eventually the stem wilts and dies.

When you spot such borings, cut off affected stems below where the insect has imbedded. If you don't, the pest will dig deeper.

When you prune your roses in the spring, paint the cut end of each cane with a tree wound dressing or sealer or black asphalt paint to close the stem and prevent borers and other insects from entering.

An all-purpose spray containing Malathion or DDT will help reduce stem borer trouble, but you will have to spray regularly (weekly) to make the protection effective.

This is the peak time for arguments about whether spring or fall planting of roses is best. The referee is the weather: fall planting produces better results in moderately cold states; spring planting is best in areas of early and severe winters. Stamp News

A portrait of Abraham Lincoln is featured in a new "Americana" set from the Republic of Togo to honor the centenary of the Emancipation Proclamation. In addition to the bust of Lincoln, there also is a symbolic design showing broken chains. There are four stamps in the set and all are of identical design but different values.

A welcome addition in the field of stamp catalogs is the new 1964 "American Stamp Catalog" by Minkus Publications. Neophyte collectors will find this particular book rewarding because of the descriptive passages which make it read more like a novel rather than a catalog.

There are over 1,800 illustrations in this edition and more than 10,000 entries covering all commemoratives, regular issues, air mails and many other interesting items including Confederate states and the United Nations.

The stories behind the stamps provide much interesting and educational material, especially to youngsters. Veteran collectors will be glad to note that more than 5,000 price changes (all upward) reflect a tremendous popularity of United States stamps.

Congratulations on the makeup of this new catalog must go to editor Ben Blumenthal. The price of the new "American Stamp Catalog" is $3 and it is available at your local stamp dealers and departments particularly in such locations as New York; Milwaukee; Los Angeles; San Francisco; Washington; Akron, Ohio; Atlanta; Baltimore; Boston; Cleveland; Columbus, Ohio; Denver; Detroit; Hartford, Conn.; Louisville; New Orleans; Pittsburgh; Portland, Ore.; Richmond; San Antonio; St. Louis; San Diego, and Seattle.

Paraguay pays tribute to the "Conquest of Space" by issuing a set of commemorative stamps. One design shows a portrait of United States astronaut Gordon Cooper. The other stamp shows the capsule in which he traveled.

LIGHT, WHEN AND where you need it for movies or stills, is packaged in this new portable Sun Gun Cordless unit. Balanced to stand by itself, here it is in action as a side light. Normally the rechargeable unit is on a bracket with the camera.

CURTAIN CALL

After tonight's showing of "Auntie Mame," its run will be interrupted for three days until Thursday when it resumes for four more performances ending Sunday, October 27. The box office on Lamy Lane will remain open between 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. all during this period to take reservations in person or by telephone (FAirfax 3-1235).

A spectacular like "Auntie Mame" was chosen for the 150th major production of the Little Theatre of Monroe with awareness that it would be fully the equivalent of any musical we have ever done in terms of size of cast, splendor of costumes, lavishness of sets and complexity of staging. We know it has all the impact of a musical.

WAIT FOR MUSICAL

We mention this because each season several hundred people wait for the musical to join Little Theatre and this year we urge them not to delay. At last count the membership total was hovering around 2,500, so the 3 000 limit could be reached this coming week.

For anyone contemplating membership, the sustaining category at $7.50 provides the most economical way for adults to attend all five shows without further charge. Someone who joins solely to see "Auntie Mame" will get his money's worth at $2 membership plus $1 admission, even if he never attends another play. But once having become a member in this category, he can still look forward to three more straight shows for only $1 each, as well as the gay musical, "Once Upon A Mattress," for $2.50. And student rates are even less. Moral: join now.

AUDITIONS

This coming Monday and Tuesday, October 21 and 22, executive director Richard M. Clark will hold auditions at Strauss Playhouse at 7:30 p.m. for "The Glass Menagerie."

This early Tennessee Williams hit calls for four adult roles; a mother who tries to live her children's lives, a sensitive, withdrawn daughter and rebellious son, both in their twenties, and a rather brash young man about the son's age.

The program for "Auntie Mame" had to go to press before we knew all the credits for props, costumes and work backstage. Bill Carpenter and Kit Beecher loaned the Indian trophies. Dr. W. C. Cookston the antique English horn, Dr. John Goorley the gaucho outfit and Mrs. L. P. Milner Jr., Mrs. Ben Sturdivant, Mrs. Fay Brunson, Mrs. Johnnie Elbert, Mrs. O. B. Frazier, Mrs. Fred McCall, Miss Lallage Feazel, Miss Francis Yeldell, Mrs. S. I. Courtman, Mrs. Doyle Hamilton, Mrs. John Hunt II, Mrs. Jack Rivers, Mr. and Mrs. John Cale, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hudson and Durwood Griffin various other much needed items.

WIGS STYLED

Mame's numerous wigs were styled for us by Jerry of Vernen's. Roger Kelly made the opening slide. Trend House supplied both furniture and the many exotic accessories to keep pace with Mame's moods.

Backstage work was done before and during the run by Nancy and Beryl Franklin, Dawn and Rudy Gandy, Doretha Doyle, Ginger Donald, Mary Lou Clay, Judy Evans, Carolyn Friis, June Sherman, Joellyn Thompson, Rachael Ober, Francis Yeldell, Bill Blythe, Cliff Farnum, Layne Gandy, C. J. Fontana, Bob Evans Jr., Bob Jones, Jon Hattaway, Walter Kotz, Dewayne May, Dwight Housley, John Goorley, Willoughby Thomas, Dick Vail, Lamar Greer Jr., Don Ouchley, Rick Taylor and Paul Wink.

Doughnuts, cake, and cookies during rehearsals were brought by Scherck Bogen, Shady Wall, Lallage Feazel, Judy Evans and Marillyn Taylor. The cast makes short work of all food items.

Dan Armand Breard, whose interest in Monroe theatre probably extends over as long a span as anyone's, honored Strauss Playhouse with his first visit recently. The theatre, the lobby display of old programs and the Green Room tiles all delighted him. A tile in memory of the late Tom Swirich reflects the thoughtfulness of the Renaud sisters. Three new tiles for Evelyn Boggs' roles in "Anne Frank," "Teahouse Of the August Moon," and "Bye Bye Birdie," give our "Wall of Fame" a grand total of 180.

REDECORATE WITH COLOR

If fall cleaning makes you see red — redecorate instead. Seriously, adding a colorful new slipcover or curtains can make a whole room like new. This year you can be daring with color or prints if they're vat dyed. Flower-splashed orange prints and bold stripes can all be used with a sure hand when you're sure of the colors.

As photography moves along in the fall season, a couple of new items for home movie fans have been introduced. They'll make the jobs of taking and showing movies a bit simpler.

For easier shooting whenever extra light is desired, Sylvania has come up with a self - contained, rechargeable home movie light weighing less than four pounds. It provides portable continuous illumination without the necessity of plugging into an electric outlet with its trailing wires and limited distance. Nor do you have to carry a heavy separate battery pack which other portable lights presently entail.

RECHARGABLE

Called the Sun Gun Cordless, the light operates on 10 sealed rechargeable nickel cadmium batteries enclosed in the head of the unit. The recharger, built into the handle, operates on household current. When fully charged, the unit provides light for 10 minutes, enough for approximately two 50-foot rolls of film. Five hours of recharging will restore enough power for five minutes of light which is enough for one 50-foot roll of film. A full charge is restored by recharging for 16 hours.

The unit has a variable beam control permitting the photographer to regulate the light from a concentrated spot to over-all flood. The light comes from a special 11.5 volt, 100 watt halogen lamp which screws into the reflector socket like an ordinary light bulb. It has a rated life of 16 hours, operates at 3400 degrees Kelvin.

The Sun Gun Cordless is balanced to stand upright by itself or it can be attached to a bracket which will hold the camera. It will sell for just under $80.

On the 8mm projector front, Kodak's newest machine has a unique feature: the ability to view a single frame on the screen without any light loss. It's almost like looking at a color slide. It's accomplished in the Chevron 8 Projector, Model 10, with a dual air-jet cooling system, a new principle in projector cooling systems.

Other features of the projector are, flicker-free slow motion with the flip of a lever; automatic threading; single lever control for forward, still and reverse projection; on-off room control and special voltage control switches for maximun lamp life and screen brightness.

The new projector is available with an f-1.2 lens, an f-1.2 zoom lens or with a superfast f-1.0 lens which gives a 35 per cent brighter screen picture than the f-1.2.

DIDN'T WASTE TIME

During the run of "The Sound of Music," Kerman wrote two full-length plays, a one - actor and an opera libretto while standing by in the dressing room as emergency substitute for Kurt Kasznar. One of the scripts, "Mr. Simian," is scheduled for off-Broadway production this season.

The plot concerns five people fleeing a plague-infested city in a freighter, and according to Kerman "contains elements of comedy, drama and fantasy."

Wilson Refuses To Clear Path For Lord Home

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Opposition leader Harold Wilson refused Saturday to make it easier for the Tories to get their new prime minister, Lord Home, into the House of Commons.

The Labor party leader called the aristocratic Home "an elegant anachronism" and rejected as "an impertinence" any suggestion that the reopening of Parliament be delayed beyond its scheduled Oct. 29 date so that the government would not be leaderless while Home sheds his earldom and gets elected to a commoner's seat.

Home, said Wilson, could come into the Commons like anyone else and had no right to assume he would be elected until he had won the votes.

Chips From The Stump

McKeithen

RACELAND (Special) — Speaking here Saturday midway in a three day stumping tour, Gubernatorial Candidate John McKeithen asked his audience, "Why should this state, blessed with more natural resources than any other state in the union, lag behind states that have so much less than we have?"

McKeithen continued, "Citizens in the neighboring state of Texas will earn an annual average of $1924 while in Louisiana our citizens average only $1600. Why with such an abundance in our midst and every God given blessing possible from the salt and sulphur and oil and gas under the surface of our soil that will grow wondrous cotton and cane and rice and fruits and vegetables, to a blessing of rivers and waters that afford us the greatest transportation, seafood and fisheries opportunities, why must this state lag behind?"

McKeithen said, "Isn't that a fair and proper question? And after all this time, don't we the citizens of this state have the right to wonder what has held us back? Why must a rich state like Louisiana take a back seat to the other states of the nation? Certainly our people are intelligent and capable of getting the job done. Certainly our people are willing to work and earn a living if only a job is available and if only employment is steady?"

McKeithen stated, "I have toured this entire state and I can tell you that in every parish which I have visited I have been met with person after person who has told me that it has become terribly difficult to find a good job at home because there simply is not enough income industry that can absorb the growing labor market we have in Louisiana."

McKeithen concluded," I, Ashton Mouton, and Speedy O. Long, said that it is time for us to cry out from way down and call a halt to the bad political climate that presently exists in our state. Won't you join us in our efforts to once again get Louisiana moving forward?"

Lyons On Tour

ABBEVILLE (Special) — Charlton H. Lyons, Sr., Republican candidate for governor, on a swing through the Southeastern portion of Louisiana, made an appearance at the Abbeville Dairy Festival.

Lyons stated: "The strength of this nation has always been with the people. The strength of this state has always been with the people. I call upon the people of the State of Louisiana to assert themselves to awaken and to preserve and protect their interest in state government.

"They have been afflicted for decades with a state government dedicated to personal and selfish interests, and only through a mass reaction for all interested citizens can we hope to restore our state government to its proper position and to its proper purpose. I issue a call to all responsible citizens of Louisiana to stand with me and to participate with me in my attempt to return government to its proper dignity and to re-establish valid, responsible and sane government in this state."

Kirkpatrick

JENNINGS (Special) — Speaking in a homecoming atmosphere before a crowd at the Jefferson Davis Parish fair, Claude Kirkpatrick, independent candidate for governor, said the Louisiana Intercoastal Seaway Authority (LISA) was a project close to his heart, and as director of public works he hopes shortly to see completion of this project.

"This means fresh sweet water in abundance for the people of the southern part of our state served by LISA," Kirkpatrick said. "The furtherance of this project will mean less cost to the rice farmers for irrigation, and upon completion will bring immediate relief to the farmers of this area. New industry and new jobs for the people of South Louisiana will also be brought about by completion of LISA."

Kirkpatrick emphasized the plank in his platform concerning the sale of Louisiana products, one phase being importance of the dairy industry to Louisiana.

Kennon

WINNSBORO (Special) — Congressman Otto E. Passman declared here Saturday that Louisiana was "betrayed by a young inexperienced congressman who now seeks the governorship of Louisiana.

I speak of none other than Gillis Long who voted to enlarge the rules committee and pack it with Kennedy liberals who are now set to feed a deluge of new frontier civil rights legislation into congress where it will no doubt be passed," Passman declared.

Passman, stumping with gubernatorial candidate Robert F. Kennon and Frances Dugas, candidate for Lt. Governor, also lashed out at Public Service Commissioner John J. McKeithen, who Passman said was "obviously the most controlled uncontrolled candidate in this race."

"He bills himself as "uncontrolled" before anyone ever said he was controlled," Passman said. "It prompted us to look into his affiliations and see whether or not he is controlled.

"Among his supporters," Passman said, "we found telephone company top executives," the chief attorney and lobbyist for one of the railroad companies and even the former chairman of the Louisiana Racing Commission.

"'I give you facts not falsehoods," Passman said, "how can a man with these connections be uncontrolled?"

Kennon cited his own record of opposition to Kennedy and civil rights programs and charged that McKeithen introduced Senator Russell Long at a Kennedy fund raising drive in the fifth district in 1960. Now he admits he was taken in and apologizes. We cannot afford too many bad mistakes—in fact the very survival of our nation is at stake.

"Mr. McKeithen started early in this race and he finished early," Kennon said. "We will carry New Orleans and Louisiana in the first primary. There may be a runoff with whichever of the three candidates gains the bloc vote which will be controlled from outside of Louisiana.

"But whoever runs second with us with the bloc vote in December will be second in January," Kennon said. "They can't get into the runoff without it and they can't win with it," Kennon declared.

Kennon also pledged to "do everything with the power of the governors office to see that Louisiana's electoral votes don't help re-elect John Kennedy and his family. And one state might make a difference," Kennon said.

Not only will I work to deliver Louisiana against Kennedy, I have important contacts throughout the nation where I will work to oppose the Martin Luther King, CORE and COPE, candidate," Kennon declared.

Gillis Long

WINNSBORO (Special) — Gubernatorial candidate Gillis Long declared here Saturday, "the rest of these candidates are on the run, now", and said, "Every one of them is saying he'll be in the runoff with Gillis Long."

Turning to campaign issues, Long said, "I know people in this part of the state who have been out of work five years. These are not bums. They're working people who would like to do an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. We haven't been doing anything about it."

He plugged for his programs to combat illiteracy, re-train displaced workers, and bring in small, finished - proudects industries to combat north Louisiana's growing problems.

Hunting Halted In East Carroll Due To Drought

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — All hunting in East Carroll Parish has been halted because of the danger of fire caused by extreme drought conditions, announced the parish police jury.

The police jury met in a special session Saturday morning to issue the unanimous order which was effective immediately. A spokesman for the jury said that the ban will be lifted as soon as drought conditions are alleviated. Several small fires have been extinguished in the parish during the drought season, one of the worst in years in northeast Louisiana.

Also present at the meeting were parish cattlemen and representatives from the area's hunting clubs. The jury spokesman reported that all of the hunting clubs in the parish had been notified and all had expressed agreement with the order.

Classes Slated On Genealogy

Classes on genealogy and research techniques will be taught monthly starting Oct. 25, sponsored by the Ouachita Genealogical Society.

Conducted by local genealogist Lewis T. Bivins, the sessions will follow regular Society meetings on the fourth Friday of each month, 7:30 p.m., in the Ouachita Valley Historical Museum on St. John Street.

Announcing the series was Mrs. Judy Caraway, Society vice president and program chairman.

The public is invited to attend. Textbook to be used is "Genealogical Research Standards" by Derek Harland. Class members are asked to bring only notebook and pencil.

The program is for beginners wishing to learn how to perform genealogical research, Mrs. Caraway explained.

Baptist College Benefit Scheduled

The Leland College Alumni Association and area Baptist associations are putting forth every effort to stimulate interest and raise funds in order that Leland College (the only Negro Baptist College in the state) can be re-opened as soon as possible. The college is located near Baker.

A benefit banquet at the Johnson Recreation Center on the Berg Jones Lane in Monroe was held at 8 p.m. Saturday, October 19. A feature of the evening was a color motion picture, "Campus Parish." The sale of tickets for this event will help to raise the $35,000 needed to repair the Negro College.

Official organizations sponsoring this project are: Tenth District Baptist Association, B. B. & O. Baptist Association, Richland Parish Baptist Association, and Leland College Alumni Association.

Passman, stumping with gubernatorial candidate Robert F. Kennon and Frances Dugas, candidate for Lt. Governor, also lashed out at Public Service Commissioner John J. McKeithen, who Passman said was "obviously the most controlled uncontrolled candidate in this race."

"He bills himself as "uncontrolled" before anyone ever said he was controlled," Passman said. "It prompted us to look into his affiliations and see whether or not he is controlled.

"Among his supporters," Passman said, "we found telephone company top executives," the chief attorney and lobbyist for one of the railroad companies and even the former chairman of the Louisiana Racing Commission.

"'I give you facts not falsehoods," Passman said. "how can a man with these connections be uncontrolled?"

Kennon cited his own record of opposition to Kennedy and civil rights programs and charged that McKeithen introduced Senator Russell Long at a Kennedy fund raising drive in the fifth district in 1960. Now he admits he was taken in and apologizes. We cannot afford too many bad mistakes—in fact the very survival of our nation is at stake.

"Mr. McKeithen started early in this race and he finished early," Kennon said. "We will carry New Orleans and Louisiana in the first primary. There may be a runoff with whichever of the three candidates gains the bloc vote which will be controlled from outside of Louisiana.

"But whoever runs second with us with the bloc vote in December will be second in January," Kennon said. "They can't get into the runoff without it and they can't win with it," Kennon declared.

Kennon also pledged to "do everything with the power of the governors office to see that Louisiana's electoral votes don't help re-elect John Kennedy and his family. And one state might make a difference," Kennon said.

Not only will I work to deliver Louisiana against Kennedy, I have important contacts throughout the nation where I will work to oppose the Martin Luther King, CORE and COPE, candidate," Kennon declared.

Gillis Long

WINNSBORO (Special) — Gubernatorial candidate Gillis Long declared here Saturday, "the rest of these candidates are on the run, now", and said, "Every one of them is saying he'll be in the runoff with Gillis Long."

Turning to campaign issues, Long said, "I know people in this part of the state who have been out of work five years. These are not bums. They're working people who would like to do an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. We haven't been doing anything about it."

He plugged for his programs to combat illiteracy, re-train displaced workers, and bring in small, finished - proudcts industries to combat north Louisiana's growing problems.

Hunting Halted In East Carroll Due To Drought

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — All hunting in East Carroll Parish has been halted because of the danger of fire caused by extreme drought conditions, announced the parish police jury.

The police jury met in a special session Saturday morning to issue the unanimous order which was effective immediately. A spokesman for the jury said that the ban will be lifted as soon as drought conditions are alleviated. Several small fires have been extinguished in the parish during the drought season, one of the worst in years in northeast Louisiana.

Also present at the meeting were parish cattlemen and representatives from the area's hunting clubs. The jury spokesman reported that all of the hunting clubs in the parish had been notified and all had expressed agreement with the order.

Classes Slated On Genealogy

Classes on genealogy and research techniques will be taught monthly starting Oct. 25, sponsored by the Ouachita Genealogical Society.

Conducted by local genealogist Lewis T. Bivins, the sessions will follow regular Society meetings on the fourth Friday of each month, 7:30 p.m., in the Ouachita Valley Historical Museum on St. John Street.

Announcing the series was Mrs. Judy Caraway, Society vice president and program chairman.

The public is invited to attend. Textbook to be used is "Genealogical Research Standards" by Derek Harland. Class members are asked to bring only notebook and pencil.

The program is for beginners wishing to learn how to perform genealogical research, Mrs. Caraway explained.

Baptist College Benefit Scheduled

The Leland College Alumni Association and area Baptist associations are putting forth every effort to stimulate interest and raise funds in order that Leland College (the only Negro Baptist College in the state) can be re-opened as soon as possible. The college is located near Baker.

A benefit banquet at the Johnson Recreation Center on the Berg Jones Lane in Monroe was held at 8 p.m. Saturday, October 19. A feature of the evening was a color motion picture, "Campus Parish." The sale of tickets for this event will help to raise the $35,000 needed to repair the Negro College.

Official organizations sponsoring this project are: Tenth District Baptist Association, B. B. & O. Baptist Association, Richland Parish Baptist Association, and Leland College Alumni Association.

East Carroll's Sheriff Gilbert Is Campaigning

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special)—Sheriff J. W. "Red" Gilbert of East Carroll Parish said Saturday that he wanted to assure residents of his parish he is running for re-election and is "in the race to stay."

Sheriff Gilbert said he wanted to make his position clear due to a headline in the Saturday morning issue of the Monring World which said "East Carroll Sheriff Drops Out of Race."

The headline was over a story detailing the position of West Carroll Parish Sheriff J. R. Butler who has reported he is withdrawing as a candidate in his parish.

The headline should have said West Carroll instead of East Carroll.

I'VE NO RIGHT TO REPRIMAND YOU FOR YOUR SNOW-JOBS, CHUCK. THAT'S YOUR AFFAIR. BUT SWAGGER'S SPY ACCUSATION IS MY AFFAIR.

I'M NO SPY, DAN. LOW AS I AM, I HAVEN'T RESIGNED FROM THE HUMAN RACE... OR LOST MY LOVE FOR MY COUNTRY.

SOMEHOW, SWAGGER MUST HAVE LEARNED OF MY VISIT TO THAT TEA ROOM AND JUMPED TO A WRONG CONCLUSION, DAN. I HAVE BEEN APPROACHED BY AN ORIENTAL WOMAN WANTING INFORMATION CONCERNING THE FIRST MARINE DIVISION ... BUT I WALKED AWAY FAST!

TEA ROOM? WHAT INFORMATION ABOUT THE FIRST MARINE DIVISION?

...THE TEA ROOM IS IN OCEANSIDE, OPERATED BY MADAME YING, WHO LOANED ME SOME MONEY. I DIDN'T REALIZE WHAT THE INTEREST ON THAT LOAN WOULD BE UNTIL JUST A FEW DAYS AGO.

CHUCK, THIS ENTIRE INCIDENT SHOULD HAVE BEEN REPORTED TO THE BASE INTELLIGENCE OFFICE IMMEDIATELY. YOU REALIZE, OF COURSE, THAT SOME SORT OF OFFICIAL ACTION WILL BE TAKEN.

THE LEAST YOU'LL GET IS A REVOCATION OF YOUR "SWAG"! CHUCK, I NEVER FIGURED YOU HAD AN EMPTY SHELL CASING FOR A BRAIN!

HIAPAS
AS HE HOP-SCOTCHES TO THE EAST WITH THE CHINESE HIDING INSIDE THE CRATES...
...PRETTY SOON THEY'LL HAVE A LATIN ISLAND OPERATION COMPETING WITH THE MOSCOW VERSION
COULD YOU FIX IT TO HAVE THEM INVITED TO SOME FANCY PARTY IN THE COUNTRY...
...THEN KEEP THEM THERE WHILE I FLY A MISSION IN DYSK'S PLACE?
¡SÍ! ¡BUENO! EL CHARRIBO RIDES AGAIN! WE MAKE A CLOAK-AND-STAGGER WITH SEÑOR DYSK!
THE INVITATION TO A VERY SOCIAL 'CHARREADA' COMES TO THE DYSK APARTMENT...
THIS IS SO WONDERFUL!
I THOUGHT MARIA EMPALME HAD-AH-FORGOTTEN ME SINCE I HAVE-AH BEEN MARRIED...
I'LL TAKE THOSE TO MISS CHEETAH... IT'LL MAKE ME A BIG MAN!
MUCHAS GRACIAS, SEÑOR!

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Here is a trick I like very much: I hold my baking pans upside down under hot water for a few seconds and after the pan is quite warm, I grease it with my fingers. It is always evenly greased and quick.

The heat from the hot water faucet allows the shortening to flow evenly and the flour doesn't stick in streaks!

Ellen

DEAR HELOISE:

To close a can of paint tightly . . . remove the excess paint from the rim of your can with your brush. Set the lid in place, cover the can with any kind of cloth, and then hammer tightly. No spatter!

DEAR HELOISE:

I finally hit on a way to take care of my household rubber gloves when not in use, and at the same time not having them lie around the kitchen:

On the inside of the cabinet door . . . under my kitchen sink . . . I glued two spring-type clothespins . . . and here hang my gloves! Just clip them on the pins.

I use this same idea on the inside of my broom closets and use the same type clothespins as "holders" for various electric cords for kitchen appliances.

With a laundry marker pencil, I mark on the door or clothespin what each cord is for. Enables me to locate the proper cord quickly.

On wooden doors the clothespins may be nailed or screwed on.

DEAR HELOISE:

Knives with stainless steel blades and sterling handles should be carefully rinsed if soaked in silver de-tarnishing baths. Chemicals used in some types of these baths sometimes leave marks on the stainless blade unless they are removed by a water rinse and if necessary by hand drying.

DEAR HELOISE:

I love to grow African violets. They seem to grow best in clay pots.

However, I did not like the look of our unsightly red clay pots . . . so when my husband's stretch socks get holes in them I cut the tops and feet off and cover the pots with the remaining part of these stretch socks!

They will fit any size pot. It absorbs excess moisture and retards dehydration, too.

DEAR HELOISE:

When I am washing and ironing curtains, instead of laying them over the back of a chair after they are ironed . . . I open a closet door and hang each curtain across the top of the door to prevent further wrinkling until the job is completed. This is especially good with ironing ruffled curtains, so that they will have time to dry completely before rehanging.

Gals:

Be SURE the top of the door is clean! Better to throw a bath towel over the top of the door first. And it saves another crease too.

DEAR HELOISE:

What would we do without hamburger? Bless it!

One way to fix it that intrigues the small fry and is no trouble at all, is to make "meat cupcakes" and frost them with catsup.

I simply fill my muffin or cupcake pans with the meat loaf mixture, top with catsup and pop them in the oven for about twenty minutes. Quick and cute! They cook in a hurry and are easily eaten.

DEAR HELOISE:

I have found the answer to using liquid wax on my floors! I bought a paint roller. The best type is one where you pour the liquid into the cavity. However, any type should do.

I find that I never mark my floors in streaks like I used to (by pouring liquid wax in a spot and then trying to spread it), nor do I get too much in one spot and hit-and-miss in another corner. I feel that I save lots of liquid wax this way.

One thing about it: what is left in the pan can be easily poured back into the bottle!

This idea was so great when I discovered it that my husband has now attached my paint roller to an old broom handle. Now I don't even have to stoop!

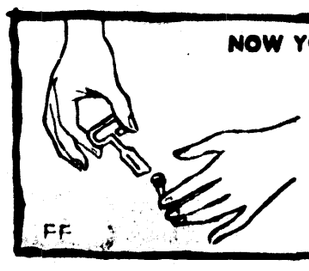
NOW YOU KNOW!



DEAR HELOISE:

Did you know that a key which is used to open a can of ham or potted meats, etc., makes an excellent emergency screw driver?

M. E. Loo

DEAR HELOISE:

A good way to send pickles in lunches . . . without the drip . . . is to use little plastic pill bottles.

I always add a little juice in the jar to keep the pickle moist. The container will not leak. Try it.

DEAR HELOISE:

In painting around windows, I make a paste of kitchen scouring powder and water and cover the glass. Just paint or rub it on with a rag.

When finished painting, the paint spots will come off with the dry powder! If you are a neat painter, you only need to make a border of three or four inches!

DEAR HELOISE:

If you are going to paint and putty your windows at the same time . . . I have found that I can buy color at my hardware store and mix in with my putty before applying it to the windows.

The putty turns out the same color as the outside paint! This certainly saves us time. No painting the putty afterwards and smearing my windowpanes.
